Moved by Tasa seconded by Lindberg that the Board of Commissioners be encouraged and authorized to attend a meeting with the Minnesota Highway Department officials on June 12th in Thief River Falls and with the Minnesota Commissioners Assoc. on June 20th in Thief River Falls. Carried.

Moved by Hanson seconded by Lindberg that the Engineer and Auditor be authorized and instructed to advertise for regraveling of County Highways with bids to be opened at 3:30 P. M., July 8, 1963. Brown, Superintendent of Schools of Goodridge be re-appointed County School Administrator for Pennington County and the Chairman and Auditor are hereby instructed to enter into contract with Dr. Brown at a salary of $800.00 for the 12 month period from July 1, 1963 through June 30, 1964 with an allowance for Clerk hire in the amount of $100.00 annually, pursuant to approval of the Goodridge School Board. Mpls. Washburn Wins State Title

The Minneapolis Washburn team of Region Five, the pre-tournament favorite, defeated the Hibbing Bluejackets, by a 9 to 1 score, in Friday night's championship finals to win the Minnesota state high school baseball title for 1963. Springfield, with lefty Mike Davison pitching a no-hit and no-run game, defeated Austin to win third place in the tourney, which was held in St. Paul's Midway stadium on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. And the Anoka Tornadoes of Region Four, by a 2 to 0 score, defeated Brainerd to win the consolation honors.

In first-round play on Wednesday, Washburn defeated Fairmont, 2 to 0; Hibbing edged out Thief River Falls, the Region Eight representative following the disqualification of the Bemidji Lumberjacks, 5 to 4; Springfield defeated Anoka, 6 to 0; and Austin defeated Brainerd, 2 to 0.

In the semi-finals on Thursday night, Washburn defeated Austin, 1 to 0; and Hibbing surprised Springfield by scoring an 8 to 3 win.

In consolation first round play on Thursday afternoon, Anoka defeated an erring Thief River Falls team, 11 to 4; and Brainerd trounced Fairmont, 14 to 3.

In their first round game in the championship bracket against Hibbing, the Prowlers played the Bluejackets on even terms until the sixth inning when, with the score tied at 4-all, coach Stan Peterson's Region Seven club pushed across the winning run. Rog Mattson drew a walk off Tony Poole, who had replaced Prowler starter John Aune in the third inning. Frank Weichert moved Mattson to second on a sacrifice, and a wild pitch advanced the Hibbing runner to third base. Jerry Novak's fly ball to centerfield, which was gathered in for an out by Paul Klungness, permitted Mattson to score after the catch.

The Prowlers collected eight hits off Hibbing's Dan Bergan, with Klungness getting three hits in four tries and John Aune gaining two hits in four trips, but except for the first inning, when the locals scored a single tally, and the third inning, when they bunched three hits for three runs, the Prowlers were unable to move the runners across the plate. The local left eight runners stranded.

In the consolation play, in a first round game against Anoka, the Prowlers, after gaining a 3 to 0 lead in the first two innings of play, were guilty of numerous misplays in the later innings and Anoka rallied to win an 11 to 3 decision. Bob Fenwick, who replaced Anoka's Chuck Robertson on the mound in the second inning, pitched no-hit and no-run ball for the six innings that he hurled.

PROPOSED diamond for the city softball league is shown in this drawing made by David Clough for the local softball association. Permission has been granted by the Pennington County Fair Association, Inc., to locate the diamond on the west half of the race track infield on the fairgrounds. Initial work on the project has been done and plans are to have lights erected to permit night play. It is not anticipated that work on the field can be completed and the facility ready for use until late this summer.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

There continues to be reverberations from last week's unfortunate disqualification of the champion Bemidji Lumberjacks as the Region Eight representative in the state tournament. And lest the Bemidji partisans get the impression that the Prowlers had a hand in the protest proceedings, let us get the record straight.

The Bemidji paper published the summaries of Bemidji's games against Park Rapids in the District 29 finals on Monday morning, and the Region Eight semi-finals and finals on Tuesday. And these summaries were re-published in the Hibbing paper. The Hibbing Bluejackets' baseball coach, Stan Peterson, was notified that it appeared that Bemidji had violated a State High School League ruling on player participation, and that Bill Barthelemy had, apparently, pitched 15 innings. Coach Peterson brought this to the attention of Hibbing's athletic director, and he at first thought it wise not to take any action.

Further reports were made to the Hibbing officials, and telephone calls were made to Fosston to determine the number of innings that Barthelemy had pitched in the regional tourney. And a check was also made on the number of innings he had hurled on Monday against Park Rapids.

It was then that the Hibbing officials, believing that the Bluejackets eligibility would perhaps be in jeopardy by "knowingly withholding information on a State High School League rule violation" called the matter to the attention of the league secretary. And the protest gained momentum.

Prowlers Had No Part

Coach Ralph Skay of the Prowlers never entertained the idea of a protest. Fact is, the Prowler uniforms were in the process of being laundered when, on Monday, an "alert" was received from the league secretary that a protest was being investigated and that the Prowlers should be prepared to participate in the state tourney.

The rule that was violated, unintentionally, has been in the Official Handbook for several years. In the 1961 Handbook, in section 11, under paragraph (c) on Pitching Limitation, there is this rule: "Facing one batter shall be considered pitching one inning". In high school tournament play, there is no such thing as fractional innings with regard to the pitchers.

He'll Gain a Bonus

That Mike Davison, who pitched a no-hit and no-run win for Springfield on Friday afternoon, shutting out Austin, 4 to 0, to give Springfield third place in the state tournament, is a son of Pat Davison, a former Western league pitcher.

The members of the local senior baseball Thieves team that participated in last season's state amateur tourney in Springfield, are well acquainted with Pat Davison. He was a member of the Springfield Baseball committee, and he was assigned to the Thieves club.

Davison, a southpaw pitcher, struck out 19 batsmen on Friday afternoon, gave up five walks, as he turned in his "gem" against a highly-regarded Austin club. There were a number of scouts on hand on Friday, and they were all impressed by Davison's poise and pitching style. Young Davison has been the object of a number of scouting missions, and his dad, Pat, told us last season that the San Francisco Giants, with Russ Rolandson sending in glowing reports, were very much interested in the lefthander. It wouldn't be surprising if Davison signs for a sizable bonus, and he may move into Organized Baseball before the conclusion of this season's American Legion junior baseball program.

He's Always Welcome

Playing in Sunday's shortstop golf tournament here, and in the twenty-seven hole medal play championship flight, was Crookston's Ernotte Hiller.

Hiller is one of the veterans of play in these parts, and the smooth-swinging no-nonsense Crookston golfer gave evidence that he continues to be a championship flight golfer by turning in scores of 37-36-36, for a 109. Ernotte was tied for third place in the standings by Larry Perkins, who came in with a 34 on his last round to also score a 109. In the playoff for third place, Hiller, with a par four, feated Shorty, who took a five on the first playoff hole.

Hiller had only played three rounds of golf prior to Sunday's appearance here, but his swing was as smooth and effective as ever. It is a bit discouraging to watch Ernotte play golf, for he makes the game seem so simple. And it's not simple, as Al Holzknecht, who is in Northwestern hospital with a badly-cramped right leg, can testify.

Bemidji Golfer Wins Shortstop

Bemidji's youthful Jim Carlson, sinking a four-foot putt for a par five on the ninth hole, scored a three-under-par 33 on his final round to mark up a twenty-seven hole medal play score of 107 and win the championship flight honors in the shortstop golf tournament that was played over the local course on Sunday. Keith Spindler, concluding his play in an earlier foursome, had scored a one-under-par 35 to post a total of 108 strokes. Carlson, with his third shot just off the far edge of the green, knew that he needed to get down in two putts to win. Using a putter from off the edge, Carlson's approach carried four feet beyond the pin, and then he dropped the putt for the par.

Crookston's veteran Ernotte Hiller, with a 37 and a pair of 36's, scored a 109, as did the local club's Larry Perkins, who scored a 39, 36, and a 34. In a playoff to determine third place, Hiller, with a par four on the first hole, won the match.

Roseau's Paul Dorwart and the local club's Ron Solheim shared fifth place honors with 114's, and in a playoff, which carried to a dropping a long putt, won the match.

The youth drowned Sunday afternoon while wading across the river with three younger companions. Members of the Thief River Falls fire department, volunteer workers and a skin-diving crew from Grand Forks have searched without success since Sunday afternoon. Pennington County Deputy Sheriff Eugene Prestegaard is shown at left as volunteers pour gas into an outboard motor to be used in dragging operations. The sheriff's department is supervising the search. It has been reported that the parents of the drowning victim also lost two children in a fire a number of years ago.

City Council Transacts Varied Business Tuesday

Building permits totaling $58,700 were approved, two feasibility reports ordered and bids opened on aggregate production and gasoline for the city police car when the Thief River Falls city council met Tuesday evening at the council chambers. A hearing on the eastside storm sewer project will be held Monday at 8 p.m.

Consumers Cooperative was awarded the contract to furnish 5,000 gallons of regular gasoline at a pump price of 17.7 cents plus tax. One other bid was received at a price of 23.1 cents plus state and federal tax. Bids on aggregate production were tabled until an adjourned meeting on Monday, June 24.

Included in the building permits was a $40,000 permit to Cities Service Oil company to erect a service station at 103 Main av. S. The house south of the present station has been purchased and the station and service area will be expanded and improved.

Also tabled on Tuesday was action on a building permit for Northwestern Trailer Court to build a new trailer court on a seven acre tract of land south of the Pennington county fairgrounds. The permit called for a laundry, office and water and sewer service at an estimated cost of $15,000. Action was tabled pending inspection and recommendation by the city engineer.

Feasibility reports were ordered on petitions requesting sanitary sewer extension on Oak street and water and sewer on Spruce av. S. Letters on the latter were received by the city from School District 564 and First Federal Savings and Loan association. The council also agreed to erect warning signs to motorists on the 300 block of Crocker and Tindolph avenues near Tindolph park.

In a split vote of the council,

Rehabilitation Topics To Be Reviewed Here

Dr. Joseph P. Engel, who is associated with Dr. M. E. Knapp in the Physical, Medicine and Rehabilitation Group of Minneapolis will be at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls Thursday, June 30, for the monthly visitation. The visits started in December of 1961 in the guidance of the physical medicine and rehabilitation that was started in 1958.

Dr. Engel's schedule calls for the usual consultation with the professional staff and the diagnosis and prescription for outpatients during the afternoon. An evening lecture will be on the subject of Clinical Electromyography, a record of the response of a muscle to an electrical stimulation, and all physicians of the area are being invited to attend this session.

Following his graduation from the University of Manitoba in 1944 and military service until 1946, he served in the Alberta Rehabilitation Center in Banff. Plans Announced To Rotary Club by Fair Officials

Status of the Pennington county fair and the reasons for its promotion were presented Monday at the noon meeting of the Thief River Falls Rotary club which was held in the Elks club rooms. Speakers were Paul Stelmaschuk, Pennington county agricultural agent, and Ray Oen, president of the Pennington County Fair association, Inc. The 62nd annual event will be held July 8-9-10-11.

Stelmaschuk stated three reasons why he believed the county fair is important and should be continued. He stated that it encourages competition, provides an opportunity for farmers and businessmen to advertise their products, and is an excellent agent for getting rural and city people to mingle in a common endeavor.

Competition is important among all businesses, Stelmaschuk said, and agriculture is an extremely competitive business. Requests have been received from livestock breeders outside Pennington county and it is expected that a number of them will furnish competition to county breeders this year.

Enrollment in the Pennington county 4-H club program has increased by 14 per cent from 483 last year to 523 this year, the county agent added. This is expected to increase the number of entries in the 4-H division of the county fair to well over the record 1,460 exhibits and demonstrations noted last year. Entries for this year's event are due Thursday at the county extension office.

Additional divisions of interest will be added to the fair this year. These will include special exhibits from senior citizens which are being arranged by Mrs. Adam Lindobeja, a photography division and a booth arranged by Thief River Falls schools which shows work being done with students in the visually handicapped program.

Organization Explained

Ray Oen stated that the Pennington County Fair Association, Inc., has been organized to assume operation of the county fair following the dissolution of the Pennington County Agricultural Society. The latter organization is now in a state of receivership and the former organization hopes to gain the grounds and the fair operation.

"This is our crucial year," Oen told the group. "We are now receiving a one-half mill levy from Pennington county for fair operation and debt retirement. This amounts to about $2,500. If this year's fair is successfully operated, there is a good chance that the county board will approve our request for a full mill levy.

"At present the county fair has a debt of about $26,000. Our association hopes to operate the fair in a manner that will permit us to use the $5,000 county appropriation

Mc Kircher Farm—Home for Horses

by Marvin Lundin
City Editor

Any visitor to the McKircher farm located about five miles southwest of St. Hilaire would agree that Irving McKircher does a considerable amount of "horsing" around. Ever since he was born near the present farm 50 years ago, fine horses have been the proverbial apple of his eye. . . and the McKircher farm has some dandies.

While Irving stated that it is possible to show a profit from his devoted work with horses, he also admits that they provide him with much of his entertainment as well. He loves to talk about his animals, has a classic memory for his buying, selling and trading experiences, and takes much pride in his two registered stallions.

One of these fine animals is a permanent - registered quarter horse which was raised on the McKircher farm. The McKirchers purchased a mare at a quarter horse sale in Dickinson, N. D., which was in foal to Classy Bar, a stallion which sold at the sale for $8,000. The horse colt was foaled in April of 1960 and is now a beautiful chestnut stallion with four white socks and a white blaze. Named Classy Bar's Boy, he has some of the top quarter horse breeding background in the United States.

The other stallion which is the pride of the McKircher stable is named Tarzon and was foaled in 1956. He was sired by Rambler and his dam was Banipolly—both registered Arabian horses with outstanding background. Tarzon is the sire of several area horses—including a Palomino owned by Robert Hirst of St. Hilaire which took first prize in the halter class at the Pennington county fair last year.

Recognizing that good stallions are necessary to improve the quality of horses in the area, McKircher has set his stud fees at $30 for the Arabian Tarzon and $50 for the quarter horse Classy Bar's Boy. These fees are less than a third of what breeders would charge in other areas. In addition, he gives a reduced fee of $20 for 4-H members who are enrolled in horse projects.

Owns 10 Brood Mares

McKircher presently has between 20 and 30 head of horses on his 1,760 acre farm, including a herd of 10 brood mares, several ponies, his stallions and a few colts. His intentions are to build his herd of brood mares into all registered quarter horses, since registered colts command a better price and the quality of the foals from registered horses is uniformly better.

Standards of membership in the American Quarter Horse association are very rigid, McKircher noted, with violation of the standards subject to being expelled from the association for life—no possibility of a second chance. This generally means that registered breeders have good stock, fairly represented.

Throughout his many dealings with horse buyers, sellers and traders, McKircher has gained a reputation for fair dealing. "I never want anyone to say that I sold a horse which wasn't sound or that possible defects were not pointed out to the buyer," he said.

Horseman's Background

Irving's father raised Percheron horses in the days when draft horses were in demand and his maternal grandfather was a breeder of Clydesdales. For more than 20 years Irving has raised riding stock, specializing in Arabian and quarter horse breeding in the last few years. One of his latest experiments was the breeding of his Arabian stallion to a Shetland pony mare. The filly colt is fine-boned and appears as though it will make a trim, light-weight horse with typical Shetland marking.

In addition to his horses, McKircher has a herd of 30 Hereford beef cows. At one time he had about 12 head of registered High-frmm Scotland. Two separate berds from Scotland. Two separate hers became too difficult to maintain, however, and he returned to the conventional beef type.

McKircher and his wife both enjoy having horses around the place

Elaine's CHATTER

We understand that inflation has hit the African wife market.

In the good old days you could get a wife by the simple exchange of a few cows or goats. Now they want cash! Even tho the father of the bride takes livestock, he wants cows, bulls, sheep, goats, hoes, arrows and spears. And in the places where they have price controls, fathers have been known to expect "under-the-counter" cows!

If there are some real sentimental Congressmen in Washington, no doubt there would be some Foreign Aid Program to help these needy people. Shades of romance . . . what is the world coming to?

We are happy there are no such controls here in this country and we at Elaine's help people prepare for weddings almost every day. We have lovely dresses for the mother of the bride, members of the party and guests. Some want them sheer and full skirted, others want a more sophisticated style but still covered up.

We have lovely gifts for the bride. Sheer, filmy undergarments, negligees, gowns, and little slippers. If you want to be practical choose a little cotton morning dress in plain or prints, from 4.98 and up. Get one for yourself too, for your little morning chores around the house or for your morning downtown shopping.

He referred to day activity centers as an example of facilities which use both state and community resources.

"Within these centers," he said, "every opportunity should be taken to use as fully as possible the total resources of the community—medical, educational, welfare and nursing, together with public and private agencies." He added that the 1963 legislative appropriation of $155,000 for matching funds for these centers will "greatly strengthen and make available more services within the community."

Melvin D. Heckt of Minneapolis was elected president of the state association to succeed Dr. Donald H. Berglund of Northfield. Presentation of an award was made to the Minnesota Mrs. Jaycees for outstanding services to the retarded.

Adolph Peterson Herd Tops County DHIA Last Month

26 Herds on Test Have Average Production of 989 Pounds of Milk Per Cow

Orville Peters, supervisor of the Pennington County Dairy Herd Improvement association, lists the following herds as the top 10 in the association for the month of May:

	Ave. Lbs. Milk	Ave. Lbs. Fat	Per Cent
Adolph Peterson	1510	47.8	3.17
Merle Lundeen	1260	45.9	3.64
Earl Erickson	968	45.2	4.67
Myron Carlson	1163	42.0	3.97
Melrkens Farms, Inc.	1076	40.3	3.71
Donald Erickson	1161	40.0	3.44
Art Stenberg	1062	39.0	3.57
Clyde Christensen	1100	38.6	3.51
Orlando Chervestad & Son	1065	38.4	3.60
Clarence Swanson	969	37.3	3.86

Herd averages are affected by the number of dry cows in the herd. The amount of milk or butterfat produced is averaged out over all the cows. This gives the farmer a record of the earning power of the herd for the month.

If too many dry cows are included in the herd then the average for that month may be low even though the cows which are milking produce a lot of milk.

There were 26 herds on test with a total of 735 cows and an average of 28.3 cows per herd during May 84 per cent of which were milking. The average amount of milk produced per cow was 989 lbs. which tested 3.61 per cent fat. This amounted to 35.7 pounds of B. F. per cow.

Two cows finished with over 500 lbs. B. F. during the testing year, in a 365-day or less lactation. They were:

	Cow	Days	Milk	Fat
Myron Carlson	1	365	14610	501
W. Peterson	17	350	14010	538

There were 13 owner-sampler herds on test with a total of 286 cows, 91 per cent of which were milking.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

by Laura Duerst

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

HERE ARE WAYS TO KEEP HOUSE COOL

Making the rooms in your home look cool will go far toward keeping members of the family feel cool on hot, humid days.

Any room will appear cooler and be much easier to dust if some of the decorative accessories are put away for the summer. Uncluttered, smooth surfaces are restful, too. Bring out a few summery accessories such as light covers for sofa pillows, and put away pillow covers that have a distinctly winter look.

If your rooms are decorated in golds and oranges, try to subdue these colors by using greens, blues and whites in accessories during summer for a cool effect.

Although your home will not be any cooler if you put up lightweight curtains in place of heavy draperies, sheerness in curtains does give the impression of airiness.

Davenports upholstered in wool or a scratchy, warm material can be slipcovered with a light, smooth fabric. If the budget won't allow a slipcover, an attractive, inexpensive cotton throw can serve the purpose.

Don't forget one of the simplest ways of keeping heat out—drawing shades or blinds during the warmest part of the day.

Instead of heating up the kitchen with cooking and baking, use the backyard barbecue or fireplace whenever possible and enjoy many of your meals outdoors. In the hottest weather, prepare a simple cold supper to serve on the porch. Or, if you have cooking facilities in the basement, prepare and serve some of your meals there.

Set a pretty table and use your imagination in serving foods so they appear cool. For example, tall blue glasses of lemonade and tall amber glasses of iced tea served with a sprig of mint look appetizingly cool. Terry tablecloths that aborb moisture from glasses or place mats of straw or other easy-care materials look summery and will spare the hot ironing chore. Add a bowl or vase of fresh flowers as a centerpiece to make your table inviting.

Yard 'n' Garden

Rose Culture

Roses are favorite garden flowers throughout Minnesota. Blooms on the hybrid trees, floribunda and grandiflora types should be continuous or recurring during the summer months and into the fall. But good culture is necessary to produce abundant and consistent bloom.

Good culture consists of proper fertilizing, pest control, appropriate pruning, watering and mulching. Apply fertilizer after every heavy flower production period until early September. If the roses are mulched heavily, 10-8-6 ratio of fertilizer may be used. No more than ½ cup per plant should be applied unless the soil tends to lose nutrients quickly.

Most rose hobbyists use protective pest control measures. Use an all-purpose rose spray or dust as a preventive measure. When mildew becomes an acute problem, use Karathane; for black spot disease use ferbam and sulphur or folpet.

Aphids, rose leafhoppers, and rose chafer are problem insects. Malathion and methoxychlor will control these pests.

Summer pruning consists mainly of removal of spent flowers. Cut back to the first five leaflets. Other rose fanciers cut to the first bud below the flower.

Regular watering to keep the soil moist is important for continuous bloom. Soak the soil at the base of the plant, but do not wet the foliage. Occasional washing of the foliage to remove dust and spray residue is desirable.

Summer mulching is essential to control weeds, conserve water and to keep the soil cool. Mulches may consist of well rotted barnyard manure, compost, buckwheat hulls or ground corn cobs.

Local Delegates Attend Methodist 109th Conference

Rev. and Mrs. Dean Headley and Marshall Hankerson were among 600 delegates attending the 109th annual conference of the Minnesota Methodist church which was concluded Friday in St. Paul. They represented Community Methodist church in Thief River Falls.

Rev. Headley was reappointed to Thief River Falls for the coming year while 58 new appointments or changes of appointment were announced at the conference.

The state Methodist membership in 1962-63 increased to 125,386 and the 398 conference churches spent $7,725,810 for all purposes during the fiscal year. A budget of $1,286,887 was approved for 1964 — exclusive of local church budgets.

Herbicides to control weeds were applied in two Lincoln county shelterbelts last year with good results, according to Arnold Claassen, Lincoln county agricultural agent. A shelterbelt on the Nels Wollum farm had been established in 1961. The other, on the Al Lipinski farm, was planted in 1962. Several more shelterbelts in the county will be treated with chemical weed killers this year. Claassen says that application of chemicals is relatively economical, and less trees are lost than when cultivation is used.

Conservation helps baseball! The Babe Ruth Junior Baseball League needed money for outfitting. Bob Brown, Hennepin county SWCD cooperator, needed someone to plant trees. Several years ago Brown used diversions to stop severe gullying. He decided that the gullied areas would be more useful for wildlife food and cover if trees and shrubs were planted. The baseball league planted 32,000 seedlings. Says Bob, "For two and one-half cents a tree I got a big job done. The boys earned baseball outfits and practical conservation at the same time."

Phosphate fertilizers with high water solubility can increase crop growth and yield on alkaline soil. In tests at Morris and Rosemount, water solubility of fertilizers ranged from 3 to 86 per cent. On acid Waukegan soil at Rosemount, water solubility did not make important differences in either plant growth or yield. But on alkaline Barnes soil at Morris, fertilizer with high solubility increased plant growth and yield. Increase was particularly evident at application rates of 12-18 pounds to the acre.

A wet spot on a field on the Santelman and Robinson farm in Winona county was corrected with waterways and parallel terraces constructed under technical guidance of the Soil Conservation Service. The farm manager reported that despite heavy rainfall last summer and fall, the hay and corn crops were good. You could drive a car across the former wet area without trouble.

Local banks have always been outstanding supporters of June Dairy Month activities because money grows where milk flows.

IMPROVED saddle horses at the McKircher farm near St. Hilaire have resulted from the use of Tarzon, a registered Arabian stallion which is now seven years old. McKircher rates the Arabian as one of the easiest riding horses and offers stud service from Tarzon to 4-H club horse project members at a reduced fee of $20. Last year's halter class champion at the Pennington county fair was a Palomino sired by Tarzon and shown by Robert Hirst of St. Hilaire.

and having people drop in to look at them. "I guess I get the most satisfaction out of meeting a lot of people," Irving said. He has sold horses to a number of Minnesota residents, some have gone to Iowa and he has had inquiries from both coasts.

Irving purchased the dam of his first stallion from the King ranch, well-known among the nation's horsemen. At present he has a possible replacement stallion named Jimmy Juniper—a bay horse out of Miss Char Lin by Revenue Reed. This animal also has top line breeding.

And in conclusion, a note of information for the uneducated (like this reporter). Palomino is a color and not a breed. Appaloosa, however, is a breed and need not be spotted to be called Appaloosa. If you want to know why, ask Irving McKircher. He knows.

FARMING TODAY

by your County Agent

Paul Stelmaschuk

Canker Worms

Canker worms are causing damage to trees in the county. Eugene Rondorf, who farms by the airport, called this morning and reported damage to his apple and elm trees. On the St. Hilaire 4-H tour Oliver Haugen of St. Hilaire observed damage to his trees. Mrs. Clarence Gross of Thief River Falls reported damage to apple trees.

These are only a few people who have reported losses from the canker worm (measuring worm).

This worm hatches out as the first elms leaf out. First signs of damage appear as pin holes in leaves in tree tops and at ends of branches. A heavy infestation can strip elms, boxelder, and apple trees. Canker worms will also attack maple, oak, ash, fruit trees and ornamental shrubs.

Spray your trees as soon as you observe damage. Use DDT, methoxychlor, or sevin. Airplane spraying of farmstead groves is advisable. Use two pounds of fifty per cent wetable DT powder to 100 gallons of water. Or, you can use two quarts of twenty-five per cent emulsion per 100 gallons of water. In spraying over fruits or vegetables in farm yards observe very carefully the tolerances on all chemicals.

Haying Time

Haying time is here. Don't pass up the chance to get top production from alfalfa fields. Some fields have been badly hurt by winter killing so it's doubly important to get as much cow feed per acre as possible.

Bert Vigen in Smiley township has been cutting alfalfa in bud stage and likes it. He states cows eat more of the early cut hay and it has more feed value. But, he adds, it is harder to cure so weather should be watched closely. Clayton Mathson has made the same observation as Vigen. The University of Minnesota has run trials on mowing time and it's a proven fact that cutting alfalfa in the bud will yield more cow feed.

Cutting June 28 and August 28, or twocuttings have yielded three and one-third tons per acre at University plots. Cutting three times in the bud stage yielded three and one-fifth tons. Although the hay yield was a trifle lower the protein in the hay cut three times was six per cent higher. This is 338 pounds more protein per acre. This is worth $25 in terms of protein supplement next winter.

You will lose one per cent of the feeding value of your hay for every day you wait after the alfalfa blossoms. Don't pass up the chance to add $25 to you income from each acre of alfalfa.

Wireworms in Grain

Several farmers in the east part of the county have reported a thinning out of their crop by worms. If the crop is missing in patches or is thin in patches then wireworms should be suspected. By digging along a row of grain you can find hard shelled, shiny, reddish, brown, or yellowish worms. They are one-half to about one-inch long.

Wireworms can mature in three years. Some are known to have survived in the soil for 13 years. The average life span is six to seven years. A slender black beetle about ½ inch long lays eggs in the ground from which the worms hatch. Beetles like to lay eggs into loose soil. Wireworms can live on a great variety of vegetation and after grains are out of the ground there is enough roots and other weeds to eat that damage to grains from now on will be negligible.

Grain fields and potato fields where wire worms are suspected can be treated with 3 lbs. of dieldrin, or 4 to 8 lbs. of chlordane. These chemicals need to be worked into the soil. Since the damage to grains is mostly to the seed and early roots the use of control measures should be considered next year on suspect fields.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by visiting or writing the VA Contact Office at the Fargo VA Center, Fargo, North Dakota.

Q—Is age a barrier in serving as a volunteer worker at a VA hospital?

A—No. In fact, some of the outstanding volunteers have been men and women in their 70's and 80's. Such elderly folks usually have plenty of time on their hands and many of them, through trials of their own, have learned to be sympathetic and understanding. Then again, patients accept and look with affection upon the elderly volunteers, maybe because they are reminded of parents or relatives. Ability and willingness to serve are far more important than age.

Q—Is a veteran expected to retire when he reaches 65 whether he would like to do so or not?

A—That would depend entirely upon the veteran. Many people, because of health or other reasons plan to retire at 65; many others are both capable and desirous of remaining at their work for many years to come. More and more senior citizens are finding that they have a definite role to play in the modern world.

Q—I have read that elderly people in general will benefit from the medical research programs carried on by the VA. Isn't it true that only veterans can take advantage of VA medical and hospital care?

A—Only veterans can directly receive VA hospital or medical care. But advances made in the treatment of illness or disability through VA research are passed on, like all research, to the world and humanity in general is aided.

SPECTATOR SPORT? That's what milking time looked like for Minnesota's June Dairy Month mascot cow when she visited some 600 students at Morris Park elementary school in south Minneapolis. With Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Kathy Hjelle of Argyle, doing the "play-by-play" members of the Future Farmers of America (FFA) chapter from nearby Roosevelt high school showed the city youngsters the original source of the milk they enjoy daily. FFA chapters in several Minnesota communities have similar June Dairy Month projects under way. The mascot cow, "Ayr-Line Fashion Pat," a purebred Ayrshire from the Mor-Ayr Farms herd at Red Wing, remained placid through the entire proceeding.

Legion Juniors Win, Lose Games

After dropping a 7 to 2 decision to a strong Fertile club on Monday night, coach Ralph Skay's local American Legion team came back on Tuesday evening and reversed that score as they defeated the Hallock juniors, 7 to 2, in a Northwest Junior league contest. Both games were played on the Fair Grounds diamond.

This evening, Wednesday, the locals are scheduled to play the Red Lake Falls juniors on the Fair Grounds diamond, with game time at 6:30 p. m. On Thursday evening with a 6:30 p. m. starting time the East Grand Forks juniors will invade the Fair Grounds diamond for a Northwest league game. And on Friday evening, at 6:30 p. m. at the Fair Grounds, the Crookston juniors will meet the locals in a Northwest league tilt.

In Monday night's loss to coach Chuck Johnson's Fertile club, the locals were held to but three hits, and all collected by David Erickson, by rangy Paul Sannes. The game was a 2-all tie until the top of the fifth inning when Fertile, on four hits—singles by Rod Olson, Bob Holmbeck and Curt Swendby, and a double by Sannes— and four errors by the locals, scored five runs. Jack Leedahl, on the mound for coach Skay's club, hurled a strong game, giving up one walk and whiffing seven batsmen. Sannes doled out four walks and collected ten strikeouts.

In Tuesday evening's league game, which was called in the last half of the fifth inning because of rain, the local juniors gave up two runs in the first inning, on a walk to Rick Pearson, a double by Ted Patroment, a walk to John Anderson, a hit batsmen, and an infield out.

A walk to Don Mathieu, a stolen base, and a double by John Aune ragained one of those runs for the locals in the last half of the first inning. And in the second inning, a single by Dick Johnson, three walks, and a Hallock error accounted for two more runs, giving the locals a 3 to 2 lead.

Righthander David Erickson pitched shutout ball during the remainder of the rain-curtailed game, and gave up but three hits.

Three hurlers shared the Hallock pitching duties, with starter Allen Borans being the loser. John Matthews pitched one inning, and lefty Bob Bengston hurled the remainder of the game, one and two-thirds inning.

The box scores:

U.S. Unemployment Tax Rate Reduced

Federal Tax Is Reduced .15 of One Pct. for 1963

George O. Lethert, district director of internal revenue at St. Paul, announced today that President Kennedy had approved legislation reducing the rate of federal unemployment tax for the calendar year 1963 from 3.5 per cent to 3.35 per cent.

This reduced rate, Lethert said, will apply to all wages paid on or after January 1, 1963. He went on to explain that the federal unemployment tax is imposed on each employer who has four or more employees on at least one day in each of 20 weeks in the calendar year. The tax, he said, applies to the first $3,000 paid by the employer to each employee during the year. The amount of federal unemployment tax payable by the employer is, however, reduced by credits for his contribution into the state unemployment fund.

He stated that the reduction in the federal unemployment tax has no effect on the social security taxes which are required to be paid by employers and employees under the federal insurance contribution act.

Lethert said the number of federal unemployment tax returns filed for calendar year 1962 was 24,767, while receipts for the same period totaled $7,503,926.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

The Bums Are Appreciative

Erv Melvie, business manager of the Bums team of the Pen-Ro-Shall league, expressed thanks in behalf of the team's players, and himself, for the $250.00 that was contributed by the city's merchants and business firms.

The Bums are attempting to keep senior baseball alive in the city, and this contribution will be of great assistance in helping to defray expenses of keeping the team in the Pen-Ro-Shall loop.

The Bums are playing a fine brand of baseball, and they are a colorful club. They have a number of first-rate ball players on the club, having such boys as Dennis Bakke, Ike Ellingson, and Ken Noreen in the lineup. Ellingson, perhaps, as a pitcher and hitter, is the league's outstanding player.

Opening Up a New Area

The province of Manitoba has spent thousands of dollars, and will spend thousands more, in opening a new recreation area in the Moose Lake and Birch Point region of Lake of the Woods. On Saturday Engval Lund and I made a trip up there, taking the highway north of Roseau, going through the U. S. and Canadian customs at South Junction, then east to Sprague. From Sprague to Moose Lake, where a new resort has been built and where Manitoba has provided fine camping facilities, is 21 miles. And from Moose Lake to Birch Point in the Buffalo Bay water of Lake of the Woods, is six miles.

There were a number of anglers taking advantage of the launching jetty that has been built by the province. And the majority of these anglers were from North Dakota. The resort at Moose Lake has rental boats available at Birch Point.

Fishing Has Been Excellent

The fishing, until the middle of the week when the May fly hatch began, had been excellent. And the Manitoba limits are more liberal than those in Ontario or Minnesota. Anglers may catch eight walleyes and two northerns per day, and the possession limit is 16 walleyes and four northerns. The nonresident license, which does not expire until March 31, 1964, costs $6.50.

A number of Minnesota anglers, basing their operations out of Warroad or Springsteel Island, have Manitoba licenses, and they go by boat into Manitoba's Buffalo Bay. They are permitted to catch eight walleyes; and then, when they return to Minnesota water in Lake of the Woods, they may catch six walleyes on their Minnesota license. The Minnesota game wardens are somewhat perturbed about this procedure, but as long as the anglers have Manitoba non-resident licenses, and fish Manitoba water, and also have Minnesota licenses, the fourteen-walleyes per day is legal.

There is one provision in the Manitoba fishing laws that is rigidly enforced and that is the ban on fishing with live bait. Dead or salted minnows are allowed, though.

One of the Best

North Dakota appears to have a number of top-flight American Legion junior baseball teams, having such clubs as Grand Forks, Fargo, and Drayton in the east, and Minot in the west.

This Drayton club, which has been a "power" in North Dakota kid baseball for a number of years, will make a strong bid for the state title. Glenn Gostick, assistant to head coach Dick Siebert at the University of Minnesota, is coaching the Drayton club this season. Drayton had a former Minnesota player as coach last season, and the local Legion post was very well pleased with the progress made by the team. Last season's coach was not available, but Drayton was able to secure the services of Gostick, who should be a capable replacement. Glenn is a stickler on condition, so you can believe it that the Drayton club will be rugged competition for Grand Forks, Minot, Fargo, and the other "big name" teams.

Secy. of Agriculture Cites Wheat Status

The farmers' choice on May 21 to reject national marketing quotas for the 1964 wheat crop means that for the next year unlimited wheat production with no price support is an option open to every American farmer, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman said recently.

"It is the earnest hope of the secretary of agriculture and this administration that wheat farmers and our agricultural economy in particular and our national economy in general will benefit from this decision freely made by American farmers at the ballot box," he declared. "We will do everything in our power to that end. There will be no dumping of CC wheat. . .

"Since 1938 Congress has wisely provided an alternative to acreage allotments and marketing quotas, to be effective if marketing quotas are not approved. That alternative program as provided by law will be in effect for the 1964 crop.

"The 1964 wheat program provides price supports at 50 per cent of parity for producers who voluntarily choose to comply with the acreage allotments applicable to their farms. Such farmers will be eligible for price-support loans on the 1964 crop at about $1.25 a bushel.

"This program will be in effect for the 1964 wheat crop. If it works satisfactorily and farm income is maintained and wheat supplies are not excessive, as those who urged a "no" vote in the referendum confidently predicted, no further program will be necessary. In any event, this point of view which prevailed in the referendum is entitled to a full and fair trial. Only when we see what happens can we be certain what program is the best.

If however, supplies of wheat in 1963-64 prove to be excessive, the Secretary of Agriculture under the law must proclaim a national marketing quota and a national acreage allotment for the 1965 crop of wheat prior to April 15, 1964. And a referendum must by law then be held within 60 days to determine if two-thirds of the wheat farmers support quotas. This means that should the program voted in on May 21, 1963, not succeed that a referendum will be held for the 1965 crop prior to June 13, 1964.

"In the world market, we can and will continue to fulfill our obligations under the International Wheat Agreement despite the current price and production uncertainty. . Sales for export will be handled in normal channels of trade to the maximum extent possible consistent with the fulfillment of our international obligation."

Summer Student Enrollment Sets Record in Bemidji

Summer enrollment records at Bemidji State college were broken by a wide margin Tuesday when the registrar's office reported a total of 931 full time students registered for the first summer session. If the enrollment in the three weeks mathematics workshop is included the figure rises to approximately 1000.

The full time summer session enrollment figure is a gain of 22 per cent over the previous summer high of 729 set in 1961.

Included in this year's total registrations are 192 graduate students.

Action Committee on Jr. Colleges Met in St. Paul June 13

Supt. M. R. Hankerson of This City Attends Annual Meeting of State Group

Members of the Minnesota Junior College Action committee representing communities interested in the junior college movement in the state held their annual meeting Thursday, June 13, in St. Paul. Supt. M. R. Hankerson represented Thief River Falls.

Addressing the group composed of school superintendents, deans of junior colleges, and interested lay persons, President Ralph E. Peterson, Willmar, said, "The junior college in Minnesota is entering a new era of growth and development. New legislation brings our committee, and the governor, and the state legislature new challenges for solving one phase of the problem of higher education in our state." In quoting Governor Rolvaag, Mr. Peterson said, "We are determined that the junior colleges make a strong contribution to higher education in our state."

This group has been active during the past legislative session in promoting favorable legislation for junior colleges. Twelve Minnesota communities were represented at this annual meeting, each community represented by educators and lay people who are members of the local junior college action committees.

Following the reports of the committee officers tracing the activities and achievements of this past year, officers were elected to serve for the coming year, including: President, Ralph E. Peterson, Willmar; vice president, Edward Flitton, Austin; secretary-treasurer, Phillip C. Helland, Willmar. Members of the Board of directors include George Eddie, Hibbing; L. E. Warmager, Fergus Falls; Leland Sorteberg, Anoka; Shirle Held, Worthington; Ray Madison, Brainerd; Mrs. Isabelle Koski, Ely; Robert Gunderson, Richfield; and Harold Conn. Dean Wesley Waage, Fergus Falls, will also serve on the board.

Following the business session, the committee met briefly with Governor Rolvaag. The governor reviewed the action of the recent legislative session which produced "a good bill which provides for a fine system of education in our state." He reiterated his insistence, concurring with that of the authors of the legislation, that the highest academic standards be maintained in the junior college system. The governor said, "We cannot consider this program a cost, but an investment in the intelligence of our youth."

Recruiter for Coast Guard Will Make Visits Here

J. C. Johnston of the Coast Guard recruiting station at Duluth, announced today that the U. S. Coast Guard is now accepting applications for enlistment from young men between the ages of 17 and 26 years.

All accepted enlistees from this area will receive basic training at Cape May, New Jersey. Upon completion of basic training, enlistees may qualify for one of thirty-five service schools offered by the Coast Guard.

Veterans may enlist in their former pay grades, depending upon rate and length of broken service. For more detailed information, interested persons are urged to visit Johnston, who will be present at the Navy Recruiting Station in the Thief River Falls Auditorium in the afternoon of the first and third Thursday of each month.

JUST ENOUGH time for a deep breath before turning into the home stretch of Minnesota's 27th annual observance of June Dairy Month delights both Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Kathy Hjelle of Argyle, and her small friend. The two got together for a long look across the summer fields at Mor-Ayr Farms near Red Wing. If the calf looks superturbed by her royal company, it might be because of her own heritage. Named "Mor-Ayr Petina," the calf is the frisky daughter of "Ayr-Line Fashion Pat," the purebred Ayrshire which served as Minnesota's official June Dairy Month mascot cow at the outset of this year's observance. Both cow and calf are owned by Dr. and Mrs. R. B. Graves, Red Wing.

Notify S.S. Office of Address Change

Social Security Checks May Be Delayed Otherwise

Thousands of people who are collecting social security checks do not get them as promptly as they could simply because they move and fail to notify social security offices of their new addresses, the Social Security Administration has announced.

A notice to the postoffice will not get an address changed on social security records, Walter D. Kistler, district manager, Grand Forks, North Dakota, social security office, said today. The best way of insuring the prompt and safe delivery of your social security check each month, he said, is to let the Social Security Administration know your new address as soon as you plan to move.

A notice to the postoffice of your change of address will take care of having any checks already on their way to you, but it will not insure the prompt delivery of those to follow.

You may report your new address to the Social Security Administration by filling out and mailing the post card which is given to you when you begin receiving your checks; or send a note to your Social Security Payment Center, giving your name and address, your claim number, your new address, and the date you plan to move.

The address of the payment center is on your "Certificate of Award." If you prefer, you may call your local social security district office to get the address.

Safety Council Urges Taking of Swimming Course

"Minnesota drownings during summer months often equal or exceed highway fatalities."

This warning came today from Carl W. Moen, chairman of the water safety section, Minnesota Safety Council, as thousands of vacation-bound citizens take to the highways.

Moen cautioned that "nearly all holidays are water oriented. Now is the time for parents to insist that youngsters take advantage of 'Learn to Swim' programs. Now is the time that boaters should take inventory of equipment and safety instruction courses offered by such organizations as the Coast Guard Auxiliary. Now is the time for vigilance on and around water."

The water safety section cited statistics which show that Minnesota averages 134 recreational drownings yearly. To date in 1963, a total of 24 persons have drowned in state waters.

State Parks Now Have Facilities Ready for Public

The Minnesota conservation department's division of state parks reported this week that sewage and water systems, electricity and other facilities are now in operation at all state parks where they are installed.

As always, the facilities in the southern portion of the state were turned on first with the northern half of the state being two weeks or more behind the southern half.

Managers of state parks within easy driving range of the Twin Cities say that substantial numbers of campers, picnickers and other park visitors have been present in the parks on weekends and that attendance seemed to be up over the same period a year ago.

Provides for Physically Handicapped Children

Camp Courage, Minnesota's only camp for crippled children and adults, opened its ninth season of providing camping opportunities to the handicapped of Minnesota this week.

The camp which is located fifty miles west of Minneapolis on Cedar Lake between Maple Lake and Annandale first opened in June of 1955. The first year 234 crippled children and adults attended. Each succeeding year more handicapped Minnesotans spent two weeks at Camp Courage, and last year 583 attended.

Those who attend Camp Courage come from all parts of Minnesota and are handicapped from a number of causes including amputees, blindness, cerebral palsy, congenital deformities, muscular dystrophy, multiple sclerosis, polio, spina bifida, and many others.

The camp is owned and operated by the Minnesota Society for Crippled Children and Adults, and it is supported by the Annual Crippled Children's Appeal and United Fund Campaigns throughout the state.

Anyone who is interested in attending Camp Courage should contact their county Crippled Children chairman, their county nurse or their school nurse.

"It is almost as difficult to make a man unlearn his errors as his knowledge. Malinformation is more hopeless than noninformation; for error is always more busy than ignorance.

Ignorance is a blank sheet, on which we may write; but error is a scribbled one from which we must first erase. Ignorance is contented to stand still with her back to the truth; but error is more presumptuous, and proceeds in the wrong direction. Ignorance has no light, but error follows a false one. The consequence is that error, when she retraces her steps, has farther to go before she can arrive at truth than ignorance."

No Relief In Sight

Total real estate and personal property taxes levied by the various taxing units in Minnesota last year was $546 million, according to State Auditor Stafford King. Those are the levies we are being called upon to pay this year. The total represents an increase of $37 million over the levies of the preceding year.

Only $29.7 million of the total was levied for state purposes, and this is due, of course, to the fact that the state depends on other tax sources for its huge expenditures. Of the $546 million total, school districts levied the largest amount, $230 million, an increase over the previous year of $17 million.

At a meeting of Local Assessors held at Mankato last week, state Tax Commissioner Rolland Hatfield stated that there is no relief in sight for Minnesota property owners who pay a tax almost the highest in the nation.

Maybe the time is ripe for the organization of a conservative political party here in Minnesota. A few active taxpayers' associations at the local levels might be helpful too. Certainly we are not going to get relief as long as the tax spenders are in the driver's seat.

Salary Boosts

A citizens' advisory group is recommending that salaries of federal executives be increased substantially. This group would increase the pay of Supreme Court justices from $35,000 to $60,000; of Cabinet members from $25,000 to $50,000. Other pay boosts would be handed out on a proportionate scale.

From our observation pay increases are not the answer for the problem of attracting better qualified people to seek or accept public office by election or by appointment. We are sure we would not get better qualified personnel to manage our public business if we doubled the pay, assuming that we would double the pay on an across-the-board basis.

In private industry pay incentives are important to the extent that they are available on a merit basis. But political influence is a too important factor in advancement among government employees, and pay increases based on merit are not certain enough to serve as an incentive.

We are sure that doubling the salaries of the members of the Minnesota legislature would not attract better qualified candidates for those important offices. And a big increase in the governor's salary would not assure us of getting a better qualified chief execuive.

A New Europe?

The French-West German treaty of cooperation appears to be well on the way to reality and will become a new and somewhat puzzling factor in European politics and in the operation of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. In explaining the pact, the French Foreign Minister defended it as the basis for a futre balance of power in Europe, stating:

> "Stability in the future will rest upon a balance between the Soviet Union and a union of Western Europe, based on intimate cooperation between France and Germany. Europe would now emphasize in world affairs the voice and interests of the old continent. Yet the United States should not misunderstand; it will have on this side of the Atlantic a valuable partner, conscious of its responsibilities and ready to face them."

Referring to Britain as "our neighbor and our friend", he gave assurance that "the time had passed when France and Germany could aspire to dominate Europe." He declared that the "North Atlantic Alliance will be strengthened rather than weakened by the cooperation between Paris and Bonn and the relationship between Europe and the United States will be placed on an equal footing in all respects."

Reporting from Paris for the New York Times, Drew Middleton observes:

> "The idea of a united Europe as a balance between the Soviet Union on the east and the United States on the west has a powerful attracion to those French politicians who believe that their country will lead that Europe.
> Since President de Gaulle's Union for the New Republic dominates the National Assembly, ratification of the treaty is regarded as certain.
> "The Opposition parties, however, hope to submit an ammendment stating that French - German cooperation must be suordinated to greater European integration and a more vigorous French role within the Atlantic alliance.
> "This would be similar tothe addition that the foes of the treaty made to it before it was approved by the West German Parliament last month."

Apparently our country isn't having much to say about the new order that is in the making, nor is there any evidence that other countries of Europe are being consulted. It now appears that we are not nearly as important as at one time we thought we were. Maybe now would be a good time to start strengthening our own resources and getting our own affairs in good order.

Plain Language

As some of the readers of this column may have concluded, we have not been greatly impressed with the oratory of President Kennedy. And we haven't been impressed, we think, mainly because, too often, it hasn't been impressive. We are pleased therefore to pass along a quotation from a recent speech made by the President that we believe may be long remembered. In discussing our foreign policies he made these simple observations:

> "No government or social system is so evil that its people must be considered to be lacking in virtue. As Americans, we find Communism profoundly repugnant as a negation of personal freedom and dignity. But we can still hail the Russian people for their many achievements in sicence and space, in economic and industrial growth, in culture and in acts of courage.
> "Among the many traits the peoples of our two countries have in common, none is stronger than our mutual abhorrence of war. Almost unique among the major world powers, we have never been at war with each other. And no nation in the history of battle ever suffered more than the Russians suffered in the course of the Second World War. At least 20,000,000 lost their lives. Countless millions of homes and farms were burned or sacked. A third of the nation's territory, including nearly two-thirds of its industrial base, was turned into a wasteland — a loss equivalent to the devastation of all this county east of Chicago.
> "Today, should total war ever break out again — no matter how — our two countries would become primary targets. It is an ironical but accurate fact that the two strongest powers are the two in most danger of devastation. All we have built up, all we have worked for, would be destroyed in the first 24 hours.
> "And even in the Cold War—which brings burdens and dangers to so many countries, including this nation's closest allies—our two countries bear the heaviest burdens. For we are both devoting vast sums to massive weapons that could better be used to combat ignorance, poverty and disease. We are both caught up in a vicious and dangerous cycle in which suspicion on one side breeds suspicion on the other, and new weapons beget counterweapons.
> "In short, both the United States and its allies, and the Soviet Union and its allies, have a mutually deep interest in a just and genuine peace and in halting the arms race. Agreements to this end are in the Soviets' interest as well as ours—and even the most hostile nations can be relied upon to accept and keep those treaty obligations, which are in their own interest.
> "So, let us not be blind to our differences — but let us also direct attention to our common interests and to the means by which those differences can be resolved. And if we cannot now end our differences, at least we can help make the world safe for diversity. For, in the final analysis, our most basic common link is the fact that we all inhabit this planet. We all breathe the same air. We all cherish our children's future. And we are all mortal."

This speech was reproduced in Russia's leading newspaper and was commented upon favorably by many Soviet leaders. It will be much more effective in the interests of peace, we are sure, than the blabbering of our militarists about the bigger and bigger bombs we are going to build. There were a lot of one-sylable words in these few paragraphs. We like short words, and we have more confidence in the integrity of thinkers who use them regularly.

Bravo McCarthy

Senator Eugene McCarthy is to be commended for criticizing the Justice Department for bringing anti-trust charges against a group of Minnesota banks. According to McCarthy, the Justice Department actions "indicate a lack of understanding of existing laws and regulations and a failure to appreciate the nature and function of the banking industry in the United States."

As we recall this matter the Justice Department first started such an action against a group of banks in Texas. That of course was a political mistake, the Texas bankers being liberal contributors to the Democratic party. TheTexas charges were withdrawn. Then the action was started in Minnesota.

The charges cover procedures that have been common practice for years. The banks have been inspected regularly and practices have been approved. It is reasonable to assume therefore that this action by the Justice Department was started strictly for campaign purposes.

That is what makes Senator McCarthy's criticism so praiseworthy. Now if he will ask for the removal of Bobby Kennedy as head of the Justice Department we will go all out for McCarthy for President in 1964.

Highway Meeting Held Last Week

State Officials Discuss Federal Aid to Counties

Personnel from the Minnesota highway department met with county commissioners and county highway engineers from 10 northwestern Minnesota counties in Thief River Falls on Wednesday The session was the last in a series of six meetings held throughout the state.

About 60 persons were in attendance at the session from Pennington, Red Lake, Marshall, Beltrami, Clearwater, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Norman, Polk and Roseau counties. Previous meetings had been held by state officials at Mankato, Fergus Falls, Arden Hills, Rochester and Brainerd.

The meeting held in Thief River Falls followed and was similar to a series of meetings which were held in all of the nine highway department districts with state highway employees assigned to construction work. During the same time there have been expanded training schools for both state and county inspection personnel conducted throughout the state.

State officials stated that the meetings were being held for the following purposes:

To continue and to expand the fine cooperative relations which has existed for many years between the counties and the state highway department;

To give the county commissioners factual information as to the increasing requirements of the federal government relative to federal aid highway projects;

To further acquaint the county commissioners and county highway engineers with their obligations and responsibilities in the federal aid highway program;

And to assist in the effort of all in the department to improve highway standards and the technical abilities of inspection personnel.

State officials present for the session included Carl M. Larson, district engineer, and Herbert C. Dale, district state aid engineer, both of Bemidji; John H. Swanberg, chief engineer, W. S. Ekern, deputy chief engineer, J. M. Evans, state aid engineer, and C. K. Preus, materials and research engineer, all of St. Paul; and Douglas Plummer, area engineer for the Bureau of Public Roads.

Engineer Advises on Use of Freeway

Tells Motorists to Have Car in Good Condition

Don't take a car in bad repair on a freeway and don't run out of gas. If your car should stall on the freeway you'll have a difficult time getting to a service station or other help, says J. E. P. Darrell, traffic engineer with the state highway department.

Travel on the Interstate Highways, or other freeways, presents some service problems not generally encountered on ordinary routes.

Because of the limited access design, commercial establishments such as restaurants, lodgings and service stations are not and will not be available alongside freeways. No commercial establishments are permitted on the right of way.

The Minnesota highway patrol regularly cruises the Interstate freeways, and besides carrying out their duties of law enforcement in protecting the life and property of motorists, they may summon repairmen and tow-trucks by radio as requested and give a limited amount of assistance when such help will get a vehicle in operation to reach a garage or parking area.

If you should become stalled and desire assistance, tie a white cloth or handkerchief in a conspicuous position on your vehicle and, when practicable, raise the hood of the car. This is the standard call for help set by the American Association of State Highway Officials.

Bar Association to Meet in Duluth

Justice Department Men to Speak Next Wednesday

Robert S. Erdahl, criminal division, and Baddia J. Rashid, antitrust division of the department of justice, Washington, D. C., will participate in a seminar on Wednesday, June 26, the opening day of the Minnesota State Bar association convention at Hotel Duluth, Duluth.

Sponsored by the Corporate Counsel association, the seminar will deal with criminal liability of corporate officers and directors, according to Neil A. Riley, Minneapolis attorney in charge of arrangements. The group will consider, among other matters, whether criminal liability can be imposed on an officer for an action of a corporate employee of which the officer had no knowledge.

The Corporate Counsel association will join other affiliated groups at noon to hear an address by Hon. Sylvester C. Smith, Jr., Newark, New Jersey, president of the American Bar association. Cyrus A. Field, Fergus Falls, State Bar association president, will preside at the luncheon.

A reception for all conventiongoers will be held Wednesday evening June 26 on the roof penthouse of the First American National bank, Duluth.

DFL Leader Hits Langen's Vote on Redevelopment

The chairman of the Seventh district DFL party, A. O. "Spot" Relerson, Fosston, has charged that "Congressman Odin Langen has turned his back on the unemployed of the Seventh district by voting against a $450 million extension of Area Redevelopment activities. Relerson said that "the latest estimates are that the $450 million authorization would create a number of jobs and channel $198,000 into the Seventh district."

Free Lutherans Convene in Fargo

Two Local Men Named to Board of Administration

The annual conference of the Association of Free Lutheran Congregations was held in Fargo, N. D., June 12-16, at the church's Mission Center.

The association is made up of some sixty congregations, most of which did not enter the merger of the Lutheran Free Church and the American Lutheran Church last February. The group has been under court injunction not to use the name Lutheran Free Church not merged. A hearing on this injunction was started in International Falls, Minnesota, on Tuesday, June 18, before Judge Gordon L. McRae.

Our Savior's Lutheran church of Thief River Falls is affiliated with the Association.

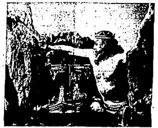
The annual conference elected the Rev. John Strand, Tioga, N. D., president; the Rev. Fritjof Monseth, Valley City, N. D., vice president; and the Rev. Richard Snipstead, Greenbush, secretary. In addition, a board of administration was chosen consisting of the Rev. Julius Hermunslie, Spicer, Minnesota; the Rev. Marius Hankenstad, Thief River Falls, the Rev. Karl Stendal, Minneapolis; Mr. Harvey Dyrud, Newfolden; and O. K. Ose, Thief River Falls.

The conference expressed the hope of establishing a mission field, possibly in Brazil, in 1964. A missions budget of $30,700. was voted for both home and world missions. A decision to begin a seminary for the training of pastors in 1964 was also made. Its location will be determined later.

Nearly 425 laymen and 20 pastors attended the conference which gave the right to vote to all Lutherans who agree with the principles and aims of the association. They came from 101 congregations representing nine states.

On Wednesday, June 12, the women of the church held their meeting and elected Mrs. O. K. Ose, Thief River Falls, president of the Women's Missionary Federation.

Nearly a dozen persons from Thief River Falls attended the conference.



"Jason and the Argonauts" sail through the Strait of the Crashing Rocks, aided by the god Triton, in this scene from Charles H. Schneer's spectacular new screen entertainment. Todd Armstrong as Jason and Nancy Kovak as Medea star in the Columbia release, in Eastman Color. Starts Sunday at the Falls.

With his wife and two children, he left for Rochester, N. Y., where he has accepted a position as systems analyst with Eastman Kodak. Glenn Carlson is a former manager of the local Chamber of Commerce and now is manager of the St. Cloud Chamber of Commerce.

Taconite Plant Tours Arranged by Steel Co.

Oliver Iron Mining Division plans to step up its Iron Range tourist program for the 1963 tourist season to include public tours of its taconite plant, C. F. Beukema, president of the U. S. Steel mining division, said late last week.

"We have received so many requests from Minnesotans," Mr. Beukema explained, "to view mining operations and to learn more about Minnesota's taconite prospects that we concluded it would be helpful to expand our tourist program, which in the past ten years has attracted more than two million visitors."

Beginning June 15, Oliver's mine viewpoints will be opened to the traveling public at Marble, on the Western Mesabi; at the Hull-Rust Mine in Hibbing; the Sherman Mine near Chisholm; and at the Rouchleau Mine at Virginia. At each, Mr. Beukema explained, visitors will be able to see typical Minnesota natural iron ore operations and learn about some of the difficulties these mines and their ore beneficiation plants experience in making Minnesota ores marketable.

At Mountain Iron, Oliver's Pilotac taconite plant will be opened to the public on a seven-day-week basis starting Sunday, June 30. Tours through both the taconite mine and the plant are scheduled hourly beginning at 8:00 a. m. daily.

Signs on U. S. Route 169, which runs east and west across the Mesabi Range, will direct visitors to the mine viewpoints, Mr. Beukema said. Oliver's "Welcome House," where the Pilotac taconite tours begin, is reachable via a well marked road heading north from Highway 169 at Mountain Iron. Rest rooms and a comfortable waiting room-lounge are available at the "Welcome House."

As has been customary for the past ten years, guides will be provided by Oliver at the Hull-Rust, Sherman and Rouchleau Mine viewpoints. Guide service begins June 30 with Range college students available to describe mining and ore treatment operations at their various locations. Visitors are urged to ask them questions about Oliver's mining activities on the Mesabi Range, Mr. Beukema said.

Taconite plant guides will be teachers from Virginia and Mountain Iron schools and who are especially equipped to present the story of Minnesota taconite operations to the traveling public.

There is no charge for any of Oliver's materials or for guide service at Oliver's observation stands or plants, Mr. Beukema said.

SLOW DOWN AND LIVE

See No Danger of Sugar Shortage in U.S. This Year

The only way a sugar shortage could develop would be for consumers to hoard sugar supplies, officials of the department of agriculture declared. Sugar users are assured that supplies will be sufficient to meet all requirements for household, institutional, and industrial use and to provide reasonable stocks of sugar for distributors, users, and ultimate consumers.

In recent days, the department has received new assurances from foreign countries supplying sugar to the United States that they will fill their quotas. In addition, the United States has obtained large supplies throughout the world through the global quota system.

PROBING THE UNKNOWN

Early dawn at Cape Canaveral . . . and out of the flaming roar a finger of science probes the unknown.

Man has never been content to live behind a curtain of mystery. He must seek . . . discover . . . explore.

Nor is man's soul less eager than his mind!

For if we are meant each day to learn one more truth of our environment, we are meant, too, to learn one more truth of our Creator. There is hope that scientific probing can enrich our physical life; there is promise that religious searching will deepen our spiritual life.

Tomorrow depends on every lesson learned at Canaveral. But, to even greater degree, on every truth learned at Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Bit by bit...
every litter bit hurts

DON'T BE A LITTERBUG! Boating, swimming, fishing lure millions of us to the water every year. And the careless ones leave a trail of litter that piles up—bit by bit—to be an eyesore . . . a health menace . . . a water hazard. Litter can even cause your favorite fishing spot to be closed down. And remember—littering is against the law! ■ So don't get hauled up for a fine. Carry a litterbag in your boat—and use it! When you go camping, don't pitch anything on the ground except your tent. Toss litter in the basket or take it out with you. It's up to every one of us to KEEP AMERICA BEAUTIFUL!

Crippled Children Camp Concluded

Two-Week Day Camp Conducted by Local Directors, Counselors

Five Thief River Falls residents received specialized training at a day camp conference held recently at Camp Courage—the camp operated by the Minnesota Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc. These people conducted a two-week day camp concluded Friday at Riverside park in Thief River Falls under supervision of the state society.

Directors of the camp were Orall Johnson and John Ziegler, both counselors at Lincoln high school for the past several years. Counselors at the camp were Trudy Waale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Waale; Judy Iverson, daughter of Mrs. Pearl Iverson; and Nancy Dicken, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Art Dicken. Twelve youngsters were in attendance at the camp.

Purpose of the conference was to train the staffs of the day camps in the care and treatment of the handicapped and to acquaint them with the program area of crafts, nature and games. Fifteen day camps are being held in the state this year. The Thief River Falls camp, open to all physically handicapped youngsters between the ages of six and 14 years, was held June 10 through 21.

"The day camping program is a significant addition to the service program of the Minnesota Society for Crippled Children and Adults," stated Emmett De Cambaliza, field representative for the state society. "This service

Coronation of New Pope Set June 30

The College of Cardinals in Vatican City elected Giovanni Battista Cardinal Montini the 262nd pope of the Roman Catholic church Friday, placing its future policy in the hands of a dynamic, progressive. He will be crowned Sunday.

The new supreme pontiff of the world's half billion Catholics took the name Paul VI.

The deep-voiced campanone, master bell of St. Peter's, led the bells of the hundreds of churches in Rome, Italy, in carols of triumph, while more than 100,000 persons in vast St. Peter's Square roared out their delight.

The election of 65-year-old Cardinal Montini by a solemn, secret conclave of 80 cardinals, seemed to insure continuation of the precedent-making policies of John XXIII, who died 19 days ago.

The new pope, who had been archbishop of Milan for eight years, is a skilled diplomat who served Pope Pius XII as pro-secretary of state. He also worked closely with the successor to Pius during the four years, seven months of Pope John's reign. He supported Pope John's efforts to bring Christians together and reach new arrangements for the faithful in Communist-ruled countries.

On Sunday, June 30, Pope Paul will receive the glittering three-tiered tiara encrusted with precious gems and topped by the golden orb and cross.

$807,677 in Taxes Paid in County to June 1st This Year

A total of $807,677.84 in real estate and personal property taxes was paid in Pennington county during the five-months period from January 1 to June 1, a substantial increase over the $749,239.22 paid in the same period in 1962, County Treasurer Ellsworth Jorgenson announced late last week. During the period from March 1 to June 1 this year, collections aggregated $498,533.75. The record of payments is considered unusually good in view of the poor crop returns in the county last fall.

Registered Nurse Group Meets Here

Registered nurse members of the District 1 Minnesota Nurses' Association met Thursday evening, June 13, at the Northwestern Hospital in Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Rosemary Henderson of Crookston, president of the group, presided at the meeting which included various committee reports and plans for the coming year.

Guests for the evening were four professional nursing students on rural affiliation at Northwestern Hospital.

The next meeting of the organization will be held at Crookston in September.

Parallel Parking Now On Second Street

Street marking has now been completed to provide for parallel parking on the south side of Second street from the alley between Main and Knight avenues to Atlantic avenue. The change from angle parking was made at the direction of the city council following a request from the Pennington County Safety council.

ASCS Office Reveals 1963 Price Supports for Barley and Oats

Prices for the 1963 crop of barley will be supported at a total 78 cents per bushel in Pennington county, Winton Knutson, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County committee, has announced. This compares with a support of 89 cents per bushel for the 1962 barley crop. The 1963 program provides for a 14-cent-per-bushed payment-in-kind and a 78-cents-per-bushel price-support loan rate.

Terminal rates are available in the ASCS county office for farmers who wish to store their grain in a terminal elevator. All terminal market loan rates are adjusted downward 11 cents per bushel to reflect the difference between the national average loan and purchase agreement support prices. No payment-in-kind was available under the 1962 feed grain program.

For major producing areas, as in the past, county support loan rate will reflect terminal loan rates less the freight and handling charges needed to get the barley to terminal markets.

The basic loan rate is for barley grading No. 2 or better. It is adjusted by discounts for grade and quality to determine support prices for individual producers. The discount schedule is the same as for the 1962 crop.

The chairman reminded growers that price support on 1963-crop barley will be available to those producers who participate in the 1963 feed grain program by diverting at least 20 per cent of their total barley, corn, or grain sorghum acreage to conserving use. (The 1962 malting barley exception has been discontinued because stocks of that grain now are in adequate supply.)

As in previous years, price support will be carried out through farm-and wharehouse-stored loans and purchase agreements. Support will be available from harvesttime through Jan. 31, 1964.

The price-support rate for 1963-crop oats in Pennington county will be 56 cents per bushel for Grade No. 3 oats, Knutson announced. This compares with a support of 53 cents per bushel for the 1962 oats crop. To be eligible for support, oats must grade No. 3 or better, or No. 4 on the factor of test weight only.

The chairman pointed out that participation in the 1963 feed grain program for corn, grain sorghum, and barley will not be a condition of eligibility for price support on oats.

Premiums and discounts applied for grade and quality to determine individual producer support rates have been changed from the 1962 program. The discount for Grade No. 4 oats on the factor of test weight only has been increased from 1 cent to 3 cents per bushel to more accurately reflect market prices and discounts for this grade of oats. Premiums are 1 cent per bushel for Grade No. 1 or better, 1 cent for heavy test weight, and 2 cents for extra heavy test weight. The discount for garlicky oats is 3 cents per bushel.

Red Lake County Sheriff Corrals Cattle Rustlers

Nelmer Berg of Keewatin was arraigned last week in the municipal division of probate court in Red Lake county on a charge of cattle rustling. The 43-year-old Berg, his 30-year-old brother-in-law Rene Riendeau, and his 18-year-old son Arland were arrested at the Berg farm near Keewatin.

Sheriff Gerald Hinze of Red Lake county began searching for the rustlers after two head of cattle were reported stolen June 11 from the Virgil Nelson farm near Oklee. He was joined by Sheriff Melvin Brustad of Clearwater county, who was investigating the theft of four young cattle, and Sheriff John Cahill of Beltrami county, who was seeking two missing cattle.

Sheriff Cahill received a description last week of a pickup truck seen carrying two young cattle. Hinze and Brustad traced the vehicle to the Berg farm—200 miles from their home counties. There they found two heifers identified as the missing Oklee animals.

Riendeau was being held at Bemidji for Clearwater county authorities and Arland Berg was also held there until his release on Tuesday. Max Graham, state crime bureau agent stationed in Thief River Falls, questioned Nelmer Berg but was unable to obtain a statement.

Nurses Provided Training to Give Tuberculin Tests

Sixty Attend Sessions Held at University Continuation Center

Approximately 60 nurses from throughout Minnesota attended a course giving information on tuberculosis and the tuberculin test at the University of Minnesota Center. Training was preparatory to assisting with the tuberculin testing work of the Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health association.

One of the first of its kind in the nation, the two-day course was designed to give the nurses background information on tuberculin testing surveys and to train them in the proper technique of administering the test which checks for tuberculosis infection. Also attending the session was Kenneth Taylor, Thief River Falls, director of the Northwest Regional Advisory council of the state association.

The course included lectures and panel discussions on types of tuberculin used for testing, interpretation of the test, follow-up of reactors and the mechanics of organizing and implementing a tuberculin testing survey. The course was presented by the University of Minnesota in cooperation with several health and medical associations.

Hallock Girl Drowns at Tindolph Swimming Pool

RECOVERED from the Red Lake river Sunday was the body of 13-year-old Carol Forfang, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Gordon Forfang of Hallock. Carol was drowned while swimming at Tindolph park about 1:15 p.m. Left to right with the body in the above photo are Orin Green, mortician; Gordon Forfang, father of the accident victim; Wendel Olson, one of the search crew; and Dr. F. O. Thorsgard, Pennington county coroner

Tragedy struck a fun-filled family picnic Sunday afternoon at Tindolph park in Thief River Falls when one of the family members drowned in the Red Lake river. Dead is Carol Forfang, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Forfang of Hallock, who was last seen alive at about 1:15 p. m. when the current carried her into deep water.

According to reports from local law enforcement authorities, Carol and a cousin were wading in water which was about chest deep at the swimming area. Carol apparently suffered a cramp and was unable to keep from sinking beneath the water.

A rescue attempt was made by the cousin, but was unsuccessful due to the current of the river, struggle of the frantic victim and the fact that the cousin was not a strong swimmer, authorities said. The current carried the girl into deep water and the body was recovered at 2:36 p. m. just southeast of the Eighth street bridge.

Since several boats were in the area for recreation purposes, dragging was commenced by the Thief River Falls fire department rescue squad as soon as dragging equipment could be brought to the area. About an hour and 20 minutes was required to make the recovery. Funeral arrangments are being made through a Hallock mortuary.

While Tindolph Park pool has a supervised swimming area, no lifeguard was on duty at the time of the accident.

Boost in Gas Tax Effective July 1

Price at Gas Stations to Increase Accordingly

The recently enacted 1 cent per gallon Minnesota gasoline tax increase will be reflected in service station pump postings on the July 1 effective date, according to an oil industry spokesman.

L. B. Kelly, regional manager of Standard Oil, Division of American Oil Company, announced that on July 1 the company will begin collecting an additional one cent of tax per gallon gasoline sold to its dealers and consumers throughout the state. "Naturally the dealers will have to collect the increased tax from their customers," he said.

The tax increase is expected to raise an additional $12 million per year for highways, according to Kelly. The present five cents per gallon state tax raised about $60 million per year, and the four cents per gallon federal tax swelled collections to about $108 million. Thus the $12 million collected from the new tax increase will expand the total to about $120 million per year. "In fact the gasoline tax generates more revenue than any other state tax in Minnesota except the personal income tax," Kelly said.

Body of Drowning Victim Recovered

Recovery of the body of Roger Lee Srnsky from the Red Lake river was accomplished Thursday evening by the Pennington county sheriff's department and the rescue squad from the Thief River Falls fire department. This climaxed a four and one-half day search for the youth who drowned last Sunday on the Henry Konickson farm about three and one-half miles southeast of St. Hilaire.

Discovery of the body was made by Peter Schmidt on his farm near the highway 32 bridge north of Red Lake Falls — approximately 15 miles by river below the spot where he was last seen. Schmidt was looking for an animal which had been troubling his poultry when he found the body in slow water near the river shore on his farm.

Red Lake county sheriff's authorities were notified and the Pennington county sheriff's office and Thief River Falls fire department were called to make the recovery. The 17-year-old drowning victim was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Srnsky of rural St. Hilaire, and disappeared in the river about 3:30 p. m. Sunday while wading across the river with three younger companions.

Intensive search efforts had been conducted by boats, skin divers and airplane. A 24-hour watch on the river had been maintained, primarily by friends, neighbors and relatives of the deceased.

Funeral services for Roger Lee Srnsky will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. from the Mission Covenant church in St. Hilaire with Rev. W. L. Jacobson officiating. Interment will take place in the Bohemian cemetery near Erie.

Roger Lee Srnsky was born July 21, 1945, to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Srnsky and had made his home with his family until his death. He attended school at St. Hilaire and Thief River Falls and was a member of the Mission Covenant church at St. Hilaire.

Survivors include his parents; six brothers, David, Donald, Thomas, Michael, Randy and Dennis; two sisters, Linda and Sandra; and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bye of Goodridge. He was preceded in death by a brother and sister. Sinding's Funeral Chapel is in charge of arrangements.

Deputy Sheriff Eugene Prestegaard, who headed the search, expressed special thanks to the Thief River Falls fire department and police department, Red Lake county sheriff's department, Polk county sheriff's office, Red Lake Falls fire department and others for service and equipment; Gary Forsberg, Jerry Christensen, Robert Carlson and Jimmy Langevin, swimmers and divers; Morris Russell, airplane search; friends and neighbors who brought food for the workers; Mission Covenant church, Tarna church, Zion church of TRF, Clara church, St. Bernard's church of TRF for serving and offering help; and KTRF for announcements.

The Federal Land Bank of Saint Paul has $400 million in loans outstanding.

Included in the list from this area are Eugene Bergh, Phil Jorgenson and Diane Marshall of Thief River Falls and Judy Bredeson of Gatzke.

HORSEPOWER of the true equine type can never be entirely replaced by machine—at least not without sacrificing something. Haying season is in full swing throughout the Times area and farmers are cutting, raking and baling or stacking hay in preparation next winter. While the above scene may not be entirely typical in this mechanical age, it does prove a point. Frank Heinze of Thief River Falls directs the operation from the stack while a driver handles the tractor and sweep. On spoken command, the horse dutifully raises the stacker and then backs up to lower it again. It may look like a one-horse operation—but Frank has the other half of his team tied to a nearby hayrack.

D. A. Pederson, Plummer, Married In North Dakota

Betty Lou Knudson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Knudson of Clifford, N. D., exchanged vows with Donald Allen Pederson, son of the Henry Pedersons of Plummer, at Norman Lutheran church at Clifford, on June 2. Altar setting for the vows, prompted by the Rev. Edward Leivestad, was of lilacs and emerald trees, flanked by candelabra. The double-ring service was used.

Mrs. Bertel Nelson of Clifford played traditional nuptial music for the processional as the bride entered on the arm of her father and was given by him in marriage. Soloist Roger Kolarud sang, "O Perfect Love," and "The Lord's Prayer."

A floor-length gown of sheer Dacron was chosen by the bride for her wedding attire. The gown was fashioned with a modified bell skirt which swept into a chapel train. A ballerina-length veil of silk illusion was held by a rose cap. Her bridal bouquet was of red roses and lilies of the valley in a cascade arrangement.

The bride was attended by Ardis Knudson of Northwood, N. D., as maid of honor. Other attendants were the bride's sister, Margaret Knudson, Clifford, N. D., and Marilyn Pederson, Plummer, a sister of the groom. They wore floor-length dresses of aqua Dacron, also fashioned with modified bell skirts, and they wore matching headpieces.

Attending the groom was his brother, Harold Pederson, Drayton, N. D., as best man. Michael Knudson of Clifford, N. D., and Ronald Anderson of Delano, Minn. were groomsmen. The gentlemen all wore dark business suits with long ties.

For her attire, the bride's mother chose a beige knit dress with bone colored accessories, while the mother of the bridegroom wore a blue lace dress with jacket. Her accessories were also of bone color and their corsages were of pink roses.

A reception was held in the church parlors and given by the parents of the bride. Ladies of the Esther circle of the church served. The round bridal cake was of three tiers and decorated with pink roses and lilies of the valley.

Guests were received from many North Dakota towns, and from New York Mills, Bluffton, Plummer, Moorhead, Delano, Minneapolis, Minn., and Rockford, Ill. and Austin, Tex.

For her travel costume on their brief honeymoon to the Lakes, the bride wore a light green knit dress, with a green hat, white accessories, and a red rose corsage.

The bride is a sophomore at MSTC, while the groom is an employee of the Grafton National Bank. The couple is at home at Grafton.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of

MRS. ROSE FROSETH

Summer time is more appropriately "salad time", perhaps, than the other seasons. This springtime salad has an advantage over gelatine salads in that it lends itself more readily to backyard or picnic meals, as there is no danger of its becoming limp or "weepy". It can be packed in insulated containers or surrounded with crushed ice enroute to the picnic spot, and thus kept temptingly cool. The green of the garden-fresh onions and the peas, and the bits of color provided by the mixed vegetables and tomatoes, make for attractiveness and eye-appeal, a real come-on to hot-weather-jaded appetites. Mrs. Froseth says that it looks beautiful on a large platter surrounded by fresh parsley. Cucumbers can also be added, if desired, or used as a garnish, as well as hard-cooked eggs or paprika, or cubed or wedges of tomato. You'll like its versatility, we think.

SPRING SALAD

2 small packages Juniorettes or Creamettes, cooked in salted water, then drained and cooled.
1 9-oz. can peas, drained
1 8-oz. can mixed vegetables, drained
3 fresh tomatoes, cut up several green onions, chopped
Miracle Whip, enough to make a creamy salad dash of salt and pepper

Combine and serve.

Mrs. Froseth is the owner of Froseth's Food Market, and she consequently finds little time for hobbies, but when she does have a bit of leisure, she loves to spend it at their cabin on Union Lake. There are two married daughters in the family, Mrs. Erling Olson and Mrs. Milt Roierson, and six grandchildren to bring smiles to the face of their grandmother. Mr. Froseth is no longer living, having passed away about four years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pajack of Miami, Florida, visited here last week enroute to Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada. Mrs. Pajack is the former Vernice Helgeland and is a sister of Lawrence Helgeland of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Schantzen and daughter of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, arrived on Tuesday and will be guests at the home of Mr. Schantzen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Schantzen, until the first of July.

Postmaster at Viking Announces ZIP Code Number

Number 56760 Assigned To Viking Office; All Patrons Should Use It

Viking has been assigned the number 56760 as its five-digit ZIP code number, according to Alvin Grandstrand, postmaster. "Everyone in Viking is to use this ZIP code on all their correspondence to speed mail deliveries and reduce the chance of mis-sent mail," the postmaster said.

ZIP code is a new system devised by the post office department to provide improved mail dispatch and delivery. It goes into effect nationally on July 1.

"It is important for all citizens of Viking to learn the code number and use it in the return address on all correspondence," Grandstrand said. "In answering mail, ZIPcodes taken from return addresses on incoming mail should be used.

"The code is literally the last word in mail addressing. It should follow the city and state in addresses," he said. An example cited is as follows:

"For the first time this method will permit the post office department to short-cut repeated address reading," Grandstrand stated. "The address on mail must often be read as many as eight or 10 times by postal employees to get it to the proper destination. Each handling slows the process of mail dispatch and adds to the opportunity for human error.

"With ZIP code, a clerk needs only to glance at the code to know immediately to what national area, state and post office the letter is destined, and to speed it on its way—cutting up to 24 hours off the time between deposit and delivery."

Free Church Test Case Being Tried

Use of Church Name by Dissident Group Is Issue

A court test case is under way in district court in International Falls involving factions of the former Lutheran Free Church in a dispute over a church name.

The Lutheran Free Church was one of several groups that merged forming the American Lutheran Church, effective last Feb. 1. However, some congregations of the LFC opposed the merger and organized as the Lutheran Free Church (not merged).

The current action is an attempt by LFC to make permanent a temporary injunction against use of the "not merged" identification. The ALC has joined the LFC in the case being heard by District Judge Gordon McRae of International Falls.

Rev. John Strand of Tioga, N. D., president of the defendant group has been a principal witness. Rev. Dr. Fredrik A. Scholtz, Minneapolis, ALC president, also has testified. Attorneys are expected to submit briefs before a decision is handed down.

Non-farm Job Holders in State Top Million

Nonfarm employment in Minnesota reached 1,001,000 in May, a gain of 21,100 workers from April, and an increase of 15,900 from a year ago, it was reported today by Frank T. Starkey, commissioner of employment security.

Nonfarm employment topped the million mark three months earlier this year than in 1962 when it reached that level for the first time in August, he said.

The industries with the largest job gains between April and May were construction (8,500), retail trade (2,500), manufacturing (2,300), and services (2,100). Manufacturing gains were scattered among most of the categories, with logging; stone, clay and glass; and food processing firms showing the largest gains. The gains were offset somewhat by slight losses in paper and allied products and in printing and publishing. However, Starkey said, total employment in printing and publishing is significantly higher than a year ago because of a labor dispute last year.

Much of the gain in nonmanufacturing industries continued to be in outdoor activities. Construction employment continued to increase seasonally, with over half the increase being in the highway and heavy construction category. Over 70 per cent of the increase in retail tade occurred in eating and drinking places, which reflects the regular seasonal increase in this category because of the opening of drive-in restaurants. The increase in forestry and fishery activities accounted for over half of the increase in services, he said.

Production workers in Minnesota's manufacturing industries earned an average of $104.04 per week in May, a decrease of $.37 per hour from April and an increase of $1.35 per hour from a year ago. The decrease from April to May was due mainly to a decline in the average hourly earnings and average weekly hours in the Lumber and Wood Products industries.

The average work week was 40.5 hours in May, compared to 40.4 hours in April, and 40.8 hours a year ago.

Total unemployment dropped to 71,000 in May, according to Starkey, compared to 100,800 in April and 72,400 a year ago. The May unemployment rate dropped to 4.7 per cent, compared to 6.7 per cent in April and 4.9 per cent a year ago.

4-H'ers are reminded to return their dress revue cards to the office immediately. Dress revue is almost here!

With the season here for vacations and long motoring trips, remember that fatigue behind the wheel has been to blame in many decisions that weren't made quickly enough. When you're tired to the point of drowsiness, don't drive. Give yourself a break at the first sign of fatigue. Rest your eyes, stretch those cramped muscles and have a bite to eat. Then drive on safely refreshed.

Is the moon really make of green cheese? You know that it isn't but legend has it that some people really thought it was. Many other myths and superstitions about food exist today. But here are some facts to combat superstitions from the American Dietetic association:

You can eat dairy foods and seafood at the same meal;

Adults do need milk;

Milk should be included in a weight reduction program;

The calorie content is the same in butter and other commonly used table fats;

The important nutrients in milk and meat are not influenced by the feed of the animal;

There is no evidence that any food, including meat, eggs or milk, will either cause or cure arthritis.

With warm summer approaching, you and your family will be spending more time outdoors. Aluminum outdoor furniture adds to your comfort in outdoor living. It rates high in popularity partly because much of it folds compactly, it's very lightweight and portable. Another important factor is comfort.

Highlights of this season's aluminum outdoor furniture market include a new upholstered chaise with foam-filled, button-tufted cushion for greater wearing qualities and comfort; a vinyl-clad metal with the look of wood for extra strong arms and leg braces; vinyl covers for tables to match seating pieces; a new outdoor Acrilan fabric with the appearance of a good quality indoor fabric. The latter doesn't retain heat from the sun, yet has a strong sun-fast quality and is water repellent.

Lions Club Given Details of County Fair at Luncheon

County Agent and Ray Oen, President of Fair Board, Address Club Wednesday

Details of the organization of the new Pennington County Fair association and of the program to be presented at the 62d annual fair July 8 through 21 were presented to the Lions club Wednesday noon by Ray Oen, president of the fair board, and County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk.

Introduced by Gene Nesland, program chairman, Stelmaschuk discussed the objectives and benefits of the fair in the way of stimulating friendly competition among county residents, as well as developing a spirit of cooperation.

Due to increased membership, now totaling 523 in county 4-H clubs, he forecast a record number of exhibits of 4-H projects at the fair. He added that several new divisions have been added this year to the women's department under the direction of Mrs. Adam Lendobeja.

Ray Oen commented on the recent highly successful graveling bee held on the fair grounds, and he termed it an excellent demonstration of community spirit.

He said the association now has 450 members throughout the county, and that others are invited to join.

Oen also briefly outlined the interesting program that has been arranged for this year's fair. He solicited public support of the event, stating the future of the fair will depend largely on the success of next week's exposition.

Boy Scout Troops at Camp Wabaunaquat

The Boy Scout camping season will begin next week with 45 troops from throughout the 15 county area Lake Agassiz Council scheduled to participate during the summer season. More than 650 Scouts and their leaders will take part in the activities at Camp Wabaunaquat, operated by the Lake Agassiz Council on White Earth Lake in Minnesota.

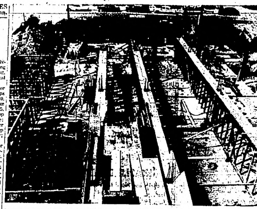
The season officially began on Sunday, June 23, when a group of older Scouts participated in a "high adventure" week. Program highlights of the first six day period include canoe trips, water skiing, archery, marksmanship, swimming, and merit badge work.

During the following five weeks a different group of Scouts, under their own adult leadership, will take part in the camp program. Scouts will attend camp as troops and will plan and conduct their own programs with the assistance of the camp staff. Program highlights will include ropework, nature study, compass and mapping skills, campcraft skills, axemanship, swimming, life saving, boating, canoeing, campfire programs and exploration of the rugged area. The camp includes 400 acres of heavily wooded area.

The purpose of the camping program, according to L. R. Marti, Grand Forks, camping and activities chairman of the Lake Agassiz Council, is the development of self-reliance and kindred objectives that tend to give Scouts living experiences in character building, citizenship training, and physical fitness.

Troops currently registered for Camp Wabaunaquat include troops from North Dakota and Troop 40, Crookston; Troop 52, Red Lake Falls; Troop 84, Winger; Troop 85, Fertile, Troop 101, Fosston; Troop 121, Erskine; Troop 140, Nielsville; Troops 57, 59, and 60, Thief River Falls; Troop 119, Badger; Troop 50, Warren; Troop 69, Kennedy; and Troop 77, Stephen.

Serving on the camp staff for the summer is the following personnel: Camp director, Ed Blick, Thief River Falls; program director, Thomas Hanson, Ulen; waterfront director, Quentin Jones, Thief River Falls; rifle range officer, Harold C. Johnson, Grand Forks; head cook, Evelyn Fischer, Lengby; assistant cook, Edna Sorgaard, Lengby; assistant program director, Richard Epeland, Grand Forks; program counselors, John Jacobson, Devils Lake; Tom Davis, Devils Lake, and Brooks Mostue, Thief River Falls; waterfront assistants, Walter Knoop and Pat Curran, Grand Forks; Donald Erickson, Fertile; commissary officer, Bruce Gilbertson, Thief River Falls; dining stewards, Richard Gilbertson, Fertile; Don Voldden, Neche; chaplain, David Stuck, Columbus, Ohio.



ROOFTOP VIEW of the convalescent and nursing care addition to Northwestern hospital is shown in the above Times photo. Being built at the present time is a wood framework to support metal pans to be filled with concrete for the second story floor of the new addition. When the concrete has set, the wood structure and metal pans will be removed from underneath the concrete slab. Progress on the project is several weeks ahead of schedule, according to Norman Peterson, hospital administrator.

The Library Corner

by Virginia Gjernes

Have you read these? "The Glass-Blowers", "Seven Days in May", "Grandmother and the Priests", "Raise High the Roof Beam, Carpenters", "The Shoes of the Fisherman", "The Sand Pebbles", "The Moonspinners", "The Moonflower Vine".

How about these? "Travels with Charley", "The Fire Next Time", "I Owe Russia $1200", "The Great Hunger", "O Ye Jigs & Juleps!", "Final Verdict", "The Day They Shook the Plum Tree".

If you haven't read one or all you're missing something, because each is on a best-seller list; each has something to offer, from the standpoint of plot, whether fact or fiction.

Your public library is currently circulating these and a waiting list is maintained on most of them. Better get your bid in early, or it will be fall before you're a member of the "best read" club.

A very recent addition is "The Day They Shook the Plum Tree" by Arthur H. Lewis, a Philadelphian by choice and a Pennsylvanian by birth. He's newspaper reporter turned author and this new book tells the story of the fabulous Hetty Green, who died in 1916 the richest and most detested woman in America. Mrs. Green made her fortune in any way presented to her, held on to it every way she possibly could and died, fabulously wealthy and intensely disliked by even her own son and daughter. The book is well written and the subject matter interesting. Well worth reading if you're interested in the eccentricities of members of the Green family and the other equally famous and infamous of the era.

"Friends of the Library" entertained citizens of this sector Saturday afternoon from 2 until 4 o'clock at the annual flower show and tea. Mrs. Orin Green and Mrs. Lowell Swenson, in charge of the function, were assisted by Mrs. Stan Dahlen and Mrs. A. E. Jacobson, who presided at the tea table and by Mrs. Hans Chommie, who was at the guest registration table. A film of interest to all those who love flowers and floral arrangements was made available to the Friends organization by Mr. and Mrs. George Mostue. The 35 mm color movie was entitled "Adventure with Flowers". Ron Ewing offered his services as projectionist to the members and their guests.

There's a new display this week—it's a rock collection, including those cut and polished and mounted in jewel settings for adornment of the fairer sex and for practical wear by the stronger sex—necklaces and earrings, cuff links and tie bars.

The stones are shown in their natural as well as in the jewel-cut and polished state—and all are the property of Andrew Wells, proprietor of Andy's Rock Shop on East 1st Street. Mr. Wells became interested in his rock collecting hobby about three years ago while visiting the West Coast. He purchased some equipment, took one lesson on the mechanics of stonecutting, brought the equipment home with him and learned the rest of the necessary skills by himself. He and his wife take great delight in having visitors at the shop and tourists keep him quite busy this time of year. Mrs. Wells' handiwork is also on display at the rockshop and available for those who fancy "fancy work" and the unusual clever and artistic needlework. Mrs. Well's hobby craft is not on display at the library.

All of you who are interested in seeing the man-made beauty emerge from nature's beauty-in-the-rough, should stop in at the library and look at the products of Mrs. Well's handwork.

Remember the best-sellers listed at the beginning of the column, and be it information or recreation you're after, there's a volume to suit your taste as well as the taste of every member of your family.

New books are on the shelf for the young readers, too—all the way from the "picture book set" to the teen-agers.

If you haven't visited your library within the past day or two, then you've certainly missed a delightful sight—look for it! It's a mighty descriptive poem written by one Barbara Huff and displayed prominently in the stairwell. Please be sure and stop and read it as you enter or leave, because it is certain to make you smile in appreciation!

2,000 Trailers to Gather at Rally in Bemidji Next Week

Nearly 7,000 Members of Wally Byam Caravan Club Are Expected to Attend

An estimated 2,000 travel trailers of the Wally Byam Caravan Club, some 7,000 individuals, are expected to gather in Bemidji June 29 to July 5 when the trailer club holds its sixth international rally. The rally is expected to top last year's record of 1,750 trailers, set at Auburn, Wash., with ease.

The club members will converge upon a 180-acre site at Bemidji's Beltrami County Fairgrounds. Beginning a day or two early the aluminum travel trailers will begin filling the area. They will be parked in a huge "wagon wheel" design surrounding a central area which will be used for a great variety of fun activities.

There will be a sentimental salute to the memory of Wally Byam, recently deceased namesake of the Wally Byam Caravan club and originator of the trailer caravanning idea. July 4 would be Wally's birthday and it was to honor him that the first International Rally was held in 1958.

A highlight of the Bemidji rally will be a "straw hat theater" showing of a Broadway play especially for the Caravan Club rally.

This year's rally will provide a variety of entertainment and other worthwhile activities especially for the young. Youth activities will be arranged by age groups ranging from pre-school to senior high.

Enrollment Hits Peak at MSC Summer Term

Enrollment for the first summer session at Moorhead State College was up 26 per cent over last year, according to R. A. Hanson, registrar. First summer session classes began on June 11 and will continue through July 12. Registration for the second session is scheduled for July 15, with classes beginning the next day and continuing through August 16.

4-H Club Week Is Held at N.W. School

531 Boys and Girls from 13 Counties Attended

531 boys and girls, members of 4-H clubs in thirteen Red River Valley counties of Minnesota, attended the 4-H Club Week at the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston, June 17-21.

A number of 4-H clubs that participated in their county one-act play contests and "share the fun" contests were chosen to perform. They presented their one-act plays or contest numbers at the special evening program held the first night of the camp session for each group of counties.

For the Northern Group of counties, in attendance June 19 (Noon) -21, one-act plays were presented by two counties. The West Polk county "Who's Who 4-H Club" of rural Crookston presented a play. Cast members in the play presented by the Marshall county Gatzke Busy Beavers 4-H club were: Muriel Lunsetter, Connie Severts, Allan Aune, Robert and Sandy Engelstad, Lowell Larson, Linda Aase and Maureen Peterson, all of Gatzke; directed by Mrs. Ingvald Anderson and Mrs. Juel Aase.

From the Northern Group of counties, a vocal trio from the Lake of the Woods 4-H club performed, and included Patty and Carol Svitak and Elaine Johnson, all of Graceton. A humorous skit was given by members of the Kittson county Thompson 4-H club. A vocal and musical skit was given by members of the Mahnomen county Pembina 4-H club. Jimmy Hagen of McIntosh, a member of the East Polk County Foot Lake 4-H club, presented a pantomime. The Roseau County Jadis 4-H club was represented by Sara Jean Christianson of Roseau, vocalist.

The program for the week included classwork, recreation, handicraft, special educational and entertainment assemblies, and 4-H club ceremonies.

Region Share-fun Fest at Mahnomen

District Event Is Set for Wednesday, July 17

Over 10,000 Minnesota 4-H'ers are expected to take part in six district Share the Fun festivals during July.

The Northwest district event will be held at 1 p. m. July 17 in the Mahnomen Elementary School Auditorium.

Acts selected from county shows will comprise the district events, according to William Milbrath, assistant state 4-H club leader at the University of Minnesota. From these programs, 15 to 18 acts will be chosen for the state Share the Fun Festival held during the Minnesota state fair. The acts will include instrumental, vocal, dramatic and novelty numbers as well as folk and square dancing, stunts and skits.

Share the Fun began in 1950 as an outgrowth of the 4-H Search for Talent contest co-sponsored then, as now, by the University of Minnesota Agricultural Extension Service and Cargill, Inc.

Legion Ball Club Is Loser in Three Games

The local American Legion junior baseball team closed out last week's play by dropping three games, including a 19 to 4 trouncing by the East Grand Forks team on Thursday evening. On Wednesday evening, coach Mike Hajostek's Red Lake Falls club, behind the steady pitching of Bernard Demarais, racked up a 4 to 2 win over the locals. And on Friday night, in a Northwest league encounter, coach Rod Olstad's Crookston squad, sparked by a first-inning home run by Pete Mickelson, defeated the locals, 7 to 5.

Coach Ralph Skay's team will play a five-game schedule again this week, with four of the games being out-of-town. On Monday evening, with game time at 7:30 p. m., the locals will meet the Grand Forks juniors at Grand Forks. On Tuesday evening, at 6:30 p. m., the local squad will play the Stephen Juniors at Stephen. On Wednesday night, with games time at 7 p.m., the Fosston juniors will meet the locals on the Fair Grounds diamond here. On Thursday evening coach Skay's team will travel to Middle River for a Northwest league game against the Middle River juniors. On Friday night, with game time at 8 p. m., the local club will meet the Fertile juniors at Fertile.

Floating high on steel barrels, the barge will be moved out and anchored to provide a resting place and diving area for swimmers. Intermediate swimmers numbered so many that the class had to be split and additional instructors secured, Dorn said.

Bridgeman's upset; Western Oil winning a come-from-behind game, Hamm's finds batting eye. These are just a few of the beginnings in a thrill-packed week in city softball action.

It all started off with Western Oil scoring 10 runs in the last inning to defeat Rasmussen Insurance 17-14. Western trailed by eight runs going into the inning, but a long homerun by Elroy Froiland settled matters and Western Oil had their first win of the season. A total of 25 hits were banged out to give you an indication of the type of game it was.

Tuesday found Hamm's winning their second in a row. The surprising thing is that they did it without ace hurler, Milt Reierson. Kenny Taylor took over mound duties and hurled a fine five hitter; Hamm's also collected five hits, their top total this year.

One of the finest games of the year, however, was played Wednesday. Hartz, with Jimmy Erickson hurling a masterful three-hitter, upset the powerful Bridgeman nine 6-5 in eight innings. A bases loaded walk to G. Halvorson in the bottom of the eighth sent Dennis Bakke across the plate with the winning tally. It marked the first time Bridgeman's has lost this year.

The final game of the week found V. F. W. toying with Western Oil 16-6. Joe Poole hurled his first game of the year and although he gave up eight hits, it didn't appear as though Joe was too concerned about the outcome of the game. Joe also led the Vets in hitting collecting 4 hits in five at bats and upped his league leading batting average to a lusty .726.

The softball association is selling softball booster cards around town this week. All profits will go into the new softball field at the fair grounds. Sure do hope that you will purchase one of these cards if you are approached. Your donation will be greatly appreciated.

My prediction that Bridgeman's would go undefeated this year has gone down the drain now, but I suppose it is in the best interest of the league. League leadership is wide open now and it does make action a bit more interesting, if that is possible after this week.

Games last week:

Western Oil	17
Hamm's	10
Hartz	6
V F W	16
Rasmussn Insurance	15
Natonal Guard	5
Bridgeman's	5

Pheasant Count Higher This Year

Spring Survey Made by Conservation Department

Minnesota's spring breeding population of pheasants is up 16 per cent over the same time a year ago, the conservation department announced this week. Annual pheasant counts are taken in May over 3,000 miles of census routes by game managers, biologists and game wardens.

Research biologist Maynard Nelson said that although the May counts are still below those of 1960 and 1961, it is encouraging to note the increase over 1962.

Nelson said the increase was more substantial than at first glance because the population of pheasants last fall was at least 40 per cent less than in the previous year. If the survival of birds over the last winter had not been better than average, the population would still be about 40 per cent under the 1960-61 figure.

Greatest population gains noted during the census were through the central and eastern parts of the state with increases as high as 50 per cent being observed in some areas.

Populations in the western counties remained at about the same figure as last year.

The big quest on now is "What will the hatch be like?" Nelson was cautiously optimistic here, too, pointing out that spring weather has been near normal in most regions. Much of the nesting season is still ahead, howver, and prospects for next fall will depend largely upon weather conditions between now and next August when the routes are censured again by department fieldmen to measure the hatch of young birds.

An unprecedented period of charge retention for a storage battery was established when a nickel-cadmium battery was charged and installed in an automobile and then left idle for seven years. After that period, and without recharging, the battery started the engine.

Eight doubles teams have been organized and 14 players will participate in singles competition. Herzog has arranged the team schedule, but teams are to contact one another to arrange the time for matches to be played. Scores of matches are to be called in to Herzog at MU 1-2156 by June 30.

League players are asked to clip this story as a convenience in finding telephone numbers of players involved. The doubles schedule for this week is as follows:

Custom Motors, 121, vs. Times, 117.

Schedule, Thursday, June 27th
Wilson Bros., vs. Coast-to-Coast.
Bjorkman's vs. Custom Motors.
Times vs. Ekeren Pharmacy.

Last Thursday evening's competition in the Trap Shoot league was featured by the Custom Motors 121 to 117 defeat of the Times, and Wilson Bros., 119 to 115 defeat of the Ekeren Pharmacy. It was the first loss of the season for the Times and the Pharmacy squads, and, combined with the Coast-to-Coast win over Bjorkman's, it left the league lead in a three-way tie, with the Times, Pharmacy, and Coast-to-Coast having four points apiece. The high-average Wilson Bros., with a win and tie, have three points.

The Custom Motors, with Walt Fischer posting a 24-1, Roy Landman a 23-5, Orvis Olen a 16-8, Don Hoganson a 17-7, and Merle Brevik a 15-8, had a four-bird margin over the Times. The Times had but one shooter posting a "25", that being Marv Lundin's 20-5.

The Wilson Bros., scored a 119 to 115 over the Pharmacy in spite of the fact that the druggists had three shooters scoring "25's". For the Wilsons, Stan Wilson scored a 24-0, Si Schantzen a 24-0, Al Tender a 23-1, Roy Peterson a 22-2, and Orv Feragen an 18-6. For the Ekeren squad, Tony Dorn had a 24-1, Ray Thyren a 23-5, and Stub Pahlen a 22-5.

The Coast-to-Coast team, with Erling Torgerson having a 22-3, and Roy Jorgenson a 19-6, defeated the Bjorkman's, 119 to 113, to move up into a tie for the league lead. Frenchy Cloutier of the Coast-to-Coast also had a "25" scoring a 19-6, but his score was not eligible for the team total, with the squad having more than seven shooters having declared their scores.

Next week's feature match should be the Times vs. Ekeren Pharmacy competition, with the winner continuing to hold on to the top rung in the league standings.

Union Challenges Marvin Election

Charges Warroad Firm Used Unfair Practices

The recent election at Warroad to determine whether or not employees of the Marvin Millwork company would "go union" has been challenged by the International Woodworks Union which has alleged that the company had committed unfair labor practices during the election campaign, according to the Roseau Times-Region.

The protest has been filed with the National Labor Relations Board and will delay certification of th results until after the charges have been investigated, it is reported. The union was defeated in the vote 74 to 62.

The union charges of unfair labor practices were spelled out in a nine-count complaint and included such changes as employer assisting in formation of a vote-no committee as well as influence, promises of preferred status, assault by vote-no member, sending agents to a petitioner meeting and using surveillance.

A company official told the Times-Region that "the charges are unfounded and only serve to drag out the matter. They keep all employees on edge and have no basis in fact."

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

A "Closed" Corporation

The Regina Leader-Post reports that the six National Hockey league clubs conducted their drafting of youthful hockey prospects in secret.

Says the Post's Scotty Melville: "As far as can be learned, the clubs drafted some 20 boys, aged 16, who are in the pro-sponsored chains across Canada. Thus, a 16-year-old who played with the Regina Pats last winter may now be ticketed for Boston Bruins although he thinks he's bound eventually for the Montreal Canadiens if he makes the professional grade."

The Regina writer suggests that the parents of those 16-year-old boys who wind up on the NHL draft lists should demand to know all about the draft. If this information is not forthcoming, court action should be taken.

It is strange to note the absence of "bonus" payments being paid to promising hockey players. This absence contrasts greatly with the "bonus" payments that the major league baseball teams offer to promising baseball players. The National Hockey league is a "closed" corporation.

Hatchery for Pros

Detroit Lakes' "Sports Bystander", Ralph Anderson, comments on the number of amateur golfers who, after participating in the Detroit Lakes Pine-to-Palm golf tournament, have deserted the amateur ranks to join the play-for-pay golfers. The latest of these golfers is Dayton Olson, the 1961 Pine-to-Palm champion.

Among these former titleholders who have turned pro are, in addition to Olson, Jack Rule, Paul O'Leary, Jack Webb, Bob Goetz, and Jerry Pepper.

Anderson rates Rule as perhaps the finest shotmaker to have participated in the annual tourney at Detroit Lakes. Rule, who was an Iowa state amateur champion and Pine-to-Palm winner in 1958, '59, and '60, joined the pro ranks a year or so ago. Last week he played in the Thunderbird Golf tourney at Harrison, N. Y., and after the first round of play, scoring a 67, he was tied for the lead with famed Arnold Palmer. Rule did not continue that sub-par golf, but he did manage to win more than $500 of the prize loot, and finished the tourney tied with such "name" golfers as Sam Snead, Art Wall, Phil Rodgers, and Ted Kroll.

The Pine-to-Palm tourney will be played at Detroit Lakes the week of August 18.

And speaking of golf, Jerry Jorgenson, former Prowler hockey, baseball, and football star, and just recently a graduate of Harvard, was employed as a locker room attendant at the Brookline Country Club during the National Open golf tournament this past week.

Plenty of Talk

Whether the Minnesota Twins win the American League penant, which is improbable, or finish in second or third place, which is possible, or in fourth place, which is most probable, it is agreed that the club is creating interest and conversation.

On the local level you have such coaching-box experts as Jarvis Prichard, who has made a number of modest wagers to the end that Vic Power will not be with the Twins for long, that he will leave the club by Mid-August. And then you have Happy Holz, who has also been called on some modest wagers when he bet that Sam Mele would not be the manager of Twins on the Fourth of July. The lines formed quickly to cover these two reckless opinions.

And then you have Elmer Poole, who came up with the bet that Harmon Killebrew wouldn't be playing ball with the Twins on August 5th. Of course Elmer knew that the Twins had an open date on the 5th!

But the more talk, about the pennant hopes and otherwise, the happier the Twins' front office will be, for these conversationalists are potential customers. And from the attendance figures that are being released, the Twins will surpass the attendance mark they set last season.

It is possible to charge and discharge a nickel-cadmium storage battery at temperatures from 65 degrees Fahrenheit below zero to temperatures approaching the boiling point of water.

Beef Cattle Numbers up Sharply Since '50

When you hear talk about declining rural population, you can be sure it doesn't apply to beef cattle.

Numbers of cattle and calves in the U. S. has grown faster than the total human population of the country since 1950. The average inventory per year was 98 million in 1960-1962, according to Ken Egertson, extension marketing economist at the University of Minnesota.

This level is some 23 per cent above the average of 78.9 million head in 1949-1951.

Furthermore, the makup of this cattle population has changed markedly. A decade ago, more than 40 per cent of these cattle were dairy animals. Now, dairy cows make up only 30 per cent of the total.

Because of this shift to beef, both in proportion and in total number, total production of beef in the country has jumped 55 per cent since 1949-1951. Annual beef and veal production nowadays is about 15.6 billion pounds annually.

Cattle and calf slaughter has increased by 24 per cent since the 1949-1951 period, Egertson says.

But while cattle numbers are going up, as well as total beef production, so have average weights per animal.

Beef animals are going to market at heavier weights. The average beef carcass weighed 372 pounds a decade ago, compared to about 466 pounds in the 1960-1962 period. Egertson explains three major reasons behind this trend:

1. Fewer veal calves. In 1949-1951 35 per cent of the total cattle slaughter was made up of young calves. The figure now is 21 per cent.

2. More cattle in feed lots. Only 37 per cent of the cattle slaughtered were classified as "fed cattle" in the 1949-1951 period, compared to 52 per cent in recent years. This factor alone probably contributed most to increased productivity, Egertson says.

3. Cattle fed to heavier weights. The increase in weight of cattle from feed lots has increased about 5 per cent since 1949-1951.

What does all of this mean for the long run beef price outlook? Egertson says it is quite encouraging. Present population estimates are that the U. S. will have at least 210 million people by 1970-72. Per capita demand of beef increased by almost two pounds per person annually during the 1950's, but this increase will be slightly less during the next decade.

To meet the estimated demand by ten years from now, cattle and calf inventories would have to be about 122-128 million head. That is roughly 25-30 million head above the current annual inventories.

Andrew Joppru Is Outstanding Male Graduate At Ely

An American Legion award of $100 was given to Andrew Joppru, son of Mrs. Olaf Joppru of this city, and the late Mr. Joppru, who was named one of two outstanding man graduates of Ely junior college at Ely, Minn. this month. The award is made on the basis of scholarship, leadership, initiative, citizenship, sportsmanship, and personality.

Joppru, who was graduated June 4 with an associate in arts degree, was the president of the drama club, and a member of the student council.

Joppru attended Lincoln high school here, graduating in 1955. Thereafter, he served four years in the U. S. Air Force before entering the Ely college. His ultimate goal is a career in law.

Clifford Zaffke New President of Crookston Bank

Resignation of Gunnar E. Kronholm as president of the Polk County State Bank and the election of Clifford H. Zaffke as his successor was announced Wednesday by officers and directors of the bank.

Mr. Kronholm resigned his position to become president of the Drovers State Bank of South St. Paul, a 20 million dollar institution and one of the largest of the 4 banking houses in which the Otto Bremer trust, a charitable corporation, is a stockholder. The Otto Bremer trust holds an interest in both the Polk County State bank and the First National bank of Crookston.

Mr. Zaffke is currently vice president of the Polk County State Bank with which he has been affiliated since May, 1958, when he resigned from his position as cashier of the Northern State bank of Thief River Falls.

FINALE of the Crash Dick Daredevils thrill show is the "dive bomb crash" shown above. A car driven at high speed is catapulted over a high ramp, taking off into the air and continuing in flight for about 85 feet before landing on a row of "catch" cars. This act concludes every Crash Dick thrill show and will be performed, weather permitting, at the Pennington County fair in Thief River Falls on Monday, July 8, entry day. The act shown is the most violent crash known in the auto thrill business.

2,064 ft. TV Tower to Be Built in N.D.

Pembina Firm Planning Structure at Mayville

Federal Communication Commission approval of construction of a 2,064 foot television tower near Mayville, N. D., has been announced. The tower will enable Pembina Broadcasting Company to serve both the Fargo and Grand Forks areas on channel 11 through KXGO-TV at Fargo.

The call letter of the Fargo station will be changed to KEND-TV, it was announced by Robert Lukkason of Grand Forks, general manager of the Pembina Broadcasting Co. The FC has also authorized the transfer of KNOX-TV channel 10, from Grand Forks to Thief River Falls, where it will operate as a slave satellite of KEND-TV. The firm also owns KCND-TV at Pembina, N. D.

The tower, to be erected 10 miles south of Mayvelle, was described by the FC as the tallest man-made structure in the world. It said that the record is now held by a 1,749 foot antenna near Columbus, Ga.

Lukkason said contracts of the giant tower will be let at Chicago and that it is hoped construction can be completed by next November.

Colored Oleo Sale Legal Here July 1

Sale Subject to Special Tax of 10 Cents a Pound

The battle between the "cheap substitute" and the "high priced spread" will begin in earnest next Monday.

That's O-day in Minnesota, July 1—when a yellow oleomargarine becomes a legal commodity on the shelves of Minnesota grocers after a 32-year ban.

Every pound purchased by Minnesotans will be shipped in from outside. None of the 30 or so brands available is manufactured in Minnesota.

However, soybeans — which form one of the ingredients of some oleo—are a big crop in the state, which ranked seventh last year when Minnesota farmers grew almost 45 million bushels.

The oleo-legalizing bill passed by the 1963 legislature requires a 10-cent tax stamp on every pound sold. About 4 million stamps had been shipped out to manufacturers early this week. Under the law oleo can't be put on store shelves until July 1.

The intriguing angle of the oleo story will be whether the price difference caused by the 10-cent tax will end the widespread bootlegging of margarine from Iowa, North and South Dakota and Michigan.

Estimates of this influx have varied, with at least one survey indicating 100 million pounds a yaer has been filtering through the "oleo curtain."

The new law makes it a misdemeanor to posess untaxed colored oleo, with a $10 fine or 90 days in jail awaiting a convicted offender.

The memory mechanisms of some of the newest, commercial electronic-brain computers consist of rows of minute nickel-iron dots thinly deposited on a glass plate. This type of mechanism permits computer speeds of well over 100,000,000 operations each second.

Iron Ore Occupation Tax Shrinks in State

Iron ore occupation tax proceeds on 1962 mining operations dropped to the lowest point since 1948, State Treasurer Val Bjornson reported today.

Payments made by June 15, the deadline, totaled $11,269,368. This included $33,260 on semi-taconite. With the additional occupation tax payment of $1,107,916 on taconite, the total was $12,377,284.

Taxes on high grade ores were only about a third of the all-time collection peak in 1958, when 1957 mining operations contributed more than $33 million to state funds.

"This reflects a fact by now familiar," Bjornson said, "and that is simply the diminished demand for Minnesota ore."

Collections this year are the lowest since 1948 when a lower rate produced about $9.50 million. The next lowest figure since the 40's, when collections ran $6 million a year, was just over $12 million in 1960, reflecting curtailed 1959 operations affected by nation-wide steel strike of more than 100 days.

Occupation tax payments were about $1.7 million lower this year than in 1962 when they totaled $13 million, in addition to $821,945 collected then on taconite and semi-taconite.

The larger share of the proceeds from taconite and semi-taconite go back to municipal units where the lower grade ores are processed, though some part goes to the state general revenue fund and toward University and high school support.

A specially developed microporous nickel stainless steel can be used as an extremely fine filter for corrosive liquids. It can catch and hold particles as small as one twenty-millionth of an inch.

Mechanization is a major reason why one farmer today produces as much as four farmers did in 1910.

Good or Bad

Out of Washington last week came a report that there is dissesion at the top level of the National Aeronautic and Space Administration. It was announced that D. Brainerd Holmes was resigning as director of the office of Manned Space Flight. Holmes was recruited nearly two years ago to direct the multibillion-dollar effort to land a man on the moon before the end of the decade.

We will withhold judgment as to whether the Holmes resignation should be classified as good news or bad until we learn what effect it will have on the space race. If it means a reexamination of the program, and a more realistic approach to the overall program, then we will mark it down as a fortunate development.

No Easy Solutions

In considering the Negro race problem and slavery, let's keep in mind that in the ancestral backgrounds of most of us there have been periods of slavery in various forms. Civilization has crossed many frontiers by conquest. All of Europe is inhabited by a mongrel race. Our Western Hemisphere is populated by a mixture of all races.

The ancestors of the American Negroes were brought here against their will, but, probably, thinking in terms of centuries, their suffering may have been a long step forward in the progress of their race. We will not know for sur, for several hundred years, and it isn't likely that we will be around at that time to comment on the developments.

But having had occasion to observe the progress of the Negro race in our country, in the southern states where they have been a racial problem against their own wishes, and in the northern states where they are becoming a racial problem, and having visited their cousins in Africa who had escaped slavery, we are satisfied that our American Negroes have much to be thankful for, and should make a special effort to continue to make progress in an orderly way.

In his appeal for desegregation at once, an end to prejudice, and immediate equality, President Kennedy asked for the impossible. It was not one of his good speeches, and probably will be more detrimental than helpful to the long-range interests of the people he pleaded for.

Our fellow citizens, the American Negroes, need our sympathetic assistance, but their real progress will depend largely on their own self-help, with less emphasis on self-pity. To whatever extent they resort to violence their progress will be retarded. There are no easy, nor fast, solutions for their racial problems.

Was Langen Wrong?

Congress rejected an appropriation bill that would make available $450 million for distressed areas during the coming campaign year. We understand that our Congressman Odin Langen was one of the 209 House members who voted to kill the measure, and for that good deed, hats off and a round of cheers. We are in a so-called distress area and we might pick up a few of the half-billion dollars that would be tossed around wastefully if this program were approved but we are satisfied that we will do better if the federal government will concentrate on straightening out its own mess, and let our and other areas work out their own local problems.

The reckless manner in which our federal bureaucracy is tossing the borrowed dollars around is scandalous. A recent example of ridiculous extravagance was exposed in a check on the activities of the U. S. Travel Service, a special agency that was created to encourage foreigners to visit our country as tourists.

The boss of the agency, Commerce Secretary Hodges, admitted some interesting facts when he appeared before a House subcommittee seeking increased appropriations. This committee revealed that in Tokyo the agency signed a $50,000 three-year lease for office space, and then spent $60,000 to get it ready for use, "including a $33,140 fee to an interior decorator." This was done against the advice of the American Embassy in Tokyo.

In Paris the agency discovered suddenly that it was approaching the end of the year with a sizable unspent balance for the year 1962. If not spent this balance would go back to the government's general fund where it might be useful in helping to pay a little interest on our growing national debt.

To avert such a situation, which could lead Congress to assume that the appropriations might have been excessive in the first place, the Paris agency spent 87 per cent of its annual budget in the final two days of the fiscal year.

Congressman Odin Langen is being criticized for voting against appropriations that he considers excessive. Congress needs more Odin Langens.

Are We Worthy?

(Daily Commercial News, San Francisco)

"A number of thoughtful commentators have written of a distrubing and dangerous element which seems to have entered American life. It is not easy to pinpoint or describe. Perhaps the best word for it is apathy, which has led to attitudes of drift and disinterest, and to a failure of individual pride and responsibility.

"We tend to take a cynical, "what-of-it" attitude toward politics in the face of the fact that politics is the art of government and that the courses and choices of the politicians in power will largely determine what kind of land and world our children, to say nothing of ourselves, will live in.

"And, beyond doubt, we have drifted, knowingly and unknowingly, toward a Welfare State in which, ultimately, the masses of people become faceless numbers.

"One thing can be said for the Soviets—at least, for those Soviets whose policies and decisions count. They are supremely dedicated men and women. They regard their system with a religious zealotry. They know what they want—which is world domination—and they are convinced they know how to get it. They are willing to change tactics and strategy and timing when risks and situations make that necessary, but they never lose sight of the goal.

"The American goal is supposed to be worthy of man. Are we worthy of it, and are we pursuing it?

The Narcotic Problem

President Kennedy created a special advisory committee on narcotics and crime early this year. Known officially as the President's Advisory Commission on Narcotics and Drug Abuse, this commission has now issued an interim report advocating more lenient sentences and more judicial discretion in penalizing narcotics offenders. The final report, according to Herbert Lawson, writing in the Wall Street Journal, "is expected to urge that the government move far more deeply into research on drug abuse and rehabilitation of addites than it has in the past."

This new approach, according to Mr. Lawson, is backed by "a determined group of doctors and penal authorities." Opposed to the proposed changes are officials of the U. S. Bureau of Narcotics, now directing activities in this field. Lawson quotes a "top official" of the Bureau as saying,

> "The control of narcotics addiction in the U. S. is better now than it ever has been. Yet a vocal minority picks this time to rock the boat."

And so it appears that an interesting argument is in the making. This is a question on which there no doubt will be a lot of discussion from here on in. Commenting on Mr. Lawson's report and the overall problem, the Wall Street Journal observes.

"There is much room for debate — legal, medical and moral — as to what is the best way to meet the nation's narcotic problem. But on one point we think there is hardly any room left for argument. Our present narcotic policy stands exposed as a failure.

"That policy, in essence, is to make of every person afflicted with a narcotic addiction a criminal in both law and in the eyes of society. The mere possession of heroin, no matter what the circumstance, is a mandatory penitentiary offense. An addict, no matter how youthful or by what route he came to his affliction, is forever branded.

"Alone among the afflicted of mankind, the drug addict in this country cannot turn to his personal physician for succor. Few private doctors even dare try to cure the addict; none dares minister to him so that, if the case be incurable, he can at least live peaceably with his affliction.

"Perhaps success might justify this inhumanity, but in fact this policy neither cures addicts nor curbs the spread of addiction and of crime. On the contrary, a half-century of this policy has raised up what didn't exsist before, a huge, organized crime syndicate that grows rich by preying on sick men and richer by its organized search for new victims.

"This is surely a shameful indictment of a public policy. But we find it hardly less shameful that the U. S. Bureau of Narcotcs should refuse to look at it, refuse to so much as even consider any possible alternatives.

"That is why President Kennedy very wisely decided to by-pass the Narcotics Bureau when he wanted a fresh look at this problem and earlier this year created a special advisory commission to seek new alternatives. That is also why we hope that this advisory commission will in its turn look beyond the U. S. Narcotics Bureau. It will not find any new ideas there.

"And that is what we need. It is quite possible that there is no sure cure for the narcotics problem, as there is yet no sure cure for addiction itself, and society too may have to settle for the minimum of anguish and the maximum of peace. But we will not have even that hope if we continue addicted to fifty years of failure."

Legislative Letter

from ANDREW SKAAR
STATE REPRESENTATIVE

EDUCATION REVIEW. — In my opinion, one of the truest tests of a Legislature's record is what it accomplished in the field of education, for this is undoubtedly the most important single subject with which it must deal. Having served on the sub-committee on education this session, I take special pride in the Legislative accomplishments in this field. Viewed in this light, the 1963 session of the Minnesota Legislature must rank as one of the most productive in the state's history.

Funds for all phases of the state's educational programs—elementary and secondary schools, junior colleges, state colleges, and the University—were substantially increased and, in addition, many pioneering actions were taken. Most prominent among the latter were the approval of a state college for southwestern Minnesota and the institution of a state junior college system.

The 63rd. session of the Minnesota Legislature appropriated $414.7 million for education, an amount equal to approximately 63 per cent of the entire state budget for the biennium. It is expected that the increased services provided in the appropriation will be financed out of revenues based on current taxes and that no new or increased levies and no deficit financing will be necessary.

The appropriation for elementary and secondary school aids totals roughly $300 million, an increase of $49.8 million or 19.4 per cent over the amount appropriated two years ago. This is the highest increase granted in recent history, and raises the amount of school costs borne by the state from 42.6 per cent to 45.3 per cent.

The "A" formula calls for basic aid for "A" formula schools of $309 minus the amount raised by 19 mills for 1964, and $315 minus the amount raised by 19 mills for 1965. Current school aids for "A" formula schools are set at $285.

"B" formula schools will receive $95 plus a $10 per pupil aid during both the years of the biennium. The current aid for "B" formula schools is $90.

The University appropriation for the biennium amounts to $76.5 million, an increase of $11.6 million or roughly 18 per cent over the current two-year period.

The appropriation for the University maintenance account provides for 301 new faculty positions and 216 new civil service positions. A salary increase amounting to 10 per cent based on 5 per cent per year is also provided. In addition a total of 97 new faculty and civil service positions are allowed in other University accounts.

The appropriation for the five state colleges totals $18.9 million, an increase of 3.8 million or 24.8 per cent. It calls for 207 new faculty positions, 77 new civil service positions, and a 10 per cent salary increase for state college personnel.

In addition, a much needed and progressive method of determining faculty salaries at the state colleges was approved. For the first time, instead of granting indiscriminate, across-the-board salary increases, the Legislature has given the State College Board the authority to grant true merit increases. This places the faculty salary system at the State Colleges on the same basis as that at the University, where the merit system has served to substantially upgrade faculty morale.

The Legislature provided for a new system of state junior colleges, and appropriated $3.5 million for the biennium, amounting to a $1.7 million or 95 per cent increase over the 1961-1963 appropriation for the present school district - supported junior college program. The appropriation provides for a pupil unit aid of $300 plus $50 from the oleomargarine tax for the first year. Second year costs, when the state system becomes effective, are based on $753 per pupil unit.

Exhaustive studies indicated that a state system of junior colleges for Minnesota was extremely desirable and the best and most economical way to handle an ever-increasing number of students. The program is basically a "non-dormitory" type of program, providing classroom facilities and instructors for the large number of students presently not provided for who want some post-high school education, but who won't complete a four-year program. The state junior college system will provide educational opportunities to this group, and at the same time, relieve the pressures on other state institutions, where some two-year students are presently enrolling.

The recommendation for the Department of Education calls for $3.3 million, an increase of $600,000 over comparable items in the current biennium.

In addition to the regular education appropriation bill, the 1963-65 building bill calls for substantial construction and improvements at the state's educational institutions. $12.5 million was appropriated for the University, including funds for a library on the Minneapolis west campus; for completion of phase two of a crops research laboratory and an addition for agricultural biochemistry at the St. Paul campus; for a library addition at Duluth branch; for a science building at Morris; and for a dormitory addition at Southern School and Experiment Station, Waseca.

State college building funds for the next biennium total $12.2 million, including funds for a library building and completion of a science building at Bemidji; for a speech music building and library at Mankato; for a classroom building at Moorhead; for a fine arts classroom building at St. Cloud; and for a library addition at Winona. Also, a new concept in the state college dormitory program was initiated, with the state providing 25 per cent of the cost of new dormitory and food service facilities. The building bill also includes a $1 million appropriation for land acquisition, including improvement and preparation of sites for construction at the State Colleges.

A previously mentioned new state college in southwestern Minnesota was a badly - needed institution which will fill the higher education void which has existed in this area and relieve at least a part of the load presently being carried by the other state colleges. It will also fill a curriculum void in the state's educational system by providing post-high school technical and vocational training.

A further pioneering effort by the 1963 Legislature in the field of education was provision for the granting of Master of Arts degrees by the State Colleges. Although these colleges have granted Master of Science in Education degrees prior to this time, it was felt that many students desired to specialize in a particular subject within an M. A. program.

The Legislature also re-enacted the maximum effort school loan bill to provide assistance to those schools which, although at the maximum of their bonded indebtedness, are badly in need of new classrooms or temporary help in paying the interest on their indebtedness. A new enactment of this program was necessary, because of approval by the voters in the 1962 elections of Constitutional Amendment No. 2 removing the state debt limit, and the loan bill provides a $16 million capital loan borrowing fund and a debt redemption account of $3.9 million.

Another action of the Legislature which bears mention was a simplification of transportation aid formulas, reducing the number of such formulas from five to two to provide more efficient aid and administration.

REPORT TO THE PEOPLE

by Governor
KARL ROLVAAG

Last week I was privileged to address delegates to the 50th Anniversary Convention of the League of Minnesota Municipalities at Mankato. These mayors, police chiefs, welfare representatives, school superintendents and community leaders form the backbone of democracy. It is they, through their close contact with the people, who are really responsible for seeing to it that democracy "works", that the law is upheld, that justice prevails. This week I would like to share with you a few of those thoughts expressed to your local public officials.

Existing Law

There is in Minnesota Law, in existence since 1941, a statue making it the duty of every public official in the state to see that anti-discriminatory clauses are included in every public contract for materials, supplies, and construction. However, the strictness or laxity with which these contracts are enforced is largely left within our discretion. Therefore, it is within our power to exercise strong, positive leadership in the cause of civil rights, by implementing these clauses.

Executive Action

The promotion of racial justice and religious freedom has been the public policy of this state ever since its inception. Generally speaking, Minnesota today has the best body of law and the best record of executive action against discrimination of any state in the nation. But because the law which specifically prohibits discrimination in public contracts has been so little applied and fallen into disuse, it has become necessary to breathe new life into it. On June 10, 1963, I issued an executive order setting up the machinery by which this long-dormant legislation can be vigorously enforced, insofar as state contracts are concerned. I intend that in all cases where such illegal discrimination can be proved after due notice and hearings, the offender's contract be suspended or cancelled, as the facts may warrant. I urge all public officials to take note of our anti-discriminatory laws so that they can take steps, if they have not done so, to see these laws are complied with.

Crusade for Justice

This "contract law" was not designed to harass, but to encourage our long-standing public policy of social equality. A conscientious effort to see that public contracts are reviewed and enforced can have a profound impact on civil rights progress in Minnesota. It is our privilege and certainly our duty, through strict, impartial enforcement of the law, to open up areas of employment hitherto closed to Negroes, Indians and members of other minority groups. Here is our opportunity, as public officials, to lead the nation in this new and exciting crusade for racial and religious justice. And, while this administration will not engage in finger-pointing, will not engage in witch-hunting in attempt to root out discrimination, it will not stand idly by if discrimination is found. The laws of this state will be enforced.

A Period of Stress

Our nation is undergoing a trying period, a period of stress and strain within the social system, system, that in some areas of our nation has reached crises proportions. I believe that Minnesotans want to play a significant role in extending to every citizen the rights guaranteed in our nation's Constitution. For this reason I want to assure all of our citizens that the State of Minnesota will continue to hold its head high; that the constitutional officers of this state will use every legal means at our disposal to guarantee every Minnesotan has fair share of the opportunities provided by our society.

Most Promising Vehicle.

I sincerely believe that what we at the state level can contribute to the cause of equality is meager compared to what can be accomplished when local governments resolve to maintain and uphold the law. For as local government is closest to the people, so also is it the most promising vehicle for achieving sorely needed social adjustments with a minimum of conflict. As we enter the climax of the fight for social justice, we have it in our power to allow Minnesota to become a Birmingham, or to make her light of freedom visible to all men. I am genuinely confident and optimistic concerning civil right progress in Minnesota and of the judgement our decendants will make of us and of our times for we are freedom loving, law abiding people.

IT'S GETTING ABOUT TIME AGAIN to make mention of the Pennington county fair. For the 62nd consecutive year, the annual exposition will be held in 1963 with the dates being July 8-9-10-11. This year's fair, however, will not materialize simply because it has always been held in the past.

Due to the concern of a number of people and the unselfish devotion of a few, this year's fair will be truly unique. It will be sponsored by an organization which has no title or claim to the fairgrounds or buildings while these same grounds and buildings are in receivership. Board members of the Pennington County Agricultural Society, original sponsor of the fair and deeply discouraged by lack of support and irksome problems, vowed they would never sponsor another fair.

That was two years ago. Last year the board collectively said, "Once more and that's it." And they meant it. They sponsored the fair last year and, as every year, they were able to break even on operations. The debt incurred through improvements and necessary repairs in previous years, however, went without being decreased.

Then there arose from the ranks of the county's population a dedicated few who said something like, "Well, now; we can't let something that took 60 years to build just disappear. Our 4-H club members need a county fair to highlight their club year. Our farmers should have a chance to show their products to their neighbors and the area. We should maintain an event that draws farmers and city folks together. And besides all that, doggone it, if we lose the fair it will make our community look like it's going to pot."

And so it was that these people banded together, sought support, called meetings, sold membership, elected officers, organized, and assumed operation of the fair from the original group—all on the assumption that someday, somehow, they could acquire the property and continue to operate the fair. They also hoped to improve the area and make it available for other community uses. Their optimism, however, was somewhat tempered by the question of public support from the not-so-enthusiastic.

These fears were dispelled considerably by the graveling bee held at the fairgrounds. Volunteer workers beyond expectations turned out to help and showed by their efforts that they were interested in the fair. The demonstrated interest of the rural population caused the city folk to realize that maybe there was something of value to this county fair business after all.

New divisions have been added to the exhibits this year to encourage greater participation. A free gate will again be attractive to the viewing public. Professional entertainment has been frugally secured by the board on percentage basis and home talent will be utilized to a greater extent. All in all it appears to be the type of fair that the county should have. Why not plan on being there at least one of the four days?

An efficiency expert is described as a man who is smart enough to tell you how to run your business and too smart to start one of his own.

Speaking of efficiency experts, the story is told of one who was inspecting a large factory. "What do you do here?" he asked a man who was leaning against a pile of boxes. "Nothing," was the reply. "And you?" he asked another nearby. "Nothing," he was told. Dutifully he turned the pages of his little black book and noted, "duplication".

"Beware of the chap who reminds you that you can't take it with you," a colleague warns. "He will try to take it with him."

Describing her newest boy friend to a co-worker, the secretary said, "He's tall, with dark curly hair and has the sweetest smile. His name is Harold, and you know, just before he kisses me he always says, 'I'm about to kiss the sweetest lips in the world'."

"Oh," the co-worker said, "THAT Harold."

PSYCHOLOGICAL PHENOMENEN

I find that often summer weather
Does strange things. For instance, whether
I am rising in the dawn
To catch a fish or mow the lawn
Makes quite a difference, you see.
Since fishing quite agrees with me
The darkest morn has promise still
But sun while mowing makes me ill.

Seek Organization To Plan Swimming Pool

Health Officer Is Rotary Speaker, Tells About Need

Stirred to action by the drowning of 13-year-old Carol Forfang of Hallock last Sunday, Thief River Falls citizens are organizaing to promote the building of a swimming pool to suit the needs of the community. Initial action on the proposal took place with the appearance of Dr. H. Paul Wendt, city health officer, at the Thief River Falls Rotary club on Monday noon.

As a result of the meeting, at which a motion was adopted to support a municipal or privately-owned swimming pool for Thief River Falls, the first members of an organizational committe were appointed. Named by president James Roche to represent the Rotary club were Gordon Dow, James Winjum and Lloyd Bennes.

As city health officer, Dr. Wendt has agreed to coordinate the efforts of citizens until such time as an organizational meeting can be held and officers elected. Dr. Wendt will receive the names of committee members appointed by local organizations and will set the meeting date to be announced in the Monday edition of the Times.

In discussing the present situation, Dr. Wendt stated that water tests were run at his direction two years ago. While the bacteria count was high, it was not sufficient to close the pool. "Laws on this are so lax that anything but pure sewage is considered adequate," Dr. Wendt said. "In may mind, water which has dead cows, sheep, pigs and horses floating in it isn't safe for swimming.

"While I can't prove it, I would be inclined to believe that a good portion of the eye, ear and throat infections which are treated during the summer are a result of swimming in the river pool," the health officer added. "If I arbitrarily closed the pool, anyone with a lawyer could have it open again in an hour. Laws in regard to a constructed pool are, on the contrary, very strict."

Lists Danger Factors

Dangers and undesirable factors of the present pool were outlined by the health officer as follows:

(1) High bacteria count and foreign matter in the water making it unfit for human consumption and therefore basically unfit for swimming;

(2) Physical arrangement of the area making it impossible to supervise the swimming from deep water where the greatest danger l eis("People dont drown on the beach—they drown in the water");

(3) Opacity of the water which

ODDITY In the animal world is this three-legged Holstein senior yearling which has been raised and trained by Herman Llan of Gatzke. The cow was born without a right foreleg but has developed sufficient strength and balance to move with amazing speed in a hopping fashion. Llan plans to show the animal at various county fairs and community celebrations and contribute a part of his earnings to the Sister Kenny Foundation.

Animal Oddity . . .

Gatzke Man Owns Three-Legged Cow

Claiming to own the world's oldest known living three-legged cow, Herman Llan of Gatzke is making attempts to show his possession at county fairs and community celebrations throughout the area. "Molly" was born on the Louis Tale farm 25 miles south of Roseau on Jan. 20, 1962, with her right foreleg missing from the shoulder blade.

"I bought her when she was about three months old," Llan said. "My neighbors told me that she wouldn't be able to carry her own weight by the time she was a year old. Now she can run like a deer with me on her back." Now approaching 70 himself, Llan admits that staying on the slippery back of a three-legged cow is a lot harder than breaking horses and mules used to be.

Although use of the calf as an attraction was the reason Llan bought the animal, another motive has increased his desire to show the animal. One of his grandchildren, Marilyn Llan, who was walking well at one year of age was stricken with a crippling disease and given care through the Sister Kenny Institute.

When the child was about four years of age, Llan brought the calf to Minneapolis when he visited Marilyn and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Erling Llan. "Mommy, look," the girl said when she saw 'Molly', "God forgot to put the front leg on that calf."

"I don't think she had ever seen a calf before," Llan stated, "and she was still crippled from being sick herself. I decided then that I would do all I could to help the Sister Kenny group which had helped my granddaughter. Now I send in contributions and they send back letters to contributors of over a dollar. No person that is crippled ever pays admission to see 'Molly'."

Llan stated that three-legged calves are very rare and in nearly all of these rare cases they die at a very young age or are destroyed by the owners. He believes that "Molly" is the oldest living three-legged cow in the world. In his work with the animal he has taught her to bow and to carry him on her back.

Mrs. Anna Holmes of Mille Lacs arrived Monday to spend several days with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Morris LaSalle and her nephew, Louis LaSalle of this city.

Power Outages Occur Tuesday

Wind and lightning damage on Minnkota Power company transmission lines resulted in power outages in Thief River Falls Tuesday. The city received its electric supply from the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation over Minnkota lines.

Several outages of short duration occurred shortly after 1 p. m. Tuesday, according to Morris Owen, superintendent of utilities. For part of the day the city was operating on power produced entirely at the local plant. Owen also noted that lightening about 6:30 a. m. Tuesday burned out two lightning arresters in the city's water turbine and replacement of these required about four hours' work the same day.

Crop Conditions Generally Good Thrughout Area

Times News Staff Has Spot Check Report of Farms in Territory

While areas surrounding the Times territory have suffered crop and property damage due to bad weather, local area conditions are generally good, according to reports received in spot-checking by the Times staff recently.

At the Lowell Hanson farm in the Mavie area, 5½ miles north of highway 1, crops and hay were reported to be generally good. At the Harvey Traska, Stanley Panek Jr. and Walter Panek farms, a considerable amount of hail damage was received about 2 a. m. last Tuesday. The hail strip was said to be about two miles wide and extended to the Highlanding area.

Winton Knutson farm in Numedal township has generally good conditions and the Louis Carpenter farm west of Thief River Falls is reported by Mrs. Carpenter to look the best it has for years.

At the John Burtness farm east of Thief River Falls, grain is reported to be looking good and alfalfa of good quality and heavy stand. In Kratka township Mrs. Julian C. Lendobeja said the farm crops are the best in several years and hay seems to be of good quality.

Pat Culkins, office manager of the Pennington ASC committee and Wyandotte township farmer, stated crop conditions in that area have been nearly perfect and that prospects are exceptionally good. Some requests have been received at the ASC office for soil bank hay, he said, since some alfalfa stands were hurt by late cutting.

Police Check Sudden Wave of Vandalism

Thief River Falls police are seeking persons responsible for a wave of vandalism which swept the city last Thursday night. Reports were received from a number of areas with damage including broken windshield wipers, broken rear-view mirrors, bent, twisted and broken aerials, garden hose cut, ladders scattered, fence and flowers pulled up, gate broken, flashlight stolen, catsup containers broken on the front seat of a car and other damage.

Any information which would be helpful to police in conducting the investigation and apprehending the persons involved would be appreciated by the department. Damage was reported on north LaBree, Kneale, Markley, Crocker and St. Paul avenues, south Kendall avenue and east Taft street near the Tindolph park swimming pool.

Three traffic accidents with damage exceeding $50 have also been checked by the police department during the past week. At about p. m. on June 20, a car driven by Faye LaCoursiere of Minneapolis was going east on First street near Duluth avenue when it struck a parked car owned by Robert Yon, city. About $500 damage was done to the Yon car and $250 to the LaCoursiere vehicle. Marilyn Loven, Minneapolis, a passenger in the LaCoursiere car, received a cut on the forehead.

At 6:20 p. m. on Friday, a car driven north on Main avenue by Tommy Larson, city, was waiting to make a left turn at the KTRF station crossing north of the city, when struck from the rear by a car driven by John Kirby of Middle River. East Side Residents Reject Storm Sewer

Crazy Day Again Planned in City

Thief River Falls merchants will sponsor the annual Crazy Day promotion on July 26 and a meeting of the promotion committee was held Wednesday morning at the Chamber of Comerce office. To provide area advertising for the promotion, the Shopper publication date has been moved back from Saturday, July 13, to Saturday, July 20. All advertisers are urged to note the change from previously announced schedule.

Library Friends Name Committee

Appointment of a committee to prepare a history on the founding and growth of Carnegie Public Library in Thief River Falls has been announced by the Friends of the Library organization. Mrs. Emma Ward, a former librarian, and Mrs. Norman Holen have already begun work on the project to trace the history of the organization from its origin to the present time.

Council Orders Full Report On Sunday Drowning

Residents of the southeast portion of Thief River Falls decisively rejected a council-sponsored storm sewer proposal at a hearing held Monday evening in the city auditorium. Of residents present at the hearing, only 12 were in favor of the project while 45 expressed opposition. As a result, the council unanimously voted to discontinue the project.

In other action at an adjourned meeting of the council following the hearing, city fathers ordered a complete report from the park-recreation board on the June 23 drowning of Carol Forfang at the Tindolph park swimming area. Council discussion indicated that no lifeguard was on duty although a guard was scheduled for that hour and that the rescue boat was chained to the lifeguard tower when the drowning occurred. No indication was given as to when the report will be heard. The council also asked the park-recreation board to list remedies which are being taken to prevent a recurrence of such an accident.

D. H. Stewart, city engineer, presented a feasibility report on extension of water and sewer service to a proposed trailer court to be built on a site south of the Pennington county fairgrounds. He estimated the cost at $8,652 and a hearing was set for July 9th at 8 p. m. when affected property owners will be heard.

As part of the same question, which arises from a building permit application made by Northwest Trailer Court and Sales, the council voted to officially vacate Calumet avenue from First to Third streets and the alley in blocks 43 and 50 of the original townsite. Calumet avenue existed in plat form only and had never been used since no road had been built. The trailer court will be in heavy demand this summer due to about 25 trailers expected from Lakehead Pipeline construction workers.

Storm Sewer Hearing

East side residents at the storm sewer hearing were told that the average assessment for a 50 x 128 foot lot would be $180. They were assured by Roy Lee, council chairman, that such a project would be necessary before the streets in the area could be improved. The present council has adopted a policy of no street improvements unless storm sewers drain the area, he said.

When asked about a combination storm sewer and street project, Lee stated that estimated cost would be $2.45 per front foot for bituminous surfacing and about $2 for curb and gutter. He said an estimate of between $4.50 and $5.50 per front foot would be close. "Personally, I'd rather have the water than the dust," one witness stated.

In a post-election statement to the persons attending, chairman Lee stated that the council has done all in its power to provide the area with the drainage which is believed necessary. Council members have been subjected to considerable abuse by some southeast residents each spring, he said, and added that further complaints about poor drainage should be directed to the neighbors in the form of a petition if a solution is wanted.

The council approved bids of W. T. Thorson of Bemidji for bituminous aggregate at 54 cents per cubic yard and Oscar Schenkey of Middle River for gravel base at 48 cents per cubic yard. The material will be used on the Davis avenue and North Arnold projects and total bids were $5,400 for Thorson and $7,200 for Schenkey.

By resolution the council approved the sending of six applications for tax reductions, 5 real estate and one personal property, to the county board of commissioners without recomendation.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Marquette and Mrs. Esther Hallin left for their home in Daytona Beach, Fla., after visiting relatives and friends here for the past week. While here, Mrs. Hallin was a guest at the George Hayes home and the Marquettes were houseguests at the Bill Holmos homes.

3 Named to Board of Hospital Assn.

Another year of the operation of Northwestern Hospital was reviewed at the annual meeting of members held at the hospital Monday night, and three vacancies on the board of trustees were filled.

Trustees reelected were Dr. Orion Beich and Hugh Carlson. Wallace Tunberg was elected to fill the vacancy created by the withdrawal of Lawrence Bjorkman who has 12 years of service as a trustee to his credit, and who has served as president, filling the unexpired term of the late James Winjum. Mr. Bjorkman was presented with an assortment of fishing tackle in recognition of his long service. Officers will be elected at the next monthly meeting.

A letter of commendation from Dr. Helen L. Knudsen, director of the division of hospital services of the state department of health, was read. Referring particularly to progress that has been made in the field of physical therapy and the new convalescent and nursing home unit now under construction, the letter stated, "We have had many favorable reports on the pilot program initiated in Thief River Falls for the evaluation and rehabilitation of patients under the direction of Dr. Miland Knapp, and we are hopeful that similar services will soon be developed in other areas of the state."

The fiscal year which ended April 30 established new records in utilization of the hospital facilities. Adult patient-days were 13 percent above a year ago and 19 percent above the total for two years ago. Because of greater utilization operating expense was $1.32 below the per patient-day cost of the preceding year. In spite of the fact that the total operating expense for the year increased $58,463. Total operating income increased

Retarded Children Activity Schedule Is Now Underway

Recreation Center Open Three Days Each Week To Give Play Activities

Summer activity scheduled for the recreation center of the Pennington-Red Lake Association for Retarded Children began last week. Located at the Redeemer Lutheran church parish house, the center will be open from 1 to 5 p. m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week.

"The aim of the center, is to teach through play activities in a group situation," stated Mrs. Melvin Grinde, director of the center. "We have a correlated study unit to which we give expression in songs, stories, crafts, rhythm activities and indoor and outdoor games.

"As we are gradually increasing and adding to our facilities, we feel the program planned for the summer months should be especially interesting and helpful to those who wish to participate," Mrs. Grinde concluded. The program is suited to all ages and abilities and there is no age limit.

An urgent need of the center is for a volunteer to provide transportation to and from the center for the persons attending. Services may be offered by calling Mrs. Grinde at MU 1-4175 or stopping at the recreation center.

Mrs. Ruby Vesey of Los Angeles, Calif., visited last week at the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Turn.

Specialty Crop Tour Set Tuesday

Specialty crops being produced in this area will be viewed on a tour which has been scheduled for Tuesday, July 2, according to Paul Steimaschuk, Pennington county agricultural agent. The tour will start at 2 p. m. and all interested persons are encouraged to take part. Meeting place will be the Richard Dvorak farm one mile west of St. Hilaire (see accompanying map).

Specialty crops to be examined include mustard, Sunflower and Pinto beans, all of which are being grown under contract. New certified grains such as Garland oats, Larker barley and Climax timothy will also be shown and a stop is planned at fields of onions, cabbage and rutabagas.

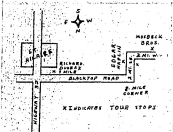
Farmers growing the crops—more than 1,000 acres of which are being produced in Pennington county this year—will discuss how they have prepared their seed and fields, rate and time of seeding, seed treatment and fertilization of the crops mentioned. Weed problems and control will be observed and discussed, Steimaschuk added.

Cost of producing the various crops and the income possibilities will be examined. "These points are of vital importance to anyone planning future production of sunflowers, mustard, Pinto beans, certified seeds or commercial vegetables," Steimaschuk said. Dr. Harley Otto, extension agronomy specialist from the University of Minnesota, will review the research data which has been compiled on each of the crops.

"It is likely that the present acreage of more than 1,000 acres in specialty crops will be expanded next year and in years to come," Steimaschuk said. "The tour on Tuesday is designed to help farmers seed the fields and gather practical information on specialty crops. Tour stops will be explained in a story in the next edition of the Times."

C of C Receives New City Directories

City directories from Crookston, Bemidji, Fargo-Moorhead, St. Paul and Minneapolis have recently been received at the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce office. Directories for other communities are also on order and all are available to local citizens who wish to make use of them for reference purposes.



SPECIALTY crops being produced in Pennington county will be viewed and discussed Tuesday on a tour arranged by the county extension office. Route and stops of the tour are shown above. Among the specialty crops will be Pinto beans, tame mustard, sunflowers, onions, cabbage, rutabagas and several new crop varieties. All interested persons, especially farmers looking for a method of utilizing small acreage and advancing their income, are encouraged to attend.

Mrs. Jaycees In State Honored for Project Work

Minnesota Mrs. Jaycees were the recipients of a plaque from the Minnesota Association for Retarded Children at the state convention held recently. Mrs. Richard Mosbeck of St. Hilaire, member of the association's state board of directors, attended the convention.

Mrs. Darlene Hallberg of Hastings, chairman of the aid to retarded children project for the state Mrs. Jaycees, accepted the award. In return she presented the state retarded group with checks of $1,333.63 for the summer camp program and $541 for the research program. Money for the support comes from local chapters who raise funds for the state project. In Thief River Falls, chapter proceeds are donated directly to the Pennington-Red Lake Association for Retarded children.

A total of 75 Mrs. Jaycees chapters and 1,740 members participated in the state project last year—working on special programs and giving financial support to the association.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floorlength dress with bodice of heavy satin and full skirt of taffeta with appliqued net overlay. She wore white elbow-length gloves and carried a crescent bouquet of roses with leaf accents.

She was attended by Mrs. Jim Nelson of Parkersburg, West Va., as matron of honor, and Karen Mittelstad of Thief River Falls and Sheila Roisum of East Grand Forks, cousin of the bride. Their dresses were of nightile crystallette with full-length bell skirts. Each carried a single, long-stemmed white rose.

All of the Larson's children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren were home for the festive day except a grandson and great-grandson, David Myers and his son Michael of Oakland, Calif.

The ladies' corsages and other floral decorations carried out a theme in gold and white. Prosser-Westlund Vows Spoken at Middle River

Dorothy Mae Prosser and Wayne Wendell Westlund spoke their wedding vows Saturday evening, June 1, at the First Lutheran church in Middle River before Rev. James L. Hanson. Parents are Mr. and Mrs. Archie Prosser of Middle River and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Westlund of Strathcona.

Baskets of white mums and spiral candelabra provided the setting for the candlelight ceremony. Candelabra with white bows and ivy trimmed the pews.

Mrs. James L. Hanson played a prelude of organ music and also accompanied the soloists, Gary Orvik of Rugby, N. D., and Mrs. Duane Loven, sister of the bride, of East Grand Forks.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of candlelight silk organza and taffeta with sleeves of embroidered organza and matching appliques framing the neckine and outlining the rounded floor length sheath skirt. Her bouffant veil of silk illusion was arranged under a Swedish crown of pearl and crystal, which had also been worn by her sister, Mrs. Loven. She carried a bouquet of white roses, feathered mums and ivy.

Janice Prosser was her sister's maid of honor and bridesmaids were Sylvia Folden and Mrs. Ellis Olson of St. Paul. With their street length dresses of mauve pink silk shantung, they wore matching pillbox hats and carried bouquets of white roses, lily of the valley and ivy.

Lewis T. Westlund was his brother's best man. Groomsmen were Harlan Westlund, another brother, and Jere Paddock of Grand Forks. Seating the guests were Ralph Hektner, Jr. of Moorhead, Duane Loven of East Grand Forks, Leland Erickson of Lake Bronson, and R. Jon Fitzner of Valley City, North Dakota. All men in the wedding party wore black tuxedos with white feathered mum boutonnieres.

The bride's mother wore a pink linen dress with white lace bodice and white acessories. The bridegroom's mother chose a blue linen dress with white accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of pink roses with white feathered mums and ivy. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Emma Prosser of Lake Bronson, also wore a corsage of pink roses and feathered mums.

Following the ceremony, punch was served on the church lawn by Mrs. Arvo Moser of Thief River Falls and Rachel Wold of Strathcona. The reception given by the bride's parents was held in the church parlors. The serving table was centered by a four-tier wedding cake topped by three lighted tapers, fresh white roses, lily of the valley, and ivy. Ivy also encircled the base of the cake. Lighted candles entwined with ivy completed the table decoration. The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Charles Collins and Mabel Flaten, aunt of the groom, of Grand Forks, N. D. Pouring were Mrs. Arthur Meagher and Alpha Kjelland, both of Park River, N. D.

Three Elected to Northwestern Hospital Board

The hospital supports one of the city's largest payrolls with 155 full time employees and 35 who serve on a part time basis. The total operating expense for the past year was in excess of three-quarters of a million dollars.

Most of the patients were covered in whole or in part by insurance. Of each 100 patients 72 carried hospitalization insurance, 16 paid their own way and only 12 were supported by public welfare.

The hospital has a record of steady growth since 1955 when the number of patients admitted totaled 2,500. With slight annual variations the number of admissions has increased each year to last year's total of 3,300. Following an area pattern the number of births declined from 342 to 330.

March set a new monthly record for the highest number of patient days with a total of 2,693, compared to the previous year's record in May of 1962 with a total of 2,512. August had the lowest record for patient days with a total of 1,764 compared to the preceding year's record in November of 1,659.

Norman Peterson, administrator, reminded the trustees that this will be the tenth year of operation for Northwestern Hospital and that by the time the next annual meeting will be held the new addition with many added facilities should be completed. He suggested that this should be kept in mind with the thought that a special effort should be made at that time to celebrate ten years of progress.

This 43rd annual 4-H educational event at the Univesity is planned to help junior leaders gain leadership skills and become better acquainted with the University, according to Stanley Meinen, assistant 4-H Club leader at the University of Minnesota.

LaVern Freeh, director of Agricultural Short Courses at the University, will speak on "Leadership — Opportunity, Obligation," opening the conference June 25. After the assembly, delegates will visit points of interest on campus before hearing about the National 4-H Conference from the four Minnesota delegates.

Seek To Organize Group To Plan Swimming Pool

makes it impossible to find a drowning person by sight under water and providing artificial respiration while there is still time to be successful;

(4) Presence of current in the river which creates a decided undertow and makes both swimming and rescue difficult and hazardous;

(5) Use of high-powered boats for recreation in the immediate area, especially without a barrier to prevent such boats from entering the swimming area.

"Any one of the several items I have mentioned should be adequate grounds to consider a more suitable pool," Dr. Wendt said, "but the combination of all of them would almost seem to make it a necessity. There will be those who say that river swimming is an American institution. All I could say to that is that rivers have changed."

Dr. Wendt told the Rotary club that a pool builder had estimated the cost of a 75x150 foot pool at $65,000 to $75,00. He stated that size, cost, location and a number of other major and minor items would have to be considered by the committee. Any local organization wishing to be represented on the pool planning group is encouraged to select a representative or representatives and contact Dr. Wendt.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor the Times,

I want to show my appreciation and gratitude for a camp like Camp Courage. I think this camp is the finest camp there is for shut-ins like me. Now I can get out once a year to meet and make a few new friends and see some of God's handiwork outdoors.

All the counselors are so kind to everyone at camp. They are never too busy to come to our aid. The food is excellent out at Camp Courage, too. So I can not complain about anything out at camp. Only time goes by so fast.

I want to thank the persons who make it possible for letting me come to camp. I have attended five times now. It's so wonderful. Thank you all again. Miss Tillie Anderson of Thief River Falls and Miss Jessie Phelps and Tina Braseth.

ELECTRICITY SURE MEANS A LOT TO ME!

Somehow, we seem to take a lot of things for granted. Take electricity, for example . . . I'd hate to be without it on our farm. It's a part of everyday living that most of us take for granted.

Stop for a minute, and think how electricity plays its role in just about everything you do, everyday.

It's the electric alarm clock that awakes you to a new day. It's the lamp that lights up a dark bedroom as you get dressed. It's the electric shaver and the electric water heater for hot water every hour.

It's the electric range, the electric percolator and the automatic toaster as each day begins. It's the power for the automatic cattle feeder, the milking machine, the farm shop.

It's the radio that brings market reports, weather conditions and current news. It's the electric heater that starts cars on cold mornings.

It's the yard light that gives safety and protection after dark. It's the motors and shop tools, the electric welder.

It's the television set that brings the world to your living room. It's the vacuum cleaner, the washing machine, the refrigerator and the electric room heater.

And when you return to your bedroom after the day is done, it's the electric blanket that keeps you snug all night.

More than 48,000 farm families in Minnkota-Land rely on dependable rural electric light and power to make everyday living more comfortable, convenient and enjoyable.

As the average member would say . . . "Electricity sure means a lot to me!"

Legion Jrs. Lose to G. Forks 7-2

The local Legion junior baseball team will get back into action this evening, Wednesday, when, at 7:00 p. m., they meet the Fosston juniors on the Fair Grounds diamond here. The locals were slated to have played at Stephen on Tuesday evening, but the rains forced cancellation of that game. On Thursday evening, June 27, the local club will travel to Middle River for a Northwest league game against Middle River, with game time at 6:30 p. m. And on Friday night, with game time at 8:00 p. m., coach Ralph Skay's club will play the Fertile juniors at Fertile. On Monday night, June 30, the Grand Forks juniors will play here, with game time at 8:00 p. m.

The local juniors had their losing streak extended to four games on Monday evening when, in a game that was played at Grand Forks, they dropped a 7 to 2 decision to coach Marv Skaar's highly-touted Grand Forks juniors.

Jack Leedahl for the locals and Herbert for Grand Forks, both righthanders, hooked up in a fine duel, and for four innings it was a 1 to 0 game in favor of Grand Forks. Grand Forks picked up their run in the second inning on ground singles by Alex Cooley, Gary Iverson, and Hebert.

Grand Forks, in the fifth, scored three unearned runs to take a 4 to 0 lead. With one out, John Nelson slashed a singled through the mound; Dick Dehn gained a life on an error; Aaron Monson flied out to centerfield; and then three walks, to Cooley, Lance Morque, and Iverson, plated three runs.

The locals picked up a pair of runs in the sixth inning when Rick Jensen, with Mike Aune and Tony Poole on the bases, sliced a double down the left-field foul line.

Grand Forks, taking advantage of three walks doled out by Leedahl and Tony Poole, who came on in relief in the inning, plus singles by Bergh and Monson and an error, scored another three-run cluster in the sixth inning. The locals threatened in the seventh, getting their first two batters on base, but Hebert retired Paul Klungness on a force play, set down John Aune on a fly ball to left field, and got Leedahl to loft a pop fly to second base.

Accidents Listed In Pennington by Sheriff's Office

Several Citations Are Issued To Drivers In Recent Auto Accidents

Four traffic accidents were investigated by the Pennington county sheriff's office during the past week with extensive damage to several cars noted in the mishaps and citations issued to drivers. Two of the accident cases are still under investigation.

Saturday at about 10:10 p. m. a car driven by Barrett Hanson, currently employed in the city, crashed into the side of a road and received considerable damage to the front end. The mishap occurred when city police gave chase to the car which had turned east on Eighth street from Atlantic avenue. Hanson attempted a turn at the east edge of the city, missed the crossing and crossed the ditch, turned in an alfalfa field and then rammed into the road as he attempted to cross a deep ditch.

James Emerson of Thief River Falls, a passenger in the car, received a broken leg in the mishap. Duane Hanson, also a passenger, received minor injuries. The case is under investigation by the sheriff's department.

At about 8:30 p. m. on Friday, a car driven by Milton Myrum of Chisholm struck the bridge on State Aid Road 20 about six miles northeast of Thief River Falls. The impact loosened the bridge railing and extensively damaged the left side of the car which then skidded across the bridge and continued down the road, coming to rest facing southeast on the road. The driver was uninjured but was charged with careless driving.

At about 6 a. m. on June 15, a car driven by Roy A. Olson Jr. of Euclid left a township road about two miles northwest of Thief River Falls and came to rest in the ditch. No injuries were noted to the driver or passengers Paul Dahlstrom of Thief River Falls, Ramona Lappegard and Diane Dutton of St. Cloud. Olson was charged with careless driving.

On June 14, a car driven east on SAR 3 just south of the junction with the airport road south of Thief River Falls crashed into the south ditch. Eugene Lee Newton of Fosston was the driver of the vehicle owned by Roy R. Lee, formerly of rt. 3, TRF, and recently working in California. Lee and Newton were slightly injured and the car was extensively damaged. Another passenger, Gary J. Dargon, rt. 3, Red Lake Falls, was not injured. The case is under investigation.

Attorney General Walter F. Mondale announced today that Perry Voldness will become the new deputy attorney general in charge of the attorney general's staff in the highway department, effective July 1.

Voldness, 38, has been the assistant attorney general in charge of the state tax department attorney general's staff since March, 1956.

Mr. Voldness is a native of Thief River Falls, and a graduate of Lincoln high school. He served in the Navy during World War II. He lives with his wife Donadean, and three children, at 9207 Fifth Avenue South, Bloomington.

"I am pleased that Mr. Voldness, with his years of experience with the state, is available to fill this important post," Mondale said.

Voldness will replace Deputy Attorney General Rolf O. Slen, who has resigned to enter private law practice in Albert Lea, Minn.

Voldness was first appointed a special assistant attorney general in 1955. He was in private practice before that in Minneapolis.

The new Deputy Attorney General is a graduate of the University of Minnesota Law School. Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

My Favorites

The City Softball league race is developing into one of those old-time dog-eat-dog competitions, with the Bridgemans, Hamm's, Vets, and Hartz clubs all in contention for the league title.

The Bridgeman's, with their mixture of veterans and youth, got off to an early lead, running up a winning streak of four games before being side-tracked by Jimmy Erickson and the Hartz team last week. With the advent of hot and humid weather, the Bridgeman's oldtimers—Bob Carlson, John Drury, Irv Wilson, and the others—will be subject to various kinds of strokes—sun, heat, and batted ball. It's fortunate that the Bridgeman's have a youthful and strong-legged outfield in Roddy Carlson and Gary and Paul Klungness.

The team to fear in this season's play is the V. F. W. squad. This outfit, well-stocked with experienced ball players, is, according to my computations, the league's best, and will finish, one-two. Their only lack is in reliable pitching. Wally Grovum and Joey Poole have been throwing their slants in to catcher Jack Hoppe, but these two pitchers can have spells of wildness.

Games Draw Crowds

The league games are being played on the East Side diamond, and have been attracting fine crowds. That Bridgeman's vs. Hamm's game, which found the Hartz scoring their game-winning run on a walk with the bases loaded, and which was followed by a hassle when the Bridgeman's, on some quick thinking, attempted to claim a double play. With the bases loaded and one out for Hartz, a walk was doled out, and the game-winning run scored. The runners on first and second failed to advance a base, and the Bridgeman's, calling for the ball, made plays at second and third, and claimed a double play. There was talk of a protest being filed, but so far the matter is pending.

A new playing field for the softball league is in the process of being built at the Fair Grounds. The field will be to the west of the baseball field, and the layout of the diamond will have home plate in the north-east, and second base in the south-west, comparable to the diamond on the East Side.

.... They'll Be Here Monday ....

With the possible exception of coach Chuck Johnson's Fertile juniors, who played here a week ago, the team that coach Marv Skaar will bring over here from Grand Forks on Monday night, will perhaps be the finest group of junior baseballers to play here this season. The reason that the Fertile club rates in the same class as the Grand Forks juniors is because of the presence of Rod Olson, Paul Sannes, and Ron Newell in the Fertile lineup. Olson and Sannes are stronger hurlers than any on the staff of the Grand Forks club.

But the Grand Forks club, and they will meet the coach Ralph Skay's juniors on the Fair Grounds diamond at 8:00 p. m. on Monday night, are impressive physically. A number of the boys who played on the Grand Forks Central basketball team, state runners-up in North Dakota, and which scored a decisive win over the Prowlers last winter, are on the baseball squad. Ron Bergh, Alex Cooley, Aaron Monson, and Gary Iverson were Maroon eagers last winter. Bergh is probably the most talented athlete on the Grand Forks squad. He is the team's number one hurler, is one of the club's leading hitters, and, when he's not on the mound, he plays a standout game at shortstop.

Game time on Monday night is at 8:00 p. m. And on the play of coach Ralph Skay's club against Grand Forks on Monday evening, the fans should enjoy a fine game of junior baseball. Righthander Jack Leedahl turned in a sturdy performance against the strong-swinging Grand Forks club, and but for a pair of errors, which proved costly, and several walks, the game score could have been by a one-run margin, either way.

Home Ownership Up; Foreclosures Also up

Encouraged by modern liberalized mortgage financing and rising post-war incomes, non-farm home ownership in the U. S. has expanded by nearly 100 per cent since the end of World War II. But in those same 17 years, the annual toll of defaulted residential mortgages resulting in foreclosures has zoomed more than 700 per cent, reports the family economics bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance company.

Non-farm owner-occupied dwellings numbered approximately 16 million at the end of the war. Today the total is estimated at a little over 31 million, according to the bureau's report.

But in 1962, it says, a total of 86,450 non-farm houses were foreclosed, representing the largest of ten consecutive annual increases, and the highest year's total since 1939.

Recently issued Government estimates for the first three months of 1963 show a total of 23,500 non-farm foreclosures, compared to slightly under 21,000 in the corresponding period of a year ago.

Number of foreclosed houses owned by the Federal Housing Administration has tripled in the past two years. FHA held title to 12,764 at the end of 1960. At the end of 1962 the figure was 38,763.

The basic trouble would appear to be an old American custom of overdoing a good thing, in this case the easing of mortgage credit to encourage home ownership, says the report.

Back in 1900, in the era of "tough" and often discouraging mortgage requirements, only 30 per cent of owner-occupied homes were mortgaged at all, and these had loans averaging only 40 per cent of their value.

In 1950, 44 per cent were mortgaged, to an average of 42 per cent of their value.

Today over 60 per cent of all owner-occupied homes are mortgaged, to an average of over 50 per cent of their value. The current averages reflect the addition of some millions of homes with a very high ratio of mortgage to property value — far higher than was the case before the advent of the Government-guaranteed mortgage. Ownership is inevitably less secure in such properties, the report points out.

Too many over-liberal appraisals, some so high that the entire cost of the home could be borrowed, have promoted over-building and over-buying, it says.

With extremely small down payment deals available, many families have bought more expensive homes than they should. With nearly the full purchase price borrowed, installments tend to consist almost entirely of interest and other carrying charges, with little margin for payments on principal.

In general, conservatively financed homes sold to buyers whose financial qualifications were properly checked before the sale, are giving comparatively little trouble. It is the thin, over-extended deals which promote instability and irresponsibility — the opposite of the qualities traditionally encouraged by home ownership, the report says.

Thus the mounting tide of foreclosures is seen as chiefly the result of carrying "easy" credit policies too far. Therefore reversing the trend depends more on tightening standards and eliminating abuses than on any improvement in general economic conditions—although such improvement could well have some effect on foreclosure statistics, the report concludes.

Although Canadian Mines Produce more than three-quarters of the world's supply of nickel, a very small proportion of the versatile metal remains in Canada. Canada exports more than 95 per cent of her nickel.

Rep. Langen Lauds House Committee for Cutting Funds

7th Dist. Congressman Reports Curtailment of Money for Travel Agency

Congressman Odin Langen had high praise today for the appropriations committee on which he serves for cutting over $308 million from the 1964 budget requests submitted by the Departments of State, Justice, and Commerce, and Judiciary, and related agencies. "Not only is the amount appropriated 14 per cent less than requested, but it is almost $300 million less than the amount appropriated for 1963," added Langen, "which indicates that committee members feel there were many cases of wasted funds that could be corrected."

Congressman Langen cited a number of cases mentioned in the subcommittee hearings where taxpayer dollars had been foolishly and needlessly spent in the past. "Take the newly created United States Travel Service as an example," said Langen. "A New York decorator was sent out to decorate and furnish six overseas offices. The decorating and furnishings cost $22-thousand, but they spent another $192-thousand just planning and supervising the project."

"That same travel service," continued Langen, "bought 200 sets of cuff links and 24 bracelets at ten dollars apiece and gave them away to foreign nationals as gifts—after paying $287 to hire professional help in selecting the gifts. And they spent almost $15-thousand to develop an insignia that didn't even identify it with the U. S. Travel Service. It's no wonder the appropriations committee lopped $1.6-million off the travel service budget request for next year."

Langen noted that such items may seem small, "but when you add hundreds of them together, they total millions of taxpayer dollars being wasted every year."

Heart Assn. Makes Research Grants

More Than $365,000 to Be Spent In Minnesota

The Minnesota Heart Association announced today that over a third of a million dollars will be expended in research centers thruout the state of Minnesota to finance scientific studies in the field of diseases of the heart and blood vessels during the twelve months beginning July 1. Over 80 outstanding investigators will receive a total of $365,960.00 in grants and fellowships as a part of a $10,000,000.00 effort by the American Heart Association and its 54 affiliates in the United States to find the causes and cures of the nation's number 1 killer.

According to Dr. Jesse E. Edwards, president, the Minnesota Heart Association will underwrite $192,740.00 of these research awards, and $173,20.00 will come from the American Heart Association from donations from the other states in the union.

Funds for the program, Dr. Edwards emphasized, come entirely from public contributions to the annual Heart Fund campaign each February.

In pointing up the importance of the state of Minnesota as an outstanding heart research center, Dr. Edwards observed that three of the American Heart Association's eleven career investigators — outstanding scientists who receive support throughout their professional lives — have chosen the facilities in this state to pursue their research. In addition, seven Minnesota scientists have been given grants-in-aid for specific projects which are scheduled to take from one to five years to complete.

Life Insurance Policies Are Up Sharply in State

Minnesota families owned 3,864,000 life insurance policies providing $11,131,000,000 of protection at the start of this year, a new high record, the Institute of Life Insurance reports.

This compares with $10,512,000,000 owned in this state the year before and $4,820,000,000 at the start of 1953. The ten-year rise in this state was 131 per cent.

"The past decade has been the greatest advancement of family financial protection through life insurance in all our history," Blake T. Newton, Jr., Institute president, commented. "In these ten years we have seen over $399,000,000,000 of life insurance added in this country. Today's life insurance ownership is more than four times that at the close of World War II. More people own more life insurance than ever before.

Traffic Counters Smashed, Stolen

Valuable Equipment Lost by Highway Department

The Minnesota highway department is being plagued by a series of thefts and smashings of traffic recorders, the electro-mechanical devices for recording traffic on highways for research on Minnesota travel patterns.

1962 was the worst year, with 14 of these machines stolen or broken. The instruments, depending on type, cost from $50 to more than $1,000.

Highway officials are at a loss to understand the reason for the vandalism. Is it a misconception on the part of some that the devices are checking the speed of cars? Is it juvenile malicious mischief? Is it the belief that the instruments are valuable as salvage or that the parts can be used for some other purpose? No answer is readily apparent.

The department cannot localize the incidents, since they have occurred in various sections of the state.

Sometimes the devices disappear completely. Sometimes the cables are chopped to pieces; in other cases the apparatus is merely thrown in a corn field. In one case —one of the more expensive installations—the mechanism was blown to bits with dynamite.

An emergency food stockpile to carry you and your family through any disaster is like automobile insurance. You hope you won't need it, but if you do, you need it very much indeed. The food stockpile doesn't cost anything, because you will use the food eventually anyway.

Aquatennial Parade Set Saturday, July 20

Minneapolis Aquatennial's two gigantic parades promise to be "Bigger than ever," according to Aquatennial parade Vice Commodore Nick Sachs. More than 150 units will be in the parade lineup when the Grande Day parade moves out from Parade Stadium Saturday, July 20, at 2:00 p. m.

The 2½-hour spectacle, featuring 70 floats, 30 bands, 15 drum and bugle corps and 15 other marching units, will be headed by Celebrity Grand Marshal 'Tippi' Hedren, star of Alfred Hitchcock's latest movie, "The Birds." Military Grand Marshal will be Gen. Joe Kelly, commanding officer of MATS (Military Air Transport Service) of Scott Air Force Base in Bellville, Ill. Honorary Grand Marshal will be John Cameron Thompson, well-known Upper Midwest business and financial leader.

In carrying out the 1963 parade theme—"Neighbors to the North" —the Aquatennial has invited a number of Canadian units to participate. A perennial Aquatennial favorite, the Winnipeg Police Bagpipe Band, will be joined this year by the Blue Bomberettes drum and bugle corps and the Oriole community club majorettes and drum corps, both from Winnipeg. Canada's "Miss Dominion" will carry the banner for Canadian beauty in both Aqua parades. Ten other visiting queens from throughout the U. S. will greet curbside spectators from shiny new Pontiac convertibles.

Parade officials expect more than 4,000 persons to be in the parade lineup and more than a half-million to line the curbs along the 2½ mile route from Parade Stadium through downtown Minneapolis. Another 750,000 persons are expected to view the Torchlight parade set for Wednesday, July 24, beginning at 8:00 p. m.

The world-famous Strategic Air Command (SAC) band will team up with the MATS military band to highlight the military services participation in this year's parades. Outstanding high school bands from Iron River, Mich., and Orange City, Iowa, will show off their unusual costumes and musical skills at the Grande Day parade while the Dawn Peterson Academy Indians and Cowgirls, representing Mobile, Ala., twirl thier flaming batons at both Aqua parades.

Aquatennial's 40 lovely queen candidates will each be highlighted on their own float for the first time in Aquatennial history. And curbside spectators can always count on being entertained by those ever-present and always funny Aqua Jester clowns.

Mr. Norman P. Peterson
Administrator
Northwestern Hospital
Thief River Falls, Minnesota

Dear Mr. Peterson:

The Board of Trustees and the medical staff of Northwestern Hospital as well as the residents of Thief River Falls and the surrounding area are to be congratulated on the progress being made in providing facilities and services for the care of the chronically ill and aging and in the development of training and educational programs.

As a result of the initial experience gained in the operation of a chronic disease unit it became apparent that these facilities should be continued and expanded with a strengthening of the rehabilitation services. The new convalescent and nursing care (nursing home) unit of the hospital will have many advantages for the patients requiring intensive nursing care because of the availability of a trained staff and the diagnostic and therapeutic services. Most encouraging are your plans for expanding the outpatient services and for instituting day care and home care programs with these new units. We have had many favorable reports on the pilot program initiated in Thief River Falls for the evaluation and rehabilitation of patients under the direction of Dr. Miland Knapp and we are hopeful that similar services will soon be developed in other areas of the State.

Northwestern Hospital in Thief River Falls is an excellent example of the national trend for the general hospital to provide comprehensive services as the health center of the community.

It is always a pleasure to work with you, the Board and the hospital staff. You are all performing an outstanding service for the community.

Sincerely yours,
Helen L. Knudsen

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

The Trustees of Northwestern Hospital acknowledge with thanks receipt of the above letter. Your community hospital is now in its tenth year of operation. It is encouraging to know that these have been years of progress. The expansion that now is under way, along with added equipment, will make possible a better and a more complete hospital service.

HAPPY

If you've ever taken a child to the seashore, you know what that first glimpse of the ocean can mean to a youngster . . . the lure of fascination . . . the foreboding of fear. Which will win the struggle?

But what a delight when hesitation ends and Jeannie finds her happy beachhead down where the waves wane, and the tide seeks its rest.

And if you've ever taken a child to Sunday School, you know what that first glimpse of strange surroundings can mean.

But, even if there are misgivings that first Sunday, Jeannie soon finds her happy beachhead. And one day she'll plunge bravely and confidently into deeper reaches of the vast spiritual ocean that surrounds life.

Anything as vital as religious education deserves an early and earnest beginning.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Employment Service Notes 30th Birthday

Frank T. Starkey, state commissioner of employment security, today complimented Minnesota's thirty-three public employment offices for their outstanding record of service to workers and employers, in the state over the past three decades. The occasion was the 30th anniversary of the Wagner-Peyser Act, which established the federal-state public employment service system in June, 1933.

"The key role played by local public employment offices in the communities of our state is attested to by the vast number of needed labor market services that these offices provide to workers and employers," Starkey said.

Pointing to their record of 4,500,249 placements since the passage of the act, the commissioner emphasized the employment service's ability to meet the impact of the great depression, the demands of one global war and several lesser actions and a series of recessions of varying intensity. "But in the years ahead our public employment offices face the even greater manpower challenges of the rapidly changing technological age," he said.

Referring to industry shifts, automation, and other technological advances that affect employment in the State, Starkey drew attention to new responsibilities placed upon the states' 33 employment service offices under the federal acts (Area Redevelopment, Manpower Development and Training, Trade Expansion, Public Works) designed to help workers again attain employability after displacement by such advances.

"The local public employment offices, along with our state vocational education facilities, are today the united action front in our state for national training programs to provide our unemployed workers and youths with needed skills to qualify for today's jobs," he said.

Employment service responsibilities under these programs include skill surveys to determine occupations for which training is needed, screening, counseling, testing, referring applicants for training and placing them in training-related jobs.

During the past year the Minnesota state employment service accomplishments include over 156,193 job placements, over 23,672 counseling interviews, and testing of nearly 63,915 job applicants.

Commissioner Starkey also commended the special efforts of the States' public employment offices in behalf of specific groups in the labor force who have unusual difficulty in finding jobs. Last year these offices provided occupational counseling to almost 10,000 high school seniors, made 54,926 job placements for youth (including agricultural jobs), and placed 5,612 handicapped workers in non-agricultural jobs.

Group To Attend World Assembly

Jehovah's Witnesses Convene in Milwaukee

R. H. Wetenkamp, presiding minister for Jehovah's Witnesses, announced today that seveal members of the local congregation will be leaving soon as delegates to the first session of the "Around-the-World International Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses for 1963" in Milwaukee, Wis.

According to Wetenkamp, the eight-day convention will open June 30 at County Stadium while the Milwaukee Braves baseball club is on the road. Advance requests for overnight accommodations indicate that more than 50,000 persons from the United States and 10 other countries will attend the gathering.

The Milwaukee meet will be the longest convention ever held in that city. It will also be the first of 24 sessions composing the "Everlasting Good News" Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses this summer. After the County Stadium gathering, the convention will move on to Yankee Stadium in New York City, followed by assemblies throughout Europe and Asia. This globe-encircling assembly will follow the Milwaukee sessions, ending with an eight-day session at the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Calif., Wetenkamp said.

Drivers' License Holders Won't Get Renewal Notices

Highway Department Is Ending Practice Because of Higher Postage Rates

After July 1 Minnesotans will no longer receive reminder notices that their drivers licenses are about to expire.

The Minnesota highway department has suspended the practice of mailing license expiration notices because of increased mail rates coupled with a change in the minimum size of a piece of mail that can be posted.

(Reminder notices are filled out by everyone applying for a license and are kept on file to be mailed just prior to the license expiration).

The amount the department budgeted for mailing the cards for fiscal years 1963, through 1965 was determined on the old mail rate of three cents per card, but with the one-cent increase on January 1, the department found the budget short by several thousand dollars.

Also, new postal regulations increased the minimum size of mail that can be posted and this made the present reminder cards unmailable. Cards on file cover the period through 1966, and to use them would require the additional cost of putting them in envelopes for mailing, plus the increased postage cost for which there are no funds in the budget.

Applicants will continue to fill our reminder notices but on a new card that meets postal requirements. None of these, however, will be due for mailing until 1967, at which time the department may or may not start mailing them again—depending on the wishes of the public and money available for mailing.

Fruit, Vegetables Help Cut Weight

Nutritionist Says They Assist Weight Watchers

Fresh fruits and vegetables coming to market in abundance during summer can be a real friend to the weight watcher.

Fruits can substitute for pastries and other desserts with empty calories, extension nutritionists at the University of Minnesota point out. Foods with empty calories are those that contribute little in the way of vitamins, minerals or protein but do rate high in calories. Both fruits and vegetables, on the other hand, are low in calories but high in nutritional content.

Given below is a list of fruits and vegetables with their caloric content. Calories are for a half-cup portion, except where stated otherwise, served without added fat, sugar or sauce.

10 to 15 calories — cabbage, snap beans, greens, cauliflower, celery, mushrooms, green peppers, kraut.

20 to 25 calories — summer squash, asparagus, carrots, turnips, tomato juice, half a cantaloupe (5 inches in diamter).

40 to 50 calories — grapes, one pear, half a white grapefruit.

55 to 60 calories — three apricots, fresh, unsweetened canned or frozen orange juice, half a pink grapefruit, one medium orange, 14 x 8-inch wedge of watermelon.

70 calories — one apple, apple juice.

Maintenance Job Set for Kittson

Bids will be opened on four highway maintenance projects at the Minnesota highway department central offices in St. Paul July 19, the department announces. The projects include construction of gravel shoulders, storm sewer work, bituminous surfacing, grading, crushed rock base and aggregate production and stockpiling for trunk highways in eight counties.

The projects include maintenance area 2B. (Headquarters Crookston) TH 75. Construction of gravel shoulders on 12.7 miles between junction of TH 11 in Donaldson and the south limits of Hallock.

Beware of Sudden Slow-up or Stop on State Freeway

One of the most dangerous mistakes a motorist can make on a freeway is to slow down suddenly or stop. Vehicles travel at relatively high speeds on freeways and to slow down suddenly or stop is inviting disaster from behind, says J. E. P. Darrell, traffic engineer, Minnesota highway department.

The design features of freeways eliminate almost completely the danger of head-on collisions. Thus, the only two types of accidents that occur with any frequency are side-swipes and rear end collisions. The latter can be eliminated by motorists if they follow the simple rule not to slow down suddenly or stop.

The motorist, of course, is expected to slow down, but not suddenly, to pull onto the shoulder to stop in an emergency or to rest. But when slowing to enter a decelleration lane or entrance or exit ramp, it should be gradual.

Trouble Everywhere

President Kennedy is visiting four countries on his present European tour, and it so happens that the governments now in control politically in these four countries may not be in control in a few more weeks. A summary compiled from Associated Press and Reuters dispatches, concludes:

> President Kennedy may arrive in the Republic of Ireland Wednesday to find the land of his ancestors without a government.
> That would make a clean sweep for the President's four-nation European tour. Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's British Government is tottering. Italy may have a Cabinet, but it will be only a stopgap regime. And West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is a lame duck, pledged to retire this fall."

Throughout the world, in almost every country, there seems to be a crisis. About the only encouraging thing in this sorry mess is the fact that the Russians and the Chinese are snapping and snarling at each other too.

Bias in Textbooks

An interesting experiment is now being conducted by a group of British and American historians who will attempt to reconcile some of the differences in what each nation has accepted as factual recording of important events. The group recognizes that among the forces responsible for international misunderstanding, one of the most insidious is "the propogation of nationalistic and regional biases in school textbooks."

The New York Times is favorablly impressed by the effort. It states:

> "This is a useful venture. The technique could be extended to many other fields and many other nations. It would be unrealistic to suppose that all differences of viewpoint could ever be eradicated. But at least it should be possible to get agreement on the facts and to go from that to more solidly based interpretations than prevail now. It ought to be possible to use the same kind of textbook on, for example, the American Revolution in schoolrooms in London and in New York."

Interesting Experiment

The trend toward year-round schooling at the college level seems to be gaining momentum. Such a program was started in 1959 by the University of Pittsburgh when it adopted the so-called trimester plan. Under this plan the academic year is divided into three terms extending over an 11-month period. Pittsburgh students are now in the third trimester of the academic year 1962-63. The first trimester started last Sept. 5 and ran to Dec. 20; the second opened Jan. 3 and closed April 20. The current term which began April 29 will end August 9. Helen B. Shaffer, writing in Editorial Research Reports, states:

> "Summer school is not new in American education, but the programs now being developed in numerous colleges and universities are a far cry from the traditional summer offerings. In the past, summer on the campus usually meant one or two make-up courses for students who had failed or had missed a required credit or it meant special courses for school teachers or others not attending the regular sessions. The important innovation today in colleges operating the year around is that the summer term forms an integral part of the academic calendar. It includes a full range of basic courses and affords regular students the same opportunities to obtain credits toward a degree as are afforded during other terms.
> "The main impetus for adoption of year-round college schedules is economic. Raising the money to build the facilities that would be needed under the present system to accommodate all those who will soon be seeking admission to college would be enormously difficult.
> "It has been estimated that if all American colleges went on an 11-month schedule, around $5 billion could be knocked off the $10 billion that would otherwise be required for plant expansion in the next 10 years.
> "The year-round calendar has made particularly strong headway in tax-supported institutions, which are under pressure to demonstrate to state legislatures that they are making efficient use of their facilities. Florida in 1961 became the first state to require by statute that its university system operate on a year-round basis; the trimester plan was put into effect at four univeralties in that state last September. New York is launching experimental all-year programs this summer at three state institutions which are experiencing heavy enrollment pressures. The University of Michigan will launch a transitional program next September that is to lead to all-year operation."

The article points out that interest in the extended academic calendar is not limited to the large tax-supported universities. Some small colleges, wishing to remain small, are hoping that through year-round operation they will be able to take care of a 33 to 50 percent increase in the student body without enlarging the physical plant.

A major advantage for the student in college education can be completed in summer study, she points out, is that the slightly less than three years. Students, of course, may extend the time to a longer period.

This experiment deserves serious consideration here in Minnesota. There may come a time when even our state, rich as it is, may find it desirable to economize a little here and there. Even if it meant a saving of only 20 or 30 million dollars a year, it might still be worth while. With a little effort we could find other ways of wasting those millions.

Another Academy?

We are not favorably impressed with the administration proposal that we establish another national academy, this one to be known as the National Academy of Foreign Affairs. This would be a postgraduate institution, devoted to "advanced professional training, education, and research in the vast and intricate field of American foreign affairs."

There very definitely is a need for upgrading in the qualifications of those who represent us in the foreign service. The first step in that upgrading should be to take the foreign service out of partisan politics, and encourage competant young Americans to enter that service as a field in which advancement would be related, to some extent at least, to merit.

Our past records in this field have not been good. Appointments have been passed out as rewards for financial contributions or partisan support.

Because they have had more experience, the British, we think, have developed a better system. Their foreign service is built on a career basis, and advancement is related to proven qualifications. That is as it should be.

By the time a young Britisher moves up to the point where he is considered for an important assignment, he has served in various capacities in many countries, and has been evaluated for his sound judgment on many occasions.

What we need is a new program for public service, divorced from partisan politics, and dedicated to better understanding, under the leadership of officials who are both informed and experienced in the field of diplomacy.

We Are Skeptical

The Russians have done it again, so they tell us. Sensational new records have been established in manned space flights. The Russians told us so. We are sure that much of what they have told us is true. But they have not proven that all of what they have told us is true. Is there justification for some skepticism as to the truth, the whole truth, of what they have told us? We think there is.

As far as we know they have not made public any of the details of their manned spaceship operations. The statements that have been made have been vague. They have revealed very little factual information about their space program, even withholding the names of the scientists who direct that program. The man who designed the Vostok spaceships is referred to in the Soviet press merely as the "chief designer."

Our skepticism is strengthened a little by an experience of our own, a flight to the moon and back. We haven't mentioned this journey and wouldn't refer to it now except that it helps to explain our skepticism.

The trip was comparatively uneventful but exciting nevertheless as we zoomed upward off the launching pad and into space. Far above us we saw the target we were shooting at, and below the flat earth became round and small.

As we approached the moon the position of the ship was reversed and pointed toward the earth. We now were backing down toward the moon and as we came close to the surface the power was turned on and, after a pause, we started the return flight. That too was uneventful but I am sure we were all happy as we neared the earth again. There ahead of us was the North American continent and presently we were back safely with the ship parked accurately on the launching pad in Disneyland, ready to haul another load of passengers to the moon and back at a ridiculously low price.

Like all of the other marvels in Disney's wonderland this moon trip was well done, the photography, along with sound effects, being realistic enough to give us the sensation of being rocketed through space and returning in what probably was less than a half an hour.

What Disney has done others can do, and it would not be impossible to put a man into a space capsule where he might experience all of the sensations of flight for long periods of time without getting off he ground.

We are sure it could be done. The Russians would not resort to such trickery, of course, that is unless the trickery would serve some special purpose.

So we remain skeptical, and we probably will continue to be skeptical until the Russians invite the world to watch their performance; watch the launching of their manned spaceship and watch the landing of that spaceship and the safe return of the astronaut to earth.

TOTAL PERFORMANCE:
IF YOU KNEW WHAT THIS "CAR KILLER" KNOWS...YOU'D BE DRIVING A SOLID, SILENT SUPER TORQUE FORD
This steel-edged pothole is probably the world's toughest test of a car's suspension. We drive into this car killer at 30 mph, locking our brakes as we go so the wheels can't roll through the hole as they normally would. The car slams against the far edge of the hole with such impact that it literally bounds out.
If you added up the cumulative effect of all the jars and jolts your car's suspension system experiences in years of normal driving, it wouldn't match the impact of one trip through the hole. Yet—a Ford must run this test three times to prove its strength.
How can a Ford take it? Because Ford's front suspension has extra beef in spindles, springs, suspension arms—in fact, it's about 20 pounds heavier than the front suspension of our principal competitor's car.
We don't expect you to abuse your car the way we do our test cars. But, however you drive, you'll welcome the extra strength of a total performance Ford. Ford strength is tested in a thousand ways in Ford's laboratories and proving grounds—and in open competition in the world's toughest rallies and stock car events.
Look at Ford's astounding record in open competition this year in the grueling Daytona, Riverside, and Atlanta 500's, the World 600 at Charlotte, N.C., and in the demanding Pure Oil Performance Trials. Only a car with total performance—the best combination of strength, balance, precision control and road-clinging suspension—could roll up so many wins.
Before you buy any new car, test-drive the solid, silent Super Torque Ford. If you haven't driven one lately, you can't really know what a new Ford is like. Make this important discovery: If it's built by Ford, it's built for performance...total performance.

Robert Steitz, 17, Is Drowning Victim

Drowning claimed the life of 17-year-old Robert Steitz of rural Red Lake Falls on Sunday afternoon as he was swimming in a gravel pit two miles south and one mile west of Plummer. His death was the third by drowning in the immediate area in the last three weeks.

According to Gerald Hinze, Red Lake county sheriff, the Steitz youth was at the gravel pit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Steitz of rt. 4, Red Lake Falls. His father and another companion attempted to rescue him but were not successful. The drowning occurred about 3:15 p. m. and the body was recovered at 4:20 p.m.

Sheriff Hinze said the pit is known as the Gilbertson pit and is spring-fed, making the water quite cold. He said the water was about 12 feet deep where the drowning ocurred and about 20 feet deep at the other end of the pool. Red Lake Falls and Plummer fire departments used two boats to recover the body.

Robert Timothy Steitz was born May 21, 1946, at Alameda, Calif., and moved to River township northeast of Red Lake Falls in 1949. He attended grade school at St. Hilaire and had completed his junior year at Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls. He was a member of the radio club and German club at the local school, a member of St. John's Lutheran church at Red Lake Falls and treasurer of the Crookston Zone Walther League.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. from St. John's Lutheran church in Red Lake Falls with Rev. John D. Rolf officiating. Interment will be made in the Oak Grove cemetary at Red Lake Falls. The body will lie in state after 3 p.m. Tuesday at the Petterson Funeral Home in Red Lake Falls and at the church one hour before time of services.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Steitz; three sisters, Mrs. Merlin (Judith) Carlson, Plummer; Mrs. Frank (Margaret) Ehling, Chicago; and Cathline, at home; his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Steitz, Richmond, Calif.; and two nephews.

United Fund In County Is Below 1962 Estimates

Official completion of the Pennington County United Fund was announced today by Richard Bjorkman, fund drive chairman. Pledges are still being collected, however, and all persons who have not paid their pledges are encouraged to do so as soon as possible.

Total cash and pledges collected during the campaign were $14,312.15 or about 81 per cent of the $17,619.50 quota. Request for an allocation of $1,100 for the Minnesota Society for Crippled Children and Adults was withdrawn by the society. As a result, other organizations participating received nearly 87 per cent of their budget allocations.

Bjorkman stated that the $14,312 collected included $434.50 from 12 out of 23 townships in Pennington county which contributed toward the campaign.

Special Crop Tour Will Be Held Tuesday

Pinto Beans, Mustard Onions, Cabbage and New Varieties Seen

Three farms will be included on a tour of specialty crops to be conducted Tuesday, acording to Paul Stelmaschuk, Pennington county agricultural agent. Dr. Harley Otto, extension agronomist at the University of Minnesota, will accompany the group on tour and review research data on the crops.

Persons on the tour will meet at 2 p. m. Tuesday on the Richard Dvorak farm located one mile west of St. Hilaire, just south of the blacktopped road. Pinto beans, used for human consumption and grown under contract, will be viewed as well as Garland Oats and Larker barley, two new crop varieties.

At 2:35 p. m. the tour will stop at the Edgar Naplin farm eight miles west of St. Hilaire and one and one-half miles south. Tame mustard, also grown under contract, will be the subject of interest there. Certified Climax Timothy will be examined at another field.

Third and final stop on the tour will be the Mosbeck Brothers farm which is located one-half mile south and two miles west of the Naplin farm. The farm has 100 acres of Arrowhead and Mennonite sunflowers as well as fields of onions, cabbage and newly-seeded rutabagas. A number of women are expected to be interested in the vegetable production.

To Discuss Practices

At all three stops on the tour, farmers will discuss production practices for the various crops. Included in the discussions will be seed bed preparation, seed treatment, time and rate of seeding, fertilizations, weed control and time and method of harvest.

Also aired on the tour will be the costs of production and the possible income which farmers may derive from specialty crop production. All farmers are urged to take part in the tour, view the crops and receive information so that they may better decide if they want to grow these crops in the future or expand present acreages, Stelmaschuk stated.

Report Given on Clearing of River Channel

State Makes Grant of $20,000 for Work on the Thief River

Representatives of organizations interested in channel improvement for the Thief River met at the court house Friday afternoon to hear reports on legislation passed in the recent session authorizing an expenditure of $20,000 for clearing and snagging of the channel from Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge to the mouth of the river.

Authors of the bill were Senators Donald Sinclair of Stephen and Harveydale Maruska of Angus and Representatives Richard Fitzsimons of Argyle and Andrew Skaar of Thief River Falls.

Representative Skaar explained the bill, stating that the operaton would be conducted under the direction of the comissioner of the department of conservation. The money would be made available over a period of two years.

Senator Sinclair reported on a recent visit with Sidney Frellson, head of the division of waters of the conservation department, who probably will be responsible for the planning of the program. Sinclair stated that Frellson had indicated that he would like to visit the area and meet with representatives of local organizations and public officials interested in the overall problem in the near future.

It was decided that an invitation should be extended to the department officials, inviting them to inspect the watershed and attend a meeting to be held here at their convenience.

D. H. Stewart, engineer for the city of Thief River Falls, explained the city's interest in the channel improvement and the city's project that is in the making for the dredging of the channels of the Red Lake and Thief rivers above the dam. He suggested that ~~the problems should be considered~~ jointly to the extent that the overall program might be coordinated in whatever efforts are made to secure special financial assistance from other state and federal agencies.

Represented at the meeting were the Thief River Watershed Development association, the planning commission of the city of Thief River Falls, and the Red Lake River Drainage and Conservancy District.

At the suggestion of Julian Rodahl, president of the Thief River Watershed Development association, the group authorized a letter to be sent to each of the sponsors of the appropriation bill, expressing the appreciation of the comunity for their interest.

Resolution from Council Requests Tax Equalization

One portion of a resolution adopted by the Thief River Falls city council at its adjourned meeting last week was inadvertently omitted in the news story concerning the meeting. The resolution was in regard to referring six petitions for tax abatement to the Pennington county board of commissioners without recomendation.

The resolution also states, "Be it further resolved that the City Council request the Pennington County board of commissioners to make such arrangements throughout the county."

A resolution was also adopted by the council, recognizing the situation of North Central Airlines in taking a cut in federal subsidy, and stating that increased fares which might be made necessary by the reduction in government payment would result in fewer passengers using the line.

New Postal Plan

ZIP Code System In Effect Today

Effective today, July 1, the much-publicized ZIP code system will go into effect in the nation's postal system. Claimed to be a revolutionary new system of improved mail dispatch and delivery the ZIP code system is expected to speed mail deliveries and reduce the chance of mis-sent mail.

Thief River Falls will serve as sectional center under the program, according to R. J. Dryden, local postmaster. As a sectional center it will serve 53 affiliate post offices within the immediate area.

In announcing the ZIP code numbers for affiliate post offices, Dryden stressed the importance of each citizen learning the zone number for his community and using that number in the return address of all correspondence. In answering mail, ZIP code numbers taken from return addresses on incoming mail should be used.

"The ZIP code is literally the last word in mail addressing," Dryden said. "The code number should follow the city and state in addresses." He added that when the national ZIP code plan is in full swing, it will provide the United States with the most modern system of mail distribution and dispatch in existence, cutting as much as 24 hours off the time between mail deposits and deliveries and greatly reducing the chance of mis-sent letters.

Local Number

In Thief River Falls the ZIP code number will be 56701, the postmaster said. Mail addressed to Thief River Falls should include, in order, the name of the recipient, street address or rural route, city and state and ZIP code number.

Communities served by this sectional center and the numbers for each are as follows: Thief River Falls, 56701; Alvarado, 56710; Angle Inlet, 56711; Angus, 56712; Argyle, 56713; Badger, 56714; Brooks, 56715; Crookston, 56716; Gentilly, 56717; Donaldson, 56720; East Grand Forks, 56721; Euclid, 56722; Fisher, 56723; Gatzke, 56724; Goodridge, 56725; Greenbush, 56726; Grygla, 56727; Hallock, 56728; Halma, 56729; Holt, 56730;

Northern Blood Bank Seeks New Members

Additional members for the Northern Blood Bank association are being sought during the month of July, according to Douglas Kemmer, president of the local association. Northern Blood Bank is operated in cooperation with Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls and is affiliated with the War Memorial Blood Bank in Minneapolis.

Through a $1 membership and a pledge to donate blood upon call by the blood bank, individuals are assured of receiving blood for transfusions when needed nearly anywhere in the United States. Non-members of blood banks are often required to pay $35 or more per pint for blood they need due to accident or illness.

"Membership will provide free blood whenever and wherever needed for your wife or husband, regardless of age, your grandparents and your parents if over 60 years of age and all children under 18 years of age dependant upon you," Kemmer said. "There is a service fee which must be paid for each transfusion to cover the cost of handling and giving the blood to the patient, but blood itself is available free of charge."

Assistance with the membership campaign for the blood bank is being provided by the Mrs. Jaycees chapter in Thief River Falls. Mrs. Keith Spindler is committee chairman and will organize a membership sale from a booth at the Pennington county fair July 8 - 11 in Thief River Falls.

The $1 membership fee entitles the purchaser to life membership in the blood bank association. Passing the age of 60 or otherwise becoming ineligible to be a donor does not end a member's insurance in the blood bank. Kemmer added. Once a person has been a member he is assured of benefits for life. Only by moving to another community where he is no longer available as a donor to the local bank is a member no longer eligible.

Through its affiliation with the War Memorial Blood Bank in Minneapolis, the local association can ship un-used blood for credit or processing into plasma. By so doing, the association can build up a surplus so that whole blood and-or plasma can be made available to the association in the event a large amount of blood is needed.

Further information on membership and the advantages of joining the association will be discussed in later editions of the Times.

John Solem Exchanges Vows with Martha Webb

First Covenant Church of Minneapolis was the scene of the recent wedding of Martha Webb of Owatonna and John Solem of Grygla. The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Paul Fryling.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Albert Webb of Owatonna, and the late Albert Webb, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Solem of Grygla.

Gordon Alquist was at the organ for a prelude of nuptial music as ushers Joyce Verpland and Robert Busho seated the guests.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a ballerina length gown with a white rose-point lace bodice and a softly-pleated skirt of satin. Her veil of French illusion was arranged from a crown of seed and teardrop pearls and she carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Joyce Solem, sister of the groom, was the personal attendant to the bride, Mrs. Richard Larson, another sister of the groom, was matron of honor. She wore a blue chiffon dress designed with a bell-shaped skirt. She wore a feathered headband of beige, to match her gloves, and carried a lace basket with pink roses and white daisies.

A reception supper followed at the Fireside Rice Bowl in Minneapolis. The three-tiered bridal cake was decorated with pink and white roses and topped with a bridal pair in miniature.

Guests were in attendance from Owatonna, Minneapolis, Grygla, Ellendale, Thief River Falls, and from Pekin, N. D.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

MRS. H. PAUL WENDT

A rather unusual custard coffee cake, traceable at least as far back as the childhood of Mrs. Wendt's mother-in-law, whom she says was known as a cook of great excellence, is the featured recipe today. It is in the tradition of German and Scandinavian rich desserts, but the Wendts like it at breakfast or brunch too, and today's homemaker suggests it as something well-suited for coffee parties, even those held in the morning hours . . . (if you are an early-riser, presumably, as it does take a bit of time).

CUSTARD COFFEE CAKE

1 pkg. active dry or compressed yeast
¼ cup lukewarm water
¼ cup milk, scalded
3 tablespoons shortening
3 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 beaten egg
½ teaspoon vanilla
3 cups sifted enriched flour

Soften yeast in the water. Set aside. Combine milk, shortening, sugar and salt, and cool to lukewarm. Add softened yeast. Add egg and vanilla and part of the flour. Beat well. Add remaining flour, to make a smooth, soft dough. Turn out on a well flowered surface and knead lightly. Form into ball and place in greased bowl to rise. Turn once, to coat dough with grease. Cover. Let stand in warm place until double in bulk. Press dough into a well-greased, 9x13 inch cake pan, pushing dough about 1 inch up along the sides of the pan to make a place for the filling. Be sure that there are no holes in the dough for the filling to leak through.

Have peeled, cored, and quite thinly sliced about 6 apples. Press apple slices firmly into the dough, rounded edge down. Make about four rows, distributing apple slices evenly over the dough. Over this, pour the following mixture, which has been well beaten:

½ pint cream
½ cup sugar

Sprinkle a mixture of sugar and cinnamon over all, to suit your family's taste. Bake at 375 degrees until edges of dough are brown.

This is usually served warm, but will be palatable served the following day also it is kept covered.

Mrs. Wendt is a doctor's wife, husband J. Paul being affiliated with Falls-Starekow clinic here. They have four children, Paula, 13; Pamela, 12; Jeffrey, 8, and Tracy, 1½. The demands of life as a doctor's wife, with a family of this size, keeps Mrs. Wendt fairly busy, of course. She has been golfing most summers, but this year has been too busy at home. She rates swimming, bridge and gardening (both of the flower and vegetable variety), and bridge, among her hobbies. The family enjoys going picnicking along the lake in their camper-trailer and the parents are ardent fishermen and both also hunt geese, ducks, pheasants, and other small game.

Miss Mary Jo Froehle, who has visited here for some time at the home of her parents, the Harold Froehles, and has recently been in Minneapolis, returned here for a visit this weekend. She and a girl-friend are leaving soon for Los Angeles, Calif.

Tuesday luncheon guests at the Henry Nabben home were Mr. and Mrs. Chester Erickson of Spokane, Wash., Mr. and Mrs. Victor Nabben, Arlette and Donna, of Niagara, N. D., Mrs. Martha Nabben and Percy of Thief River Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. Manvel Moe.

The Library Corner

by Virginia Gjernes

A town without access to library facilities would be as an oasis in the Sahara without a palm tree! It just wouldn't be much of a town in this day and age, would it? There is such unlimited information and recreation to be bound in volumes and placed upon shelves, isn't there? Take history, for instance. . for every year passed, another year of history is made and another two pounds of paper become a history book.

One Minnesota village of 2,500 citizens felt the lack of reading material to such an extend that the good people decided to do something about it. . .and they did! They built a library costing $123,000 and they couldn't be more proud of their accomplishment. Even though they are not booking passage to the moon, they are most certainly making the earth a better place from which to be.

The townspeople of New Prague actually began their library back in 1959 when they were permitted to have a weekly two-hour stop by a bookmobile made available through the Dakota and Scott Counties regional library (the first in the Minnesota system, by the way). When 1960 rolled around, the New Prague first branch library was opened—in the cool comfort of a grocery store basement and about two months later it was almost lost—in a spring flood!

The next move was to an abandoned bakery shop! The citizens of New Prague were reading, true, but being proud folks, they wanted something a little better than the deserted home of a dough factory (and even though in this case half a loaf was better than none—they did want the whole loaf!) So they started sniffing around, and eventually their salvation turned out to be a grant from the Western Foundation (International Milling Co.). The only catch was—citizens had to show they really wanted the library!

So, what else could they do but prove it! It just so happens the mayor of the community was related to the librarian and liked books besides—so, what with a bit of talk and then a bit more of same, two veterans' organizations decided to show their gratitude (as well as their interest in community affairs) and so the first two donations amounting to $18,000 were received. The city council thereupon showed their interest in the community's welfare and donated a corner of the park for the site. Construction began.

And the most amazing part of this true tale, is that since New Prague residents built the edifice, circulation of library material has doubled!

What's that a sign of? Could it be charming, restful, attractive quarters look so inviting readers can't resist the temptation to become more knowledgeable? Could it be the residents have always enjoyed reading but make-shift 'half-a-loaf' quarters didn't do a thing to whet their appetites? Or, has the new building created an interest in learning and knowing where none existed before? It isn't likely the latter is the answer, is it?

Well, good TRF citizens, a new library isn't a likelihood for you within the next month or two or three or more! But, far-sighted citizens serving as library board members started a building fund a goodly time ago—and slowly (but very slowly) it increases annually. Gifts, bequests, donations and county funds so designated all add up on the black side of the ledger! Monies received are guarded zealously by the library board and the hope for more goes on! Eventually, perhaps sooner than we dare to hope, our town will be graced by a new library housing the volumes now squeezed into our half-century old landmark—because sooner or later our citizens are going to realize the necessity of "doing something—anything!" for the town, for the students, for the businessmen, for the housewives, for the children, for the people—all the people.

Gifts of books, and the newest acquisition, the stack, the gift from the Friends of the Library (which is now adorned with a plaque showing the donor organization) are welcomed and eagerly and gratefully accepted by the board. The gratitude of the board knows no boundary, but unfortunately the walls of the library do, and by next fall the generosity (in the form of book stacks) of the Friends, still will be appreciated but will be outgrown and once again shelves will be crowded and books, of necessity, will be piled high both here and there in a never-ending effort to constantly bring the best reading material available to the good people of Thief River Falls. Naturally, all books and the newly-acquired equipment are purchased carefully and with that same "eye-to-the-future" so all can be used in the new library—whichever generation fulfills that need!

Business is better than ever at your library—69 new registrations during the month of June!

Missouri Synod Program Heard in Finland Telecast

"This Is The Life," a half hour television drama produced by The Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod, is now being telecast over three stations in Finland.

The pictures are shown exactly as they are produced in the United States except that instead of a sound track a carefully prepared series of subtitles is used in a fashion similar to the technique in the days of the silent movies.

St. John Lutheran Church is the local congregation of The Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod, sponsoring "This Is the Life" through its mission efforts and funds.

Activity Begins On Pipeline Project

Construction Firm To Headquarter Here for Portion of Building

Personnel from Mannix Construction company's division office in Minneapolis are in Thief River Falls this week to direct the looping of several sections of oil transmission line for Lakehead Pipeline company. The firm expects to employ about 280 men in the project of trenching and laying pipe, according to V. J. Worchester, superintendent.

A critical need for the company is space for housing of many workers on the line who do not have mobile homes, Worcester said. Most commercial housing has been taken and rooms or apartments in private homes will be needed. Any persons having a room or rooms available for rent is encouraged to call the Mannix office at 681-4414.

Four 10-mile sections of line will be looped while the company operates out of Thief River Falls. The line loops will be made northwest of Donaldson, northwest of Viking, northwest of Plummer and northwest of Clearbrook. The 34-inch pipe will be laid alongside the existing line.

Looping of the line enables the company to gain increased capacity without building an entire new line, Worcester stated. With more line capacity, more pressure can be used in pumping and the flow of oil through the line can be increased.

Pipe sections will vary from 40 to 45 feet in length and will be buried with a cover of from 30 to 36 inches of earth. The Mannix company will be located at Thief River Falls into August and then will move the base of operations to Bemidji. The firm has a contract for looping 65 miles of line for Lakehead in the United States.

EQUIPMENT from Mannix Construction company arrived in Thief River Falls last week in preparation for looping of the Lakehead Pipeline company line which crosses Pennington county. In the above photo, some of the equipment has been lined up at headquarters in the old mill yard near the city water plant. V. J. Worcester, superintendent for the project, is shown at center in the above photo indicating where some of the equipment is to be placed. Thief River Falls will serve as headquarters for the company for more than a month while work is in progress in this area. Operating from division headquarters in Minneapolis, the Mannix company has the contract for looping 65 miles of line in the United States this summer.

Employment Service Seeks Jobs for Youth

Frank T. Starkey, commissioner of the state department of employment security, today pledged the efforts of all 33 state public employment offices in a move to back up Governor Rolvaag's proclamation initiating the "Jobs For Youth" drive in Minnesota, part of a nationwide campaign to find employment for jobless youth under 21.

State employers and householders are being urged to consider every possibility in helping to solve the acute problem of insufficient jobs for the vast number of youth reaching employable age.

"In cooperation with Governor Rolvaag's program through his State Youth Council, the State Employment Service is working to improve the employment potential of the unemployed youth of our state," said Starkey. "Their active and continuing campaign, in cooperation with management and labor groups, educators, PTA's, civic, religious, fraternal and veterans' organizations, is only one part of a many-pronged effort to help solve employment problems of all state jobseekkers," he said.

Starkey emphasized that the "Jobs For Youth" drive is in no way intended to corral jobs which might otherwise be filled by competent heads of families, handicapped persons, veterans, or any other qualified job seeker. He stressed that it has been proved that youth are ready and willing to do many jobs at the entry or experience level which might otherwise not be attractive to other age and interest groups.

The seriousness of the growing shortage of qualified workers in many occupations makes it imperative that employable young men and women under 21 be considered today to fill the current and predicted gaps in the work force. Starkey called on all Minnesota employers to consider the part they might play in helping to alleviate a nationwide problem—youth, ready to work, but with no place to go—a problem that has been termed "America's social dynamite."

The commissioner advised employers who are seeking young workers, and the young job seekers themselves, to contact their local public employment offices for employment assistance.

Schedule Ready for County Fair July 8-9-10-11

details of county fair participation will be discussed.

4-H Entries Increase

County 4-H participation this year is expected to surpass last year's record number of exhibits and demonstrations, according to the county extension office. The style revue will be held Tuesday in the Thief River Falls city auditorium with the public dress revue to be held at 8 p. m. At that time the county style princess will be selected and her attendants named.

Again this year the county fair will operate with a free outside gate and a charge of 25 cents will be made for auto parking on the grounds. William T. Collins Shows will be on the midway with a large carnival, several new rides and many of the old favorites.

Ray Oen, president of the Pennington County Fair Association, Inc., has stated that every effort is being made to keep costs in line and guarantee a successful operation without sacrificing high quality of past years.

Specialty Crop Tour Tuesday To Show New Crops

1,000 acres of specialty crops this year, the county agent added. Specialty crops may fit many farms in the area and the tour is designed to explore these possibilities and to provide practical information on which to base decisions.

Dr. Harley Otto has been an extension agronomist at the University of Minnesota since early in 1958. In cooperation with other university specialists, he works on field crops problems and improved practices with county agents and farmers in the state. He is a former assistant professor of plant breeding and an extension specialist in field crops at Cornell University in New York.

Ringing of Bells July 4 Sought by Legion Auxiliary

A "Let Freedom Ring" project, calling for the ringing of school, church and other bells throughout the nation simultaneously on the Fourth of July, is being promoted in Thief River Falls by the local Legion auxiliary. The bells are expected to ring here at 1 p. m. on the Fourth.

The plan also calls for every radio station to broadcast the sound of bells for two minutes, followed by a reading from the Declaration of Independence.

The sound of the bells, it was announced, will come as a thrilling reminder of what the Fourth stands for, challenging each of us to remember the heroic resolution of the men who pledged their lives 187 years ago.

At the Robert Wiseth home, members saw the hog projects of Vicky, Vance and Valerie Wiseth. At the Clarence Peters home, we saw Edythe's clothing project and Galen and Marvin Peters' hog projects. From there, members went to the Lloyd Wiseth farm to see Bryan Wiseth's lamb. At the Earl Peterson home the tour members saw Ronni and Donnie Wilkens projects on home yard improvement.

Laurie Sue Wilkens has snacks and little lunches as a project. From Petersons the tour continued to the Roy Wiseth home to Terry Wiseth's lamb project. Concluding stop was the Lynn Hanson home where dinner was served. After dinner the leaders helped the members with their project records.

Dr. Goodrich To Open Practice of Dentistry Today

Dr. Donald Goodridge, 1963 graduate of the University of Minnesota School of Dentistry, will open his dental practice in Thief River Falls today. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Goodrich of Warren and a 1956 graduate of Warren high school.

Dr. Goodrich will be located at 214 LaBree av. N. where he will share the business office and reception room of Dr. Edward Nelson but will be engaged in private practice. The business office is located above Lieberman's Clothing.

Dr. Goodrich and his wife Ruth have four children, Mark, 6; Stephen, 5; Kathy, 2; and Ann, 6 weeks. The family has purchased the former Dr. Nelson home at 108 Spruce av. N. and Dr. Nelson has moved his family into a new house.

July 4th Holiday Trouble Date for State Motorists

Careful Driving Urged as Highway Patrol Gets Set for Four-day Weekend

"Minnesota highways will be loaded this July 4 holiday with drivers who want to get away from it all — and if they aren't careful they won't live to come back at all," warns Garnet E. Hall, state highway safety director.

"Judging from past experience, thousands of summer vacationers now on our highways and any others preparing for the coming holiday will suffer pain and grief from traffic accidents. Some families will be broken and an otherwise happy time will be turned into a time of mourning.

"The tragedies brought on by the heavy travel of this holiday can be avoided. Each driver need only to refuse to be a part of it," Hall said. "And he can do this by making certain that he knows his car, the highway and himself, and drives carefully.

"All Minnesota highway patrol officers will be on duty throughout the four-day holiday, and local and county enforcement officers can be expected to pay special attention to traffic. However, enforcement in itself is not enough and, with the demands of heavier traffic of the Fourth, an extra effort must be put forth from another source for complete protection.

"The extra effort must come from the individual driver. Each driver must take upon himself to have his vehicle in top operating condition, and to adhere strictly to all traffic laws and safe driving rules. For safety's sake, journeys must be planned ahead allowing time for leisurely travel. Packing of cars and trailers should be done so that boxes, fishing rods and other items don't suddenly become unguided missles.

"A careless act can cost you at least a ticket, possible loss of drivers licence, even your life," Hall said.

Take Action after Plea by City Health Officer

Acting on the recommendation of Dr. H. Paul Wendt, city health officer, the Lions club at its luncheon meeting last Wednesday voted to support a proposal that a swimming pool be built in Thief River Falls to replace the Tindolph Park pool in the Red Lake river, which was the scene of a drowning mishap June 23.

Dr. Wendt cited objections to the Tindolph pool, including high bacterial count in the water, the swift current and the presence in the area of speeding motorboats, a source of potential danger to swimmers.

Clifton J. Mattson, highway patrol officer stationed in Thief River Falls, completed the luncheon program by showing a motion picture depicting examples of the carnage wrought on the nation's highways through failure of motorists to heed traffic regulations. The film was produced by the Ohio highway patrol. Mattson was introduced by Eugene Nesland, program chairman.

Police Check On Three Accidents

Hit-and-Run Mishap Happens On Tuesday

Three accidents with citations being issued or with damage totaling $50 or more were investigated by Thief River Falls police during the past week. One hit-and-run mishap was included in the cases and is still under investigation.

The hit-and-run accident was reported Wednesday evening by Gilford Llan, city, who stated that his car had been struck the previous day while parked on Fourth street. The right rear fender and a chrome strip were damaged to the extent of about $40.

On Friday a car driven by James Peter Sabol of rt. 1, Warren, was traveling east on Seventh street about 1:05 a. m. when it crossed Atlantic avenue and crashed into a woven wire fence around the Texaco bulk station. Seventh street is a deadend at Atlantic avenue. About $50 estimated damage was done to the fence and none to the car. Sabol was charged with careless driving.

On the same day a car driven by Marc R. Pream, city, and owned by Donald Pream, was pulling out of a parking place on Main avenue when the right corner of the windshield struck the protruding tail gate of a double-parked truck. Damage was estimated at $150.

Fourth of July Celebrations at Area Villages

Middle River and Plummer are among area communities holding Fourth of July celebrations this year. Lions club members and Middle River businessmen have banded together for the celebration in that community.

Opening event in Middle River will be a parade at 11 a.m. with a small-fry baseball game at 1 p.m. and a league baseball game between Middle River and Gatzke to be played at 2:30 p.m. Foot races and other contests for the youngsters will be held at 7 p.m. on main street while a fireworks display is set for the evening. A dance at the village hall will also be held.

Plummer will have festivities beginning at 1 p. m. with a parade opening the activities. A junior league baseball game will be played at 3 p.m., a dance held at 9 p.m. and a large fireworks display in the evening.

With the exception of an evening dance, the July Fourth celebration at Highlanding will be canceled this year.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

On Tuesday, July 2, approximately 150 4-H girls will hold a county 4-H dress revue and will be modeling dresses that they created. This is open to any interested people. The public revue will be held at 8:30 p. m. in the city auditorium. See you all there.

When muggy summer weather sets in, beware of mildew! Mildew can damage clothing, shoes, books, and even wood in hot, humid weather.

Molds causing mildew flourish wherever it is damp and warm in poorly aired and poorly lighted rooms — in cellars and closets, on draperies and rugs in basement recreation rooms, on shower curtains, and on damp clothes rolled up for ironing. As molds grow, they discolor fabrics and sometimes cause them to rot. They also cause wood to decay and discolor leather and paper. A musty odor is often the sign of mildew.

Keep clothing and storage places clean. Clean garments before storing them. Keep closets, dresser drawers and basements as clean as possible. Soil on articles can supply enough food for mildew to start growing when moisture and temperature are right.

Keep rooms and clothes aired and dry. Good ventilation is important to remove moisture caused by cooking, laundering and bathing. Ventilate the house when outside air is drier than inside air. Run an electric fan in places that can't be exposed to outdoor breezes.

Hang garments so air circulates around them. Store shoes and suit cases on shelves off the floor. Mechanical dehumidifiers will get rid of dampness in the air but should be used with doors and windows closed.

Get rid of musty odors. They probably indicate mold growth. Anti-mildew sprays containing a chemical to stop growth of molds are effective in removing mustiness from closets.

Never let clothing or linens lie around damp or wet. Dry soiled clothing and damp towels before putting them into the laundry hamper. Spread out wet shower curtains. Sprinkle for ironing only as many articles as you can iron in a day. And be sure to dry all clothing wet by rain or perspiration before hanging it in a closet.

Baudette Airport Hit Hard Tuesday by Tornadic Wind

New Concrete Hangar Is Demolished and Several Airplanes Badly Damaged

The giant hands of a series of electrical storms were laid violently on Lake of the Woods county Tuesday, and there is strong evidence of tornado activity accompanying the violence, which began shortly after dawn and continued intermittently throughout the day, reports the Baudette Region.

Torrential rain, hail and hurricane force winds diminished further the already gloomy crop prospects, interrupted power service, uprooted trees, damaged or destroyed several farm buildings, and wreaked havoc at Baudette International airport.

The most spectacular evidence of the violence is at the airport, where the Lake of the Woods Flying Service hangar of reinforced concrete was virtually demolished and three aircraft housed in it were heavily damaged. A fourth aircraft, which was on the parking apron and not tied down, was also extensively damaged.

The hangar was only a year old, having been erected after its predecessor was destroyed in a similar manner in 1962. And one of the aircraft, a piper PA-18, was rebuilt after having been destroyed by wind about a year ago.

Most extensively damaged on Tuesday was a two-place Piper float aircraft, which airport manager George Lore said he had within the last few days made arrangements to sell. A four-place Navion was lightly damaged.

Ulseth Attends Music Institute

Skaar Appointed To Commission

Representative Andrew Skaar of rural Thief River Falls has been appointed to the Highway Interim Commission by L. L. Duxbury, speaker of the House of Representatives for the 63rd Legislative session. Duxbury noted in making the appointment that . . . "there are not enough appointments involved to enable every member of the House to serve on a commission or comitee." The commission will gather information and make recommendations for the 1965 Legislative session.

Mercury Hits 88 at Airport Friday

The mercury at the Thief River Falls airport reached the 87-degree mark Thursday, Saturday and Sunday afternoons, although the heat was relieved Sunday by low humidity. The week's high of 88 was recorded Friday. Minimum temperatures ranged from 71 Saturday to 57 this morning.

Legion Jrs. Take 2 Games, Lose 1

Coach Ralph Skay's junior baseball team closed out last week's schedule by scoring a 4 to 3 win over the Fertile juniors in a game played at Fertile on Friday night. On Wednesday evening, in a game played here, and which was called in the sixth inning, the locals defeated the Fosston juniors, 11 to 1. On Thursday evening, playing at Middle River in a Northwest league encounter, the locals took an 18 to 10 lacing from coach Jerry Snyder's free-swinging Middle River club.

The locals will play three games this week, and all on the Fair Grounds diamond. On Monday night, tonight, at 8:00 p. m., the Grand Forks juniors will provide the opposition. On Tuesday evening, at 6:30 p. m., coach Jerry Furuseth will ring his Lake Bronson juniors here for a Northwest league game. And on Friday evening, with game time at 6:00 p. m., the Warren juniors will be here for a Northwest league tilt.

Thursday evening's game at Middle River found coach Snyder's team gaining an 11 to 2 lead in the first three innings of play, starter John Aune off the mound in the second inning, clubbing out three doubles and a single; and continuing the onslaught on Tony Poole, reaching his slants for eight hits, including a home run by Rick Anderson. Middle River held a lopsided 18 to 4 lead entering the seventh inning when the locals reached a tiring Rick Anderson for five hits, plus three walks, to score six runs.

On Friday night, in a game that turned into a pitcher's duel between Fertile's Rod Olson and the locals' Jack Leedahl, coach Skay's team notched a well-earned 4 to 3 win over coach Chuck Johnson's highly-rated Fertile juniors. Leedahl gave up but four hits, including a second-inning home run by Don Mosher, while the locals tagged Olson for five hits. Olson whiffed seventeen batsmen, but two of these strikeouts reached first base. John Aune swung at a high inside pitch for a third strike and reached first when the ball scooted to the backstop; and Dave Erickson, later in the inning, also reached first base when his strikeout pitch went past the catcher.

All of the game's scoring was crammed into the first three innings. From the fourth inning on, both pitchers hurled no-hit and no-run ball.

SLOW PITCHES

— by —

Bill Herzog

The week's softball action ended with all of the favored teams coming through with wins. It all started with V. F. W. belting Hartz 11-4. Hartz put a real scare into the Vets when Dennis Bakke uncorked a grand-slam home run in the first inning. The threat was short-lived, however, as Wally Grovum settled down and blanked Hartz for the next six innings.

Wednesday found Bridgeman's whipping the National Guard 14-3. "Old Folks" Bobby Carlson got the win but he needed relief help from Larry Gilbertson in the sixth. "Doc" Carlson hurled for the Guard, and I'd have to say it wasn't his night. . . again.

Thursday brought about a double header with Hamm's rapping out 13 hits and beating Western Oil 12-1. Milt Releerson again hurled fine ball, striking out nine Western batsmen.

In the week's finale, Hartz ran over Rasmussen Insurance 13-5.

Bridgeman's still leads the league with a 5-1 record with the Vets hot on their heels in second place with a 4-1 record.

The first round is coming to a rapid close and in the second round a new team will be added. Forsberg and Sons, Inc., will be the sponsor and they will make up any games they have missed so far which will make them eligible for the play-offs.

Still need much help on the new softball field. Anyone desiring to lend a hand should call Kenny Taylor for details.

Sure would be fun to see an all-Star team picked and invite and All-Star team from one of the near-by towns in for a game. I'm sure an All-Star team from this league could more than hold their own against any All-Star team around.

Occupational Hazards

Fertile's Arlo Brunsberg, perhaps the brightest prospect among the boys from northwestern Minnesota who are making bids for major league baseball careers, became the victim of the occupational hazard of being catcher when he suffered a broken finger. Arlo, catching for the Knoxville team of the Sally league, a Detroit Tigers farm club, broke a bone in his right hand on June 12. In this game, which found the Knoxville team defeating Macon, Arlo was catching the slants of Frank Lary. Lary, you will recall, is the Detroit Tigers' pitcher who was sent down to Knoxville in an effort to remedy an arm ailment.

Arlo had been doing a stellar job with the Knoxville club, and from the conversations that I had with several of Arlo's friends in Fertile last week, I learned that he, Arlo, believed that he would make the grade. It is unfortunate that he suffered this injury, which will sideline the popular catcher for six weeks or two months.

Another of the area's baseball boys who is apparently moving in the right direction is Ada's Ken Weber. The current issue of the "Sporting News" reveals that Weber, pitching for the Reno club in the Class A California league, has a mark of four wins and no losses. Weber, a slender right-hander, has been in eight games, has struck out 15 batsmen, and has an earned run mark of 0.41.

Attention: Horseshoe Pitchers

Received a note from Will Gullickson of the Fargo Forum which carried the information that the Red River Valley Open Horseshoe tournament will be held at the Oak Grove Park courts in Fargo, N. D., on Saturday and Sunday, July 6 and 7.

Will states that qualifying scores, with each entry throwing 100 shoes, are to be marked up not later than July 6 at 2:00 p. m. A $1.00 entry fee for each qualifying round will be charged; and a $3.00 fee for tournament play.

There will be eight classes of competition, with eight contestants in each class. The A, B, and C classes, competing in 50-point games, will start at 10:00 a. m. on July 7. The D, E, and F classes, 40-point games, will begin play at 2:00 p. m. on July 6.

There are a number of capable horseshoe pitchers in this area, and if they have any inquiries they can write to Will Gullickson, Fargo Forum, Fargo, N. D.

What Size Ball?

All the commotion, and noise, that was generated at the golf club on Friday was caused by Russ Embury, who, playing in a foursome with Justus Larson, Jim Helgeson, and Dick Stal, scored an eagle ace on the par three fourth hole.

Russ used a number seven iron off the tee, and his tee shot was in the cup all the way. This was a shot that will be heard all over northwestern Minnesota — that is, if Russ' voice holds out, and it will. Just one question: what size ball was used?

Oh yes, the card was signed by Justus, Jim, and Dick, so it is acceptable for the club's historical archives.

A Matter for Arbitration

The non-commissioned members of the Bjorkman's Clothing golf squad — Joe Mrkonich, Al Adams, Terry Donovan, and Curt Charlson — have presented a petition to the team's captain, coach, and sponsor, Dick Bjorkman, requesting that the squad be outfitted with golfing jackets. The matter is being given consideration, but Dick doesn't believe that the boys merit jackets until they win the league championship. He believes that in keeping the boys "hungry", better results will be evident on the scoreboard. The team is currently in fourth place, three strokes of the pace.

The team members believe that if they are presented with jackets, the team spirit will be greatly increased, and the boys will be charging up and down the fairways. Well, it's an interesting controversy.

ARA Aids Study Of Wild Rice On Indian Property

$18,000 Project Aimed At More Employment for Reservation People

To determine the potential of expanding wild rice production and processing on Indian reservations in Minnesota and Wisconsin, a feasibility study will be undertaken, according to the United States Department of Commerce.

The study will determine if it is feasible to use wild rice production to increase employment and income on the Indian reservations, of Red Lake, White Earth and Nett Lake in Minnesota and Bad River and Mole Lake in Wisconsin. A favorable report could help an estimated 1,000 reservation residents, the commerce department states.

Total cost of the project will be approximately $18,000. The Area Redevelopment Administration will provide about $17,000 and the Bureau of Indian Affairs of the U. S. Department of the Interior will provide about $1,000 in special services. The Bureau will administer the funds and negotiate a contract with the University of Minnesota to conduct the study.

The 12-month project will include a survey of current crop production and processing facilities to determine potential for expansion with cost estimates for expansion if feasible.

Farm Safety Week to Be Noted July 21-27

Minnesota's variable record in farm and farm home accidents will come under scrutiny during Farm Safety Week, July 21-27, according to Glenn Prickett, extension safety specialist at the University of Minnesota.

After a steady decline during the 1950's, the number of farm work fatalities spurted upward in 1960 and '61. The trend so far in 1963 suggests that the toll this year will be above the low level of 37 in 1957.

Total number of farm work fatalities since the low point was 48 in 1958, 65 in 1960, 63 in 1961, and 48 in 1962. Ten such fatalities were recorded between January and April of 1963, which is higher for that period than for any previous year since 1959.

Farm home fatalities, on the other hand, have tended to show a downward trend in the past five years. Such fatalities totaled 111 in 1958, 95 in 1960, and 90 in 1962.

Prickett suggests that farm home fatalities seem to follow the downward trend in rural population. Farm work accidents, however, are probably related to several other factors — such as the increased use of machinery and seasonal weather conditions which result in more haste by farmers.

Tractors and other power machinery continue to be the most important single cause of farm work fatalities. As an example, Prickett points to some accidental death reports from April of this year. One farm worker in Traverse and one in Mahnomen County were killed when tractors tipped backwards. A Marshall County woman was run over and killed by a tractor. Similar accidents killed men in Fillmore and Blue Earth Counties. And a Clearwater County farmer was killed when his tractor tipped over while he was trying to free it from being stuck in the mud.

Other causes of death include falls, fires, drowning, plane accidents, farm motor vehicles, and falling objects. A Fillmore County farmer was killed in an accident with work horses.

Farm children are subject to a variety of dangers. Of 46 farm deaths involving persons 14 years and under in 1962, 12 involved tractors and other machinery. Nine were drowning accidents, eight resulted from suffocation, four involved firearms, and the rest were due to house fires and other causes.

Prickett says one key to reduction of farm and home accidents is awareness of the problems, the potential dangers, and ways to lessen these dangers. These points are stressed by theme of National Farm Safety Week, which is "Inspection plus Correction equals Protection."

National Farm Safety Week is sponsored jointly by the National Safety Council, the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and other educational agencies such as the University of Minnesota. It is endorsed by all leading farm organizations.

Rep. Fitzsimons Gets State Award from 4-H Leaders

Argyle Man Is Honored for Longtime Service to the 4-H Club Movement

Richard Fitzsimons, state representative and adult leader of Argyle Hustlers 4-H club, received the state 4-H alumni award Thursday evening, June 27 at the state 4-H junior leadership conference in St. Paul. On November 3, 1962, Fitzsimons received the Marshall county alumni award at the annual awards and leaders' banquet.

He was a charter member of the Argyle Hustlers club which was organized in 1935 by his parents. He was enrolled in 4-H for 8 years. He is now a life-time leader of the Argyle Hustlers club and this is his 19th consecutive year of leadership, beginning as an adult leader upon graduation from 4-H.

He has been president, vice president, and secretary-treasurer of the Marshall County 4-H Federation. He has been a member of the executive committee for nine years, and served on three county 4-H Building committees. He also served on year as part-time county 4-H club agent.

Mr. Fitzsimons sums up the value of 4-H to him by stating "4-H was the biggest single factor in making me become interested in all facets of community life that I have been active in."

Other 4-H alumni to receive the award are Mrs. Albert Sarver, Ada, the former Marion Parbst of Thief River Falls; Mrs. Charles Bishop, Wells; and Clifton Paulson, Aitkin.

FEATURED in the Buss Carson western show at the Pennington Co. fair on Wednesday, July 10, will be "Merrill" and "Mildew," the rope-jumping Dalmation dogs. In the above photo they are shown jumping rope together while a longer rope is also being turned around them. Direct from Hollywood, Calif., the Buss Carson western show will feature trained palomino horses and other animal acts and will be presented in the afternoon and evening.

STUNTMEN with the Crash Dick Auto Daredevils thrill show will compete in car-rolling competition at the Pennington county fair on Opening day, Monday, July 8. "Our ramp roll-over is not just a roll for count or tally, but is designed to demonstrate control of a vehicle off its wheels and, of course, to destroy the car," Crash Dick states. "Spectators often share anxious moments with us while we extricate a trapped stuntman from one of these unreinforced old junker cars."

Trees Planted on State-owned Land

11,500,000 Seedlings Have Been Planted Past Year

During the past twelve months, approximately 11½ million tree seedlings have been planted on state-owned forest land, the conservation department's forestry division announced this week.

Most of the seedlings were planted on lands designated as state forests and with the aim of providing multiple use benefits such as timber, game cover, water storage and recreation.

The number of trees planted is an all time record for the state and exceeds previous years by 4 million. The planting effort is particularly significant, say foresters, since many of the planting sites required extensive preparation such as brush clearing and furrowing.

Easier sites have been largely planted during past years leaving the most difficult areas until now.

State forestry officials anticipate good survival among the young trees this year since the seedlings were strong and healthy, site preparation was thorough and weather conditions have been excellent.

Altogether some 10,000 acres were planted in the 23 counties included in this year's program.

Cool Spring Hit 1963 Production of young Walleyes

Abnormally cool weather in early May probably had a harmful effect on production of young walleyes this year, according to C. R. Burrows, fisheries research supervisor of the Minnesota Conservation Department.

In the Tamarack river, near Waskish on Red Lake where walleye egg incubation and survival was being studied, water temperatures fell to 39 degrees F.—considerably below the best temperature ob about 55 degrees F.

Abnormally cold water temperature of about 55 degrees F. harmful effects. Egg incubation is prolonged and fry that are hatched are weak. Also, the crop of tiny food animals which the young walleyes must eat is apt to be sparse. The walleye fry must have an abundance of the proper kinds of microscopic food animals as soon as they hatch or they will not survive.

Former Resident Is Impressed by Progress in City

Wallace A. Watson of Duluth, and a former Thief River Falls citizen, was a weekend visitor in the city, renewing his acquaintance with several old timers in the community. This was his first visit to the city since he left here in 1918, and he marvelled at the development both in the rural area and in the city during that period of time.

He came to Thief River Falls originally in 1911, being employed as a travelling salesman for the Thief River Grocery. He stated that he was the first travelling man to cover the territory by car, most of the travelling being by train at that time. He became a member of the Masonic lodge here and has maintained his membership in the local lodge. It was lodge business that brought him here now.

In his 80th year, he drove here from Duluth.

Bigfork River to Attract Tourists

Koochiching County Area Has Scenic Attractions

For the first time, the outstanding boating, fishing and other recreational opportunities available on the Bigfork river are being brought to public notice.

The Big Falls, Minnesota, Commercial club has published a booklet of float trip maps showing the campsites, landings, rapids, portages and other features of the river from Craigville north to the Canadian border where the Bigfork joins the Rainy river.

Craigville is located near the southern boundary of Koochiching county.

The maps also show in detail the roads, access points, historic sites and favored fishing spots on the river. The river contains good populations of muskies, walleyes, northern, sturgeon and other fish species.

The Bigfork flows through one of the most heavily forested and uninhabited areas of the state. Considered one of Minnesota's most beautiful rivers by those acquainted with it, the Bigfork has been largely ignored by canoeists and tourist fishermen until recently.

The maps and other information can be obtained at a cost of one dollar each by writing the Big Falls Commercial Club.

Billboard Battle

The State of New York is now in the process of removing billboards that are in the prohibited zones of its Interstate Highways. New York is one of the states that took advantage of the Federal Aid Highway Act of 1961, which provides that states which adequately regulate billboards along the new Interstate system will receive a bonus of one-half to one percent in addition to the 90 percent the federal government normally pays in the construction of these roads.

Notice had been given to the billboard owners; the notice had been upheld by the court, but the owners had taken no steps to comply, and 58 signboards were flattened by turnpike crews. And while this was being done in New York, Governor Richard J. Hughes of neighboring New Jersey, signed into law a provision applying the same restriction along the federal system of highways in that state.

New Jersey was a year late. Minnesota will be three years late if the next legislature acts favorably on this program. By that time Minnesota will have lost $6 million in federal road dollars. How stupid can we be?

Availability of Food

One of the speakers at the World Food Congress, held recently in Washington for the purpose of providing food for the hungry, was Princess Aline, wife of Souvanna Phouma, neautralist premier of Loas. She said:

> "Since we have come together here to make the world aware of .. .suffering from hunger, you will understand me if I ask you to condemn those who throw fish back into the sea because they will not bring a good price and those who destroy their crops because the vegetables will not sell."

We are sure the princess meant well when she made this statement, but like so many well-meaning people who have easy solutions for our problems, she obviously didn't know what she was talking about. Most of us will agree that food is wasted shamefuly, and that if the world supply were distributed equally there would be few hungry people.

But getting equitable distribution is not an easy matter. And geting that distribution would be much more costly than the value of the food itself. What we waste in our country probably would feed millions. But getting that wasted food to the people who need it, properly preserved, would cost billions. Maybe the billions should be spent but let's get the facts straight.

Unemployed Youth

Providing employment for our young people has become one of our major social problems. Young, unskilled workers are finding it increasingly difficult to find jobs.

The editor of the Delano Eagle remembers when young people were employed because they were employable. Delano is a town of less than 2,000 population, located in the metropolitan area, and the Delano Eagle has been an important institution in that community over a period of many years. The following observations by the editor of the Eagle point up one of the main reasons why it is becoming increasingly difficult for young people to find jobs.

> "Our little printing plant has trained and put into industry at least 50 skilled craftsmen. . .In a matter of three or four years the young man acquired the training which made it possible for him to go out in the industry and get a job as a printer or pressman, and that training not only cost him nothing, it also allowed him to earn a small amount while he was learning.
> "But then we had federal and state wage and hour laws foisted on us. It became a violation of federal law to pay a worker less than the minimum wage, and that minimum was higher than an employer could afford to pay an untrained worker. Later apprenticeship programs were worked out; but these are so ensnarled in red tape and the wage structures are so unrealistic as to make them practically worthless.
> "We believe most of the 700,000 unskilled and untrained youth could be put to work in industry if industry were allowed to operate its own training program.

Forth and Back in Cycles

Premier Duff Roblin of the Province of Manitoba, in a recent address, urged a sharper division between the authority of the Dominion and the provinces in such matters as taxation and general financial relations. It would mean curbs on the federal authority and jurisdiction and greater responsibility at the provincial level. Discussing this proposal the Winnipeg Tribune states:

> "This stand is generally in line with that taken by Mr. Pearson at Quebec City in November, 1961. Mr. Pearson's stand constituted a radical departure from the policies followed by Liberal governments from 1945 to 1957. Its essential element was that Ottawa should not contribute to provincial programs after these programs had been well established. Thus several of the Dominion-provincial cost-sharing programs — presumably included hospitals and unemployment releif — could be abandoned immediately. The provinces would be compensated by "more leeway in the field of direct taxation" and increased unconditional payments from Ottawa."

Canada may develop a system of government more like a confederation of independent provinces than we would ever have here south of the border. In our country the trend definitely is toward a strong centralized government and weaker governments at the state and local levels. We wish it could be otherwise.

The better possibilities for stronger state and local governments in Canada are due mainly to the fast that the province of Quebec, still a French colony in spirit, resents Dominion control that is predominantly English. And Quebec is in a strong bargaining position.

There is little liklihood that the trend toward strong central government at both the state and federal levels will be reversed in our country. More and more, it appears, we are going to have government from the top down, and more and more that government from the top down is going to be controlled by big-city political machines. We move forward and backward in cycles. At the present time we are not going forward.

Canadians Fight On

The Pearson government in Canada seems to be off to a bad start. In the election campaign Pearson critizicized the Diefenbaker government because it was anti-American. Now his government is being accused, by Canadians and Americans, of being more anti-American than the government it replaced.

The explosion came when Finance Minister Gordon offered his budget, which included several drastic measures that had not been mentioned in the campaign speeches. It seems that Mr. Gordon, in preparing his program for solving Canada's economic ills the easy way, had been guided by the same variety of economists who have contributed so much to the confusion in Washington.

Most controversial items in the budget seem to be an 11 per cent sales tax on building materials and a tax on sales of Canadian stocks to foreign investors. The proposed sales tax on building meterials angered all Canadians who would pay the tax and also all of the Canadians who sell building materials or who are builders, including organized labor.

Unhappy with the proposed tax on stock sales to foreigners, as a means of keeping out foreign investment were mainly industrial leaders who recognized the need for foreign capital in the development of Canada's vast natural resources.

The argument north of the border is extremely bitter and there is little liklihood of an early resumption of peace and good will. From our side of the line the generally cautious New York Times had this to say:

> "Waving the flag of nationalism will not accelerate Canada's development. For though Canada is independent, its growth is intimately connected with the course of the American economy. Its new discriminatory measures appear calculated to alienate and disrupt this relationship with adverse effects for Canada. American firms already established in Canada cannot move their plants, but they may be less inclined to continue reinvesting their profits; and prospective investors cannot be expected to risk their capital if they are placed at a disadvantage."

Borrowed Nonsense . . . Getting Along

(Eveleth News)

Sooner or later, a man, if he is wise, discovers that business life is a mixture of good days and bad, victory and defeat, give and take.

He learns that it doesn't pay to be a sensitive soul — that he should let some things go over his head like water off a duck's back.

He learns that all men have burnt toast for breakfast now and then and that he should not take the other fellow's grouch too seriously.

He learns that most of the other fellows are as ambitious as he is, that they have brains that are as good as or even better, and that hard work and not cleverness is the secret of success.

He learns that no man ever got to first base alone and that it is only through cooperative effort that we move on to better things.

He learns that the folks are not any harder to get along with in one place than another, and that "getting along" depends about 98 per cent on his own behavior.

Educational Opportunity

(Art Suel in New Prague Times)

Racial tensions erupting into violence in many sections of the country are part of the inevitable evolution toward equal rights for all citizens regardless of race, color or creed.

While it is virtually impossible to legislate tolerance, understanding and the spirit of Christian charity into the minds and hearts of men, nevertheless civil rights legislation is a landmark guiding toward the recognition and establishment of equal rights guaranteed under the Constitution.

While there is an acutal shortage of skilled labor, unemployment among the Negro population is alarmingly high.

Quick opportunity for education, particularly in the skilled and technical trades, would serve to take the aspiring young Negro out of the ranks of the freedom marchers and into the corps of productive workers in gainful, self-respecting occupations.

Meanwhile the rabble-rousing extremists on both sides could render service to the cause by restraining their acts and utterances.

REPORT TO THE PEOPLE

by Governor
KARL ROLVAAG

This past week I had the honor to be host at a luncheon for traffic safety officials and news media representatives. The purpose of the meeting was to thank those who receive all too little thanks for their public service efforts, the public officials and reporters and editors who lie awake nights trying to discover a way to make our citizens more traffic safety conscious.

Growing Pressures

I don't believe that there is a person in Minnesota who isn't aware of the terrible toll our highways are taking this year. The questions are, what is responsible, and what can we do about it? The records show that in the past ten years drivers license registrations have increased by 51 per cent. During the same period, registration of passenger vehicles has increased by 39 per cent and bus and truck registrations have increased by 38 per cent. In other words there have been growing pressures on the use of our highways over the past ten years. More cars and more drivers are using approximately the same number of miles of highway that we had ten years ago.

Holidays are Dangerous

While our highways are much better constructed and improved than they were ten years ago, heavy traffic can make them much more dangerous. Holiday traffic, if not carefully regulated, can make a trip lethal. Comparison of accidents occurring on say, the 4th of July, 1962, with the rest of the year indicates just how dangerous conditions can become. Illegal or unsafe speed accounted for 11.7 per cent of accidents during 1962. Yet, over the 4th of July holiday last year, these same violations caused 16 per cent of all accidents—a significant and distressing increase.

Location A Factor

Over the last 4th of July holiday period, there were a total of 204 accidents reported with 11 lives lost. Of this terrible toll, 67.6 per cent of the accidents octured in urban areas, 16.6 per cent on state highways, and 15.6 per cent on other roads and highways. There are similar statistics to indicate that the most dangerous areas over a holiday period can be our cities and towns. Accidents resulting in property damage and personal injuries during the last 4th of July holiday were also higher in urban areas. From these reports it would seem clear that local law enforcement officers must be particularly watchful during peak holiday traffic periods.

Stay At Home?

I suppose that there are many Minnesotans who read the papers, see the accident reports, and would like to return to the so-called good old days. Those are the times when the family holiday consisted of happy picnicking and unhurried fun. But we must live in our time and in our day. Our beautiful Minnesota is meant to be enjoyed and there is much to be seen and done here to make our lives richer and fuller. This cannot, for most of us, be accomplished unless we venture from our firesides and television sets. Obviously, the solution to traffic safety lies not in turning back the clock, but in coming to terms with our present needs.

Look Within Ourselves

I believe that if we look within ourselves we shall find that which will aid us in reducing our dreadful traffic toll. I believe that most citizens have a desire to do something about this problem, and desire is half the battle. Let us pledge to kindle that desire and transmit that desire to our children and friends. Let's make a pledge that this holiday and all those to follow will be happy holidays for ourselves, our families and our friends. Let's resolve to drive safely and act as brothers to our fellow drivers on the highways of Minnesota.

It's Our Problem

The problem of traffic safety is our problem. We create it, and we must solve it. If we are to make travel in Minnesta an unrestricted pleasure, we must vow not to play a role in traffic trouble. We must see to it that our vehicles are in safe condition, and that we don't drive under the influence, that we do obey all traffic and safe driving rules. This holiday, put your lights on for safety to show that you care.

AS A DIRECT RESULT OF TRAGEDY a week ago, a number of community citizens have expressed concern over the hazards of the Tindolph park swimming pool and stated that attempts should be made to provide a concrete pool. At the present time an organization is being formed to investigate the possibilities of such a pool.

There can be no denying that such a pool would be a nice edition to the facilities which the community has to offer its own and visiting citizens. It could be the center attraction for a park and picnic area—much as the present river pool is now. It could also be, now or at some future date, enclosed to permit year-around use.

A multitude of factors will have to be considered before such a project is undertaken. The first will be the amount of community interest in such a project — especially after the memory of the river drowning is not quite so sharp. If interest is sufficient, consideration will have to be given to the type of pool and its cost. These items must be in relation to needs of the community and ability to pay for the construction of an adequate pool.

When the interest, need and cost have been determined, it would be logical to consider how the project would be financed and operated. Would there be a municipal sale of bonds and a city operation (if a bond election could be carried) under the park-recreation board? Would the entire construction cost have to be raised by private subscription of cash and pledges and the pool operated and administrated by a separate organization?

Then there is the question of where it should be located. Any decision here would almost certainly be wrong in the eyes of people favoring other sites. The ambitious people advocating the pool will certainly have a big job of planning, organization and selling ahead of them. With moderate taste and an open ear for suggestions, they stand a very good chance of being successful. The question is, after all, a real matter of life and death.

I must pass on the comment of a local citizen in regard to the city police department. Last Tuesday when the electric power to the city failed, traffic lights were not functioning. The citizen who called said he would like to have the patrolman at LaBree avenue and Third street commended for an excellent job of traffic direction. Just one of the many services of our boys in blue.

Received a letter intended for public opinion last week. Since it was not signed, we couldn't use it. The letter expressed concern over a skating rink being knee-high in weeds and the hauling of wrecked cars and other debris there. Don't know which rink was in question, but it sounds like something which could stand a little home cure from whoever is responsible.

Questions Answered On Area Blood Bank

In cooperation with the Thief River Falls Mrs. Jaycees chapter, the Northern Blood Bank association is now conducting a membership campaign to increase the number of participants in the program. The blood bank is operated by Northwestern hospital and the association is headed by Douglas Kemmer, chairman.

Some of the questions asked about the blood bank association are listed below, together with answers which should help clarify the aims and purposes of the association:

Q: What is it? A: A group of public-spirited citizens banded together on a non-profit basis to provide a much-needed community service;

Q: What is its purpose? A: To furnish the residents of this area a much-needed service in providing for the donation of blood whenever needed;

Q: Who may belong? A: Any normally healthy person between the ages of 18 and 60 whose blood is acceptable for transfusions;

Q: What must I do to belong? A: Fill out a membership blank and submit it with a dollar to the Northern Blood Bank association, leave it at the Northwestern hospital or give it to any authorized representative of the Northern Blood Bank association;

Q: Is that all I must do? A: One thing more— in order to remain a member you must donate blood at the Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls when requested to do so by the association;

Q: How often must I donate blood? A: Normally not more than about every two years. As a matter of information, a person may not donate more often than every three months;

Q: Do I get a membership card? A: Yes, upon receipt of your application, you will receive a membership card;

Q: May I still be a member if I do not come within the age limits, or if my blood is not acceptable? A: Yes, by filling out a membership blank, paying the fee and arranging for someone whose blood is acceptable to donate when it is your turn;

Q: Does my membership take effect at once and does this give me protection only at Thief River Falls? A: You are not eligible to the benefits until 30 days after receipt of your application blank and until your blood has been typed. This protection is given anywhere in the United States due to affiliation with other blood banks;

Q: How do I benefit by being a member? A: Membership will provide free blood whenever and wherever needed for your wife or husband, regardless of age, your grandparents and your parents if over 60 years of age and all children under 18 years of age dependent upon you. If you were not a member you would have to pay $35 or more for every pint of blood received, or else replace it two pints for one. There is a service fee which must be paid for each transfusion. This fee is to cover the cost of handling and giving the blood to the patient.

Q: Must I pay the dollar every year? A: No, the initial dollar fee covers you membership for life and as long as you meet the requirements of the association.

Further information may be obtained by visiting the Northern Blood Bank booth at the Pennington county fair next week. Memberships in the association will also be available there.

Holt Rural Route To Be Dissolved Effective July 6

Effective Saturday, July 6, the Holt rural mail route will go out of existence. Half of the route will be annexed to Newfolden route one and half to Middle River.

Acording to Clarence Cook, Newfolden postmaster, Orville Larson will be the carrier on route one following the death of John Dyrud. Larson was formerly carrier on the Holt route. About 43 boxes are added to Newfolden route one, these being located primarily northwest of Holt. The Middle River route addition will be primarily northeast of Holt.

Highway 1 East Closed To Traffic

Area residents planning to attend festivities at Red Lake during the Fourth of July weekend are warned by the Minnesota highway department that highway 1 through the reservation is absolutely impassable. Ervin Pearson, engineer for the Thief River Falls division, stated that the best route to the reservation is through Grygla.

Cars attempting to travel highway 1 against the warning signs have been getting stuck every day, Pearson said, causing inconvenience to both the drivers and construction workers who have been forced to pull out the vehicles.

Rotarians Tour Valley Home for Monday Program

Rev. Alfred Larson, Superintendent, Speaks On Operation of Home

Rev. Alfred Larson, superintendent of Valley Home, was guest speaker at the noon meeting of the Thief River Falls Rotary club on Monday and reviewed the operation of the new home for the aged. Following the talk and adjournment of the meeting, members of the club toured the new building on the south edge of the city.

Residents began using the home on June 7 with 38 people now in residence, Rev. Larson said. Additional residents are being accomodated nearly every day, he added, and it is expected that the home's 67-bed capacity will be filled in the next month or six weeks.

The 67-bed capacity includes two three-bed infirmaries. Fifteen workers are employed by the home in addition to Rev. and Mrs. Larson. Cost of residence is $95 per resident per month in double rooms and $125 per month in single rooms, the superintendent stated. The home also has two-room apartments.

"We had been scheduled to move on June 1," Rev. Larson told the Rotarians, "but the contractor delayed us a week. Our residents wanted to move so bad that we moved before the landscaping was done. This is being done now. One man and wife had tears in their eyes when they saw their room and said they never had it like this before. The residents are really happy with the new building."

J. M. Roche, retiring president of the local club, passed the gavel to Al Bacon, incoming president. Bacon presented Roche with a past president's pin and compliments of the club for his efforts during the past year.

Crazy Day Plans Considered Here

Multitude of Activities Programmed for July 26

Further plans for the Crazy Day Carnival to be sponsored on July 26 by the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce were made at a committee meeting held Tuesday morning. An intensified Crazy Day will be held in the city this year with a one-day event being planned.

Opening the activity will be a parade at 9 a. m. which will feature the Thief River Falls German band, Bridgeman Half-pints and competition among youngsters for cash prizes. At 9:30 a. m. the sidewalk sale will begin and continue all day until 9 a. m.

Adding to the carnival atmosphere will be a roped-off area on LaBree avenue between Second and Third streets where a number of activities will be staged. Among those events currently arranged are a concert by the city band at 7:30 p. m., square dance and street dance from 8 p. m. until 9 p. m. on the street and after 9 p. m. in the city auditorium. Stanley Pladson and Richard Bjorkman are co-chairmen for the event.

Drivers Urged to Use Lights on 4th

Keep Them on in Daytime, Safety Chief Requests

"Switch on your 'Lights For Safety' during holiday driving as a reminder to others to use common sense and caution of the road over the long July 4th weekend," Garnet E. Hall, Minnesota highway safety director, urged today.

"In recognition of the fact that each motorist has a responsibility in motoring to watch out for himself and others, Governor Karl F. Rolvaag has asked all motorists to cooperate with the holiday "Lights On For Safety" program."

Hall went on to point out that such "shining reminders" cannot do the entire job of keeping travel safe; that drivers must make full use of their skills and knowledge.

"Prior to starting your holiday trip, check out lighting systems and mechanical features. Plan ahead to avoid needless hurry or fatigue. Your family as well as many others will be depending on you to be at your best when on the crowded roadways," Hall said.

Accidents don't just happen, they are caused.

New Speed Limit Law Is in Effect in State

Enactment of a new speed law by the recent legislature will require a number of adjustments by motorists and the state highway department.

First of all, the statutory daytime speed limit has been raised from 60 to 65 miles per hour and the nighttime limit from 50 to 55 miles per hour unless otherwise designated or unless special hazards exist, these speeds will be lawful, but any speeds in excess of such limits shall be prima facie evidence that the speed is not reasonable or prudent and that it is unlawful.

Secondly, the commissioner of highways is empowered to have studies conducted and traffic investigations made to determine if greater or lesser speeds are reasonable or safe on portions of any trunk highway. He may then do one of two things:

1. Erect appropriate signs designating such speed limits, and any speed in excess of these limits shall be prima facie evidence that the speed is not reasonable or prudent and that it is unlawful, or

2. Erect appropriate signs showing the beginning and end of the zone he has determined should be a zone of "maximum" speed. Speed in excess of such determined limits shall be unlawful. The boundaries of such zones and the maximum speeds may be altered, or the zones eliminated when future studies support such action.

Posted speed limits in urban districts are always maximum speeds and any speed in excess of statutory or posted speeds is unlawful.

Establishment of minimum speeds is also provided for in the newly-enacted legislation. Such minimum limits shall be established following engineering and traffic studies. Appropriate signs will be posted, with any speeds below the posted minimum prima facie evidence that the speed is not reasonable or prudent and that it is unlawful.

Chief application of minimum speed limits will be on Interstate highways or other freeways.

Changing the presently posted speed limits will be made by the Department in the very near future as studies are completed. In the meantime, present absolute zones are to be considered as zones of maximum speed limits.

Guests at the Carl Gulrud home are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Simenson, Bobby and Billy, of Minneapolis.

Sheriff Warns Against Use of Firecrackers

Consequences of the use of firecrackers can be quite harsh, warns Charles Richards, Pennington county sheriff and past president of the county safety council. This seasonal menace to health and safety has again been noted this year.

Sheriff Richards warns that the use of firecrackers is both dangerous and illegal and that violators of the law are subject to prosecution. One defendant appeared in municipal court in Thief River Falls last week and was fined $25 for discharging firecrackers in a public place.

The flash and noise of firecrackers may seem like fun, Sheriff Richards said, but the loss of sight, hearing and fingers or burns firecrackers can cause do not warrant the risk.

Cherie Ydstie Becomes Bride of Jerome L. Sabo

In a mid-June wedding at Immanuel Lutheran church of Plummer, Miss Cherie Ydstie of Plummer became the bride of Jerome L. Sabo of rural Newfolden. Rev. Milton Grorud prompted the vows, using the double-ring service.

Miss Bonnie Holik, Newfolden, played the wedding march at the organ. She was also the accompanist for soloist Miss Sharon Nelson of Newfolden.

Giving the bride in marriage was her brother-in-law, Gary Grove. The bride's attire was a white ballerina-length gown with three-quarter-length sleeves, scalloped neckline, and a fitted bodice which formed a point in front. It featured a very full skirt with lace overskirt. Her fingertip veil was caught to a pearl crown. The bridal bouquet was of dark and light sweetheart roses, white fluted carnations and greenery accents.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Gary Grove, Crookston, a sister of the bride. The other attendant was Mrs. Ferdie Wicklund of South St. Paul, the groom's sister. They wore gowns of ice blue chiffon over blue taffeta, with matching lace jackets. They also wore short veils. Pink sweetheart roses with white carnations and lemon leaves comprised their bouquets.

Flower girl Jane Sabo, Newfolden, was dressed in a gown similar to those worn by the attendants to the bride. Ring-bearer Gary Dean Grove, Crookston; best man, James Sabo, Newfolden, a brother of the groom, and groomsman Ferdie Wicklund, So. St. Paul, all wore white dinner jackets, dark trousers, bow ties, and pink carnation boutonnieres.

Mrs. Ydstie wore a blue dress with pleated skirt, while the dress worn by Mrs. Sabo was of black and white silk jersey in a two-piece style, and accessorized with white. Both had corsages of pink and white carnations.

The mother of the bride gave a reception for the newlyweds in the church parlors. The 5-tier wedding cake was ornamented with two-toned roses and green leaves.

The couple received guests from Oregon, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Grand Forks, N. D., Gonvick, Clearbrook, Trail, Hillsboro, Grafton, Hoople, Cooperstown, N. D. and Hackensack, Minn.

For her travel outfit the bride selected a blue pleated skirt with matching jacket. They honeymooned briefly along the North Shore Drive, and are now at home in Newfolden, where the groom farms in partnership with his father.

Mrs. Sabo is a graduate of the Pershing high school in Plummer, and her husband graduated from the Newfolden high school.

Legis Lative Letter

from ANDREW SKAAR
STATE REPRESENTATIVE

AGRICULTURE REVIEW

In the field of agriculture the 1963 session of the Legislature wrote a substantial record of achievement, especially in the areas of promotion of the state's agricultural products and consumer protection.

What is generally acknowledged to be the most important agriculture measure to be enacted into law is the market promotion bill for the state's "junior agricultural industries." Those industries which include such products as certified eggs, honey, Christmas trees and Minnesota's Park variety of Kentucky blue grass lawn seed, have tremendous potential if the best markets throughout the nation can be located and properly developed.

The purpose of the market promotion bill is to locate these markets and bring information back to Minnesota producers. Processes relative to the needs of consumers in these areas and demands for other new crops which can be raised in the state will be sought. A further objective of the measure is to promote use of the name "Minnesota" in connection with such products as mentioned above.

The Legislature appropriated $10,000 for each of the next two years to enable the state department of agriculture to conduct this market research. While some states spend three to five times this much to promote their agricultural products, it was felt that this was a sensible allocation for the inital research which is a necessary foundation for concentrated promotion in the future.

A second major agricultural bill to be passed by the 1963 Legislature makes Minnesota a pioneer in the "Meat approval" field and provides for increased consumer protection. Under terms of this bill, the state department of agriculture is empowered to grant a "Minnesota-approved" label to processed meats which measure up to established standards.

A processor may request an inspection of his records and plant by the department, and if sanitation requirements are met and nothing but federally - inspected meats are used, his products qualify for the "Minnesota-approved" designation. Minnesota is only the second state to institute such a program, and it is to the credit of the agriculture department that they will conduct the program with their current staff and at no additional cost to the state.

Still another new agricultural law raises the tax paid by the fertilizer industry on all fertilizer sold in the state from five to 10 cents a ton. This tax increase was requested by the industry itself to provide additional laboratory facilities and staff in the Department of Agriculture for closer supervision of fertilizers. The department will closely examine these commodities as to quality and additives used, so that both the farmer and the housewife can be assured of the best and safest products possible.

The final agriculture-related measure which I will mention in this report has to do with control by the agriculture department of forest pests. For a long period of time, the department has had this responsibility, but lacked sufficient funds to properly do the job. The 1963 Legislature provided $35,000 for the next two years to allow the spraying of all state owned lands. This control and prevention program will guarantee that pests such as the spruce bud worm and pine tussoc moth will not destroy one of Minnesota's most valuable natural resources.

Poplar Lath Makes Profit On Albin Chaplinski Farm

by Marvin Lundin
City Editor

On the Albin Chaplinski farm located 13 miles east and one mile north of Middle River, a family operation utilizing area material and good old American ingenuity is enjoying a successful season. This is the poplar lath business.

It was five years ago when Chaplinski started cutting lath for the market. He purchased a saw mill from Enoch Swanson near Thief River Falls and has since remodeled the mill to operate more efficiently. It is driven by a long belt and powered by a farm tractor. A cross-cut saw is also used and the last cut is made on a heavy duty table mill which was purchased from Forsberg & Sons in Thief River Falls and remodeled.

Using chain saws, tractors and a hydraulic loader mounted on a tractor, the Chaplinski family and some hired employees cut poplar and birch trees in the winter. Most of these are obtained from state lands under contract with the Minnesota Department of Conservation at a fixed price for board feet of timber cut. Poplar comprises nearly all of the total with birch being kept separate in most cases.

With the hydraulic loader, 10 tons of logs can be loaded in 20 minutes, Chaplinski said. Last year about three miles of roads were cut to skid timber to a point where it could be loaded on the truck. Logs are hauled to the farm and stacked to dry.

Operation Outlined

In the spring the logs are sawed into boards one and one-half inches thick on the Chaplinski mill and stacked to dry. When orders are received, the boards are cut to length on the cross-cut saw and then made into ⅜-inch lath on the heavy duty table mill.

While 48-inch length is the most popular, other lengths are also provided on special orders. The table mill has been modified so that three blades cut at one time, producing three uniform laths from each pass of the 1½-inch board. A belt-driven feeder, utilizing three gears from a discarded binder and a spring-tension device, has been developed through research on the farm and proves very successful.

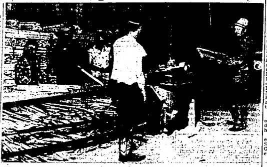
As the lath is cut on the saw, the finished items are stacked and tied in bundles of 50 to await shipment. Chaplinski services about 12 to 15 customers each year, generally sells on a delivered price, and trucks his product as far as 160 miles to a customer in North Dakota.

Laths are generally used in survey work by highway and engineering departments. Since poplar is strong and tough, yet not generally suited to finished lumber, it is almost ideal for lath production. Chaplinski sells his product for about $1.50 per bundle of 50 laths. Last year he cut about 30,000 board feet of lumber and he estimates that between 65 and 70 bundles of lath can be cut from 1,000 board feet of lumber.

For each of the last three years he has shown an increase in his sales volume and he expects to be able to handle still greater volume in years to come. "Lots of places are going out of the lath business because labor costs too much," he said. "I haven't lost any customers, and I have gained a few. I try to give them good lath and my price is lower than they can get other places. If I would put poor lath in a bundle, then that isn't good either."

Based on this attitude and a reputation for honest dealing, Chaplinski has been able to make the sideline business support his family during the past two years when he has had no crop. The Chaplinskis farm 600 acres of which 400 acres normally are in crop, 100 acres in hay and 100 acres in pasture. The lath sawing must be fitted around the regular farm schedule.

The operation is truly a family production line. Assisting Albin are his wife Julia, and sons, Wally 11, Mike 17 and Albin Jr., 24. Both farming and lumber sawing take a back seat when hunting season opens, however. Deer, partridge and grouse are quite common in the area and, as Albin Sr. stated, "I can get pretty enthusiastic when the hunting is good."



SAWING operations at the Albin Chaplinski farm located 13 mi. east and one mile north of Middle River are a family matter. Poplar lumber is cut into laths about 1½ inches wide and ⅜ inch thick and bundled in lots of 50 for shipment to buyers as far as 160 miles away. During the past two years when no crops have been harvested on the 600-acre Chaplinski farm, the sale of laths has been the family's income. Left to right in the photo are Wally, Albin Jr., Mrs. Chaplinski, Mike and Albin Sr. The heavy duty table mill shown above is capable of turning out 25 to 30 bundles of lath per hour.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dearly beloved son and brother, Richard (Ricky) who was taken from our family 5 years ago June 30, 1958:
A ray of sunshine
Has gone from our home,
And a place is vacant today,
And the little boy that we loved so well,
Seems so far away,
But we are trying to live,
Just day by day,
Trusting the Father for light,
Knowing some day, he will be with us again
In the home in the "City of Light".
Sadly missed by Harry Huseth, Shelly, Renae and Sheryll Huseth. 1t53p

Card of Thanks

The family of Rev. Franz L. Larson wishes to express their heartfelt thanks to all who assisted at the time of his death. Thanks to Rev. Arnold Folden for his message of comfort, to the Green Funeral Home for their kindness and service, to Bonnie Dicken for her songs, Jerry Joringdahl for music, and all who gave memorials, flowers and cards. Thanks to the Art Dicken, Joe Solney, and Eldon Larson families for the lunch served after the service. These acts of sympathy and kindness will never be forgotten. May God bless you all. To Dr. Van Rooy and the nurses for the wonderful care given him; to the Green Funeral Home, the pallbearers, to all who sent memorials and to all our friends and neighbors for their kindness shown us. Sisters and brothers, nieces and nephews of Ernest Nelson. 1t53p

Card of Thanks

I am unable with mere words to convey my gratitude to Pastor Steen, Women of Zion, Klewel products Co., and employees, to all my friends, neighbors, relatives, doctors and nurses, for everything they did for me during my illness. Their prayers and kind solicitations will always be remembered. All I can do is pray that God will remember you and bless you. Sylvin Thorson. 1t53p

Card of Thanks

Legion Jrs. Split 2 Tilts This Week

Coach Ralph Skay's Legion junior baseball team boosted their Northwest league record to four wins and three losses on Tuesday evening when, in a game played on the Fair Grounds, they defeated coach Jerry Furuseth's Lake Bronson club, 6 to 3.

The locals will meet coach Jim Oftedahl's Warren juniors at the Fair Grounds diamond on Friday evening, July 5, in a league game. And on Tuesday, July 9, the local club will travel to Roseau for a Northwest league game against coach Don Willey's Roseau squad.

In Tuesday evening's league win here, righthander Rick Jensen survived a shaky first inning during which Lake Bronson rapped out a pair of hits, singles by Frank Vable and Allen Grahn, and took advantage of four bases on balls and an error to score three runs.

The locals picked up a run in the first inning when Don Mathieu was hit by a pitched ball, moved to second on an error, and came around to score on a pair of infield outs. Coach Skay's team knotted the game in the fourth on singles by John Aune, Jack Leedahl, and Tony Poole and a wild pitch by Micky Wold. And three runs in the sixth inning gave the local club their 6 to 3 decision. Leedahl led off with a triple and scored when Poole's long fly to center field was muffed. Jensen whiffed. Dave Erickson walked, and Tommy Cummings followed with a single to center, scoring Poole, and when the ball eluded the fielder, Erickson also tallied.

In an inter-state game played here Monday night, the strong Grand Forks juniors, scoring seven runs in the fourth inning to break up a scoreless dual between the locals' Tony Poole and Grand Forks' Jerry Hebert, defeated the locals, 8 to 0.

In the "big" grand Forks inning, Alex Cooley came up with "crucial" hit of the rally when he drove a fly ball to left-center that just grazed the glove of Don Mathieu as he tried to make a difficult catch. The hit scored Aaron Monson from second and set off the seven-run burst.

The locals collected but four hits off the righthanded slants off Hebert, and only in the fifth did coach Skay's boys manage to get 2 hits in one inning. Jensen opened with a single, Mike Benke popped out to third baseman Cooley, and Cummings lofted a fly ball to second baseman Dick Dehn. Mathieu singled to right field, with Jensen stopping at second. Paul Klungness grounded out, short to first, with Ron Bergh making a fine throw to nab the speedy Klungness at first.

Minimum Speed Is Set for Freeways

Routes In State Will Be Posted In Near Future

One of the more common complaints of the freeway motorist is the danger and obstruction to traffic posed by the slow driver. The design of freeways is such that safety is promoted by all vehicles travelling at the same speed.

Freeways are designed to permit safe and economical travel at relatively high speeds, but as soon as a slow moving vehicle appears, other vehicles are forced to slow down. This becomes a chain reaction that destroys the purpose of the freeways.

For his own benefit and that of others, the slow driver should learn to drive with traffic, not against it. In the near future, the freeway motorist will be required to maintain a posted minimum speed.

The Minnesota legislature at its past session authorized the Minnesota highway department to establish minimum speed limits, with chief application on Interstate highways and other freeways. After engineering and traffic studies, minimum speed limits will be posted on the freeways. It will then be unlawful to travel below the minimum limit, as it is to travel above the maximum speed limit.

Minnesota State Timber Sales Hit $800,000 in 1962

Receipts from the sale of state-owned timber reached $800,585 during the last 12 month period, the conservation department's forestry division reported today.

The receipts from fiscal year 1963 exceeded the previous year by approximately $130,000. Timber sales were made in 32 counties.

Under the sales program, trees on state-owned land are marked for selective cutting by forestry personnel and the timber is harvested in accord with modern forestry practices.

When mature timber is harvested, younger trees are released to grow more rapidly and game habitat is improved.

In addition to the income to the state derived from the sale of the timber, job opportunities and payrolls are increased both in the woods and the processing mills, a Department forestry spokesman pointed out.

They are Eligible

There have been some questions asked about the eligibility of several of the players on the Warroad Legion junior baseball team. Coach Milt Fish's Warroad team is perhaps the finest club in the Northwest junior league, and they will be, along with East Grand Forks, the favorites in the sub-district tournament that will be played at East Grand Forks on July 17 and 18.

But a couple of the boys on the Warroad club are Canadians, and the question was asked whether or not these boys are eligible in American Legion tournament play. The answer is "Yes". Shortstop Allen Kostynk and pitcher Art Blackburde are Canadians, but for all practical purposes they are Warroad residents as they played team and they are employed in Warroad.

Tom Waner, the Ninth District Legion director, received advice from the national director this week that Canadians are eligible to participate in state-side tournaments. There is a qualification, though, and that is that the Canadian birth certificates of these players must be processed through the Bureau of Naturalization. The birth certificates must be verified by the Naturalization department. American players are asked to present birth certificates before they are permitted to participate in tournament play.

I hope that coach Milt Fish can get his Canadian boys through the "paper work" and that Kostynk and Blackburde will be in next week's sub-district tournament. It will be recalled that Blackburde was the luckless southpaw pitcher who, after pitching six innings of no-hit and no-run ball against the Prowlers in a Region Eight tournament game this spring, lost his control in the seventh inning, and lost the game, 4 to 3. It was a heartbreaker for Blackburde, and the Warroad club.

Softball Fireworks

The Fourth of July holiday will get a proper sendoff this year, and all because of the V. F. W. vs. Bridgeman's softball game slated for this evening, Wednesday, at the East Side diamond.

Fireworks, of the cannon cracker and roman-candle type, are barred in Minnesota, but there will be nothing illegal, I hope, with the softball fireworks on tap this evening. The resut of the game, and the odds makers have installed the Vets as favorites, if the weather turns hot and humid. The Vets need a fast field so that they can gain the benefit of their superior infield speed, while the Bridgeman's, who are long on years and short on hair, need cool weather heavy baselines so that the bunions won't pop.

It will be the Vets by a 6 to 4 score.

Joey to Michigan

Joey Poole this week signed a contract to join the Port Huron, Michigan, school system. Joey, since his graduation from the University of North Dakota, where his was a star member of coach Bob May's NCAA hockey champion Sioux, has been employed by Lystad's.

Port Huron has a strong hockey tradition, and Joey is pleased with his acceptance by the school officials. Port Huron does have league hockey, but it is doubtful if Joey will play with the "big" team. But if he does, there is the possibility that he will meet up with brother Jackie, who is at Green Bay, Wis. Joe will be a physical education instructor there and will coach high school hockey.

. . . . . You Can't Win, Sam . . . . .

Lloyd (Sam) Samuelson is learning the hard way that you can't win a bet from Red Thyren unless you have the details of the wager on paper, and notarized.

Last Friday night, during the Twins vs. Washington double-header, Sam and Red made a friendly wager as to the length of time that the opposing pitchers in the second game, the Twins' Katt and the Nats' Cheney would pitch. Sam's wager was that Cheney would leave the game before Katt did, and Red took that wager.

The game, which was won by the Twins, 10 to 3, found Cheney leaving the game in the top of the seventh after pitching to three batsmen. Katt also left the game in the seventh inning, being credited with 6 and one-third innings. Sam maintains, and rightly, that Cheney left the game first. Red made a detailed study of the box score and came up with the argument that the pitchers faced the same number of batsmen, and as a result the bet is a stand-off. You can't win, Sam.

MEA Chief Suggests Longer School Year

By Dr. Irvamne Applegate, Pres., Minnesota Education Association

Schools are lonesome places in the summer. Expensive libraries, laboratories, shops and other classrooms stand idle waiting to be used.

Closing schools for two or three months of the year seems to contradict the fact that there is so much more to be learned and so many more skills to be developed.

In addition, responsibilities formerly in the home or met by social agencies are being place upon the school.

The nine-month school year was adopted at a time when young people were needed to help on the farm. Today only one-eighteenth of our labor force works on the farm.

What would be the advantages of having a longer school year—or of having school all year?

There would be time for students to learn the many things there is not time for now. The explosion of knowledge is a familiar concept—there is more to learn about other peoples of the world and about the world itself. Not only is there more to learn but there is a need for learning for personal and national survival.

Many schools are offering summer programs to provide the opportunity for learning and doing things the student can't squeeze in during the year. But these are spotty and inadequate because opportunities are not offered in all areas, and all students do not have the opportunity to participate. In addition to the work typically offered during the school year, young people need experiences in the fine arts and in creative activities, for example. They also need vocational - type experiences under the supervision of the school.

Some question the desirability of placing responsibilities upon the school that formerly were in the home: vocational guidance and driver education being two examples.

In today's complex world, the school can give organized instruction in some areas better than can any other agency.

Parents once taught their children to drive the car. It is the writer's contention that parents shouldn't teach children to drive, for in too many cases they are teaching their own unconscious bad driving habits.

The lengthened school year or the year 'round school offers many possibilities of organization. All students could go during the full term, or students could attend part of the year and gain other experiences during part of the year. At the upper levels, particularly, there is a need of the opportunity for young people to gain experience and skill in the world of work before entering the labor market.

Providing expanded opportunities for children and youth to develop the skills and knowledge needed by an educated citizenry would far outweigh the problems and cost.

2,586 Drowned in State in 20 Years

45 Drowning Victims to Date in '63 in Minnesota

The number of Minnesota drowning victims over the past 20 years is equivalent to the populations of the towns of Buffalo, Cambridge or Crosby, the Conservation Department pointed out this week.

During that period 2,586 persons have lost their lives in state waters—six of them over the past weekend. So far this year 45 drowning victims have been recorded as against 37 for the same period last year.

Carl Moen, chairman of the water safety section of the Minnesota Safety Council, said that an analysis of drownings this year reveals that 40 per cent were associated with swimming, 20 per cent from motor boating, 21 per cent other types of boating and 19 per cent from young unattended children playing near or in water.

Moen said that all the drownings over the past week end were due to carelessness or ignorance. If the present trend continues, he said, Minnesota is due for a bad water safety year.

With the July 4th weekend coming up and participation in fishing, boating and water sports expected to reach its peak, Moen asked all citizens to exercise common sense and caution.

$5,000,000 Road Bids Due July 19

Sig Quam Finishes Course in Harvard Business School

Sigward L. Quam, manager of the Thief River Jobbing Co., Friday received his diploma at the Harvard University graduate school of business administration, upon completing an advanced management course in sales management, marketing and merchandising, for executives of distributors and manufacturers of the tobacco, confectionery and allied products industry.

"The course employed the case method of study," Capt. Harold B. Van Gorder, administrative director of the advanced management program, stated, "wherein the students took part in discussion and analysis of real business situations typical of those facing sales and marketing executives today."

Chicken, Turkey and Ham Good Buys

'U' Marketing Specialist Offers Shopping Advice

Ham, hamburger, pork roasts, frying chicken, chuck steaks, turkey—take your pick among these good meat buys in planning your weekend of Fourth of July meals.

Ham and hamburger head the list of good values in meat, and present prices should continue until the Fourth of July, according to Mary Ryan, extension consumer marketing specialist at the University of Minnesota. Pork roasts, fryers and chuck steaks are being featured at some supermarkets. Turkey is in plentiful supply and will be a good buy all month.

Fresh vegetables and fruits in good supply and reasonably priced this week include cantaloupe and watermelon, radishes, onions, green peppers and celery. Locally grown strawberries, cabbage and spinach, New Jersey blueberries and seedless grapes are still moderately high priced but supplies of these products are increasing.

Grocery items featured at below average prices this week include canned tomato soup, quart jars of salad dressing, pickles and coffee. Frozen orange concentrate is selling in some stores for as low as 22-25 cents per can. Beet sugar is available at some markets in 10-pound sacks for as low as $1.39-$1.49.

19,000,000 Trees Planted on Farms in State in 1962

Federal aid has played a large part in Minnesota's reforestation program during the past few years, according to the state conservation department.

Figures show that in 1962 nearly 19 million trees were planted by Minnesota farmers and other landowners with federal aid funds administered by the Agricultural Conservation and Stabilization Service.

The Minnesota department of conservation's forestry division produced 37 million trees at state forest nurseries last year and over one-half of this production was planted with federal assistance under the Agricultural Conservation Program.

In 1962 there were 18,350,000 trees planted by 2,162 farmers or landowners with aid from ACP. The number of trees planted with federal assistance has risen sharply since 1960 when only 4.38 million were planted with ACP aid.

In 1961 this figure had climbed to 9.57 and reached 18.35 last year. Since 1957 over $775,000 in federal aid has been expended in Minnesota for this purpose.

AGDER . . .

This community was shocked to hear of the sudden passing of Melvin Torgerson at the Northwestern hospital Sunday, where he had been a patient for several weeks and was reported to be getting along fine. He was a long time resident of Agder township and held many public offices. Sympathy is extended to the family in their bereavement.

Mr. Ed Tronnes visited with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bodsbery of St. Paul who spent Saturday evening and Sunday in Thief River Falls. They also visited at the Clarence and Orvis Sletten homes there.

Keith Klungness and Benny Baker arrived Monday morning from Seattle, to visit at their parental homes.

Property Taxes Hit New Minnesota Peak

The real and personal property taxes which Minnesota property owners are paying this year have risen to a new all-time high of $545.9 million — up $37 million from last year, Charles P. Stone, general counsel of the Minnesota Taxpayers association, pointed out today, citing figures from the abstract of real and personal property taxes for 1962 recently released by State Auditor Stafford King.

The state-wide average mill rate for the 1962 taxes (payable in 1963) also set a new record — 224.11 mills as compared with 217.18 mills for the previous year.

"Local school district taxes accounted for $17.3 million or almost one-half of the $37 million total property tax increase," Stone said. "They climbed from $212.6 million to $229.9 million—an increase of over 8 per cent above last year's figure.

"The increase in property taxes levied for state purposes, while not bulking so large in dollars (from $24.8 million to $29.7 million) was even greater percentagewise—almost 20 per cent."

Property taxes levied by cities and villages rose to $135 million—an increase of $6.8 million or 5.3 per cent.

Counties increased their property tax levies from $130.2 million to $137.2 million—an increase of $7 million or 5.4 per cent.

Property taxes levied by townships went up from $12.9 million to $13.9 million—an increase of $1 million or 7.2 per cent.

"Percentagewise, the $37 million increase in total real and personal property taxes levied amounted to 7.3 per cent," Stone said. "But total taxable values—the base against which the mill rates are applied to arrive at the taxes levied—increased less than 4 per cent (from $2.234 billion to $2.322 billion). In other words, the rate of increase in local and state spending financed from property tax revenues continued to exceed the rate of increase in the property tax base.

"It is becoming more and more obvious that something must be done to lighten the increasingly heavy tax load which our real and personal property owners are being forced to carry. Many responsible citizens and organizations have reached the conclusion that a replacement sales tax is the most satisfactory answer to the problem."

Great River Road Is Aided by Legislation

The Great River Road project in Minnesota is expected to progress at a faster pace due to passage of four bills by the state legislature during its past session, according to the Mississippi River Parkway Commission of Minnesota.

The bills officially designate the Great River Road route in Minnesota from the Iowa border to the Canadian border, and — provide for a temporary alternate parkway route from Blackduck to Baudette to Warroad, to serve as a northern loop connection with the parkway from Red Lake to Warroad until a new road is constructed;

—authorize county boards of the 24 counties along the route to provide up to $2,000 per year to the Minnesota Parkway commission for development of the road. (Counties have indicated a desire to help with the project.)

—authorize the commission to be composed of nine members: three appointed by the governor; three members of the Senate; three members of the House. Members shall serve a term expiring at the close of the next regular session of the legislature and until successors are appointed. The Commissioners of Highways and Conservation and the director of the Minnesota Historical society shall be ex-officio members.

Marking of the entire route in Minnesota was completed in 1960 with special signs erected by the Minnesota highway department that display a steamboat captain's wheel. About 60 per cent of the route in Minnesota is on trunk highways that, for the most part, have long been in use. The remaining 40 per cent will be on new trunk highways yet to be built. Since part of Interstate 94 will be located close to the Mississippi river, some of the route will be on the Interstate system.

The Great River Road, extending from New Orleans to the Canadian border, is now 71 per cent complete. However, most of the route is on highways that have been in existence for a number of years, and making them part of the road was a matter of state legislation and installation of route markers only.

No target date has been set for completion of the road because it depends upon completion of portions of Interstate and regular trunk highways, much of which has not been programmed by the Minnesota Highway Department.

Harold E. Olson, a staff assistant to the commissioner of highways of Minnesota, is secretary of the Minnesota Parkway commission.

Cite Benefits of Social Security Law to Elderly

Your social security provides a basic protection against three major lifetime "risks": old-age, disability, and death.

It is important to remember that the program provides this lifetime protection — not only retirement benefits in old age, but also individual and family payments if you become too disabled to work, and payments for your family if you should die.

You may write to the nearest social security office for a free publication that will help you to understand the types of protection you are buying with the social security taxes you are paying:

Editorials . . .

"If any subject of legislation deserves careful, dispassionate study, it is this area of civil rights, for law itself is quite limited in what it can do to improve racial relations. Though it will be argued that a new law, or laws, is the answer to Negro militancy, the plain fact is that no legislation, especially of the shotgun variety, can confer what many Negro leaders say they seek — equality.

"In the unwise hast to 'do something' about civil rights, Congress runs the danger of doing things that may prove entirely wrong."

Research

At the University of Minnesota, as at most universities, there is a great deal of scientific research under way at all times. This is good and should be encouraged.

Some schools have benefited financially by such research, products and processes being patented in the name, and for the benefit, of the institution itself. The profits from such patents have, in some instances, contributed substantially to the cost of expanded research programs.

The report on research at the University of Minnesota, written by Minneapolis Tribune staff writer Dave Mazie, was an interesting story but it did not mention possible earnings for the school itself, or for the individual scientists personally, who conducted these experiments.

In this instance the cost of such research is a burden upon the taxpayers of the state. Mr. Mazie might give us a follow-up to his interesting article by telling us to what extent the university attempts to make such research self-supporting, by charging a reasonable fee to be paid by those who benefit, in some instances commercially, by the results of research.

The Problem Is Serious

The race problem has already led to demonstrations of various kinds, some of them resulting in violence. No doubt there will be many more. It is likely that the situation will become worse before it becomes better.

The Negroes, unfortunately, we think, have been encouraged to believe that racial equality can be secured at once merely by passing a few laws. Their leaders are demanding immediate change, but the actual change, right or wrong, will come only gradually.

Congress probably will pass some of the laws recommended by President Kennedy, but not all of them in one session. The organized Negroes will be far from satisfied with what they get. Mass demonstrations will result in more violence. The problem of maintaining order in some of our cities will be serious.

New York city is preparing for trouble. In a public statement the New York City Police Commissioner explained the responsibilities of the city's police in the event of mass demonstrations, stating:

1. The police are representatives of the government—a government of laws, not men.
2. The police have a sworn duty to enforce the laws—impartially, objectively and equally. This they have done and this they will continue to do; for without law and order there can be no peace, no freedom, no rights for anyone.
3. The police are aware of the significance of the surge for equal rights. They recognize and respect the right of the people to express their views on matters of public concern.
4. The police will protect the rights of all to peacefully assemble and petition. They will brook no interference with these rights by anyone. Their impartial role is clear and set by law.
5. The police will also protect the rights of the people to pursue their lives and lawful occupations free from illegal interference.
6. The police will take appropriate action under law when the rights of anyone are obstructed.
7. It must be clearly understood that sit-downs or other acts which prohibit the safe and peaceful movements of persons and vehicles in the public streets and prevent access to buildings are a violation of law, and those who use these unlawful means to gain their ends are subject to arrest.
8. It must be clearly understood that police not only have the duty but the obligation with legal action to the degree necessary to restore and maintain law and order.
9. It must be clearly understood that the police will not allow themselves to be placed in the false position of "aggressors." The police are aware of—and are trained to assume—their full responsibilities; they expect others to remember and recognize (that) they also have responsibilities.
10. The police will preserve the public peace by every legal means. They expect public co-operation, compliance and understanding.

It doesn't take much of an incident to convert masses of people into mobs when those masses believe they have a grievance, and no one will deny the fact that the Negroes do have grievances. But mass demonstrations and mob violence will delay rather than advance the cause of justice.

Negroes must adjust themselves to the fact that the justice they seek must, and will, come gradually. The steadily accelerating progress that has been made during the past hundred years will be continued unless it is retarded by unfortunate and preventable developments.

Fiscal Year '64

Our government's fiscal year 1963 came to an abrupt end Monday and we now are spending our way into fiscal year 1964. Last year was not good according to the administration economists. The federal deficit was less than 8 billion dollars. It is hoped by those who think we can spend ourselves into prosperity that this year's deficit will be much larger. Anything less than 12 billion dollars would be a sign of shameful mismanagement as we understand the college professors who are guiding the administration in these matters.

All we can do is hope that our problems will somehow straighten themselves out over a period of time. We would look forward to the future with much more confidence if a few of the men who are making the decisions in Washington had had a little more personal experience in worrying about the note that was coming due next month.

Sweden Conforms

The Swedes and the English have differed from the rest of the world in their use of the highways, going forward on the left lane instead of the right. Now Sweden is preparing to change its traffic to the right-hand lanes, partly because tourists are not accustomed to the left-hand lanes and accidents have been piling up. No doubt another reason for the change is the difficulties the Swedes have had in their attempts at right-hand lane driving in other countries.

The cost of making this change is estimated at $80 million and it will take four years to complete the adjustment. Those will be trying years for the drivers in Sweden who will move forward on the left lane on some roads and on the right lane on others.

We are sure the results will justify the agony however and the British no doubt will soon take similar action. International uniformity in such matters is becoming almost an essential. And we should encourage uniformity by adopting the rest of the world's system of weights and measures.

Wisconsin's Sale Tax

The sales tax was, for many years, a highly controversial question in Wisconsin as it still is here in Minnesota. Two years ago a liberal Wisconsin governor approved a selective sales tax passed by a conservative legislature. He had fought vigorously against the tax which was opposed by his party, but finally yielded because of the need for more revenue.

Now the Wisconsin legislature, after two years of experience with the tax, has broadened it to bring in more revenue, this time with the support of another Democratic governor and the approval of the state's Democratic party organization. It is fair to assume, therefore, that in Wisconsin, as in all other states that have tried it, the sales tax is there to stay—with the approval of the people.

Here in Minnesota it is still an argument, due primarily to a lack of constructive, conservative leadership. In all of our neighboring states the sales tax is an important source of state revenue. Property and income taxes are already too high in our state, compared with such taxes levied in other states, and the only alternative to a sales tax is curtailed spending. And the pressure for increased spending is greater than the pressure for economy.

Cuban Confusion

Possibly our various government agencies know more about what's going on in Cuba than they reveal. Perhaps it would be more accurate to say that they probably do. We certainly hope so, because for several years the conflicting statements that have been released by what, presumably, are competent authorities, have been most confusing. We like the following observations by the national observer.

"Cuba, that mysterious land way, way off the coast of Florida, has the United States pondering again.

"Aerial surveillance, which is supposed to keep us up to date on the military situation there, shows fewer Soviet troops. Yet areial surveillance did not show any ships leaving Cuba with soldiers. They couldn't have gone out by submarine, certainly, for the Government says there are no such bases.

'Yet the State Department perceives a silver lining. It brushes aside the matter of whether the highly touted surveillance is effective, and where the soldiers went if they went anywhere, and declares we can rejoice that there are fewer Russians to put down any anti-Castro uprising.

"And as all this was going on, the Cuban exile forces say they landed several thousand commandos on the island, where they filtered inland to join resistance troops. But the State Department says it knows of no large landings and adds it would surely know of them if they took place.

'All this is quite confusing. But it is clear that either the news is being managed again or that the fog in Washington is as thick as ever where Cuba is concerned."

THE BOOK AND

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Behind the open Book, we see the Star Spangled Banner of the United States and the cross-borne flag of Christianity.

Does this seem like a strange combination to you—the flag of a nation beside the flag of a religion?

Not at all! Look into the Bible and see these great truths: MAN IS THE CHILD OF A LOVING GOD; WE ARE MADE IN GOD'S IMAGE. Here is explained the DIGNITY OF THE INDIVIDUAL.

Now we begin to realize how close is the relation between democracy and the Church.

Our national flag, our church flag would not be here today were it not for the open Book.

Come learn of this Book. Come worship and study in the church of your choice this Sunday.

Rural TRF Man Killed In Auto Crash Friday

Elvern Olson, 22, Killed in One-Car Mishap Near RLF

A one-car auto accident early Friday morning claimed the life of a rural Thief River Falls young man and injured his companion who was driving the car. Elvern Ellsworth Olson, 22, rt. 5, Thief River Falls, was killed when the car in which he was riding missed a curve on the Plummer blacktop about 2½ miles east of Red Lake Falls.

According to Gerald Hinze, Red Lake county sheriff who was traveling the same road only minutes after the accident, the mishap occurred about 1:45 a. m. Friday. Driven by Keith Arden Kruse, 22, St. Hilaire, the car was traveling west and missed a curve, rolling 282 feet in the ditch, Sheriff Hinze said. He said the boys had been to Plummer and were driving to Red Lake Falls for lunch before returning home.

Although he sustained head and arm lacerations and a probable hip injury, Kruse walked to a farm home several hundred feet away to summon aid, Dr. Lester Dale, Red Lake county coroner, stated that Olson was found between 30 and 40 feet from the car and that he had suffered a crushed chest and head and neck injuries. Time of death was about 2 a. m., approximately 15 minutes after the mishap.

Kruse received head and arm lacerations and was hospitalized in Red Lake Falls. The car was considered a total loss, Sheriff Hinze said.

Olson had always made his home with an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Harder, near St. Hilaire. He attended elementary school at St. Hilaire, high school at Lincoln in Thief River Falls and the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school. He served in the armed forces for three years and was discharged on August 14, 1962.

Funeral services for Elvern Ellsworth Olson will be held today at 2 p. m. from the American Lutheran church in St. Hilaire with Rev. Lawrence Winter officiating. Interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery in Thief River Falls with the Sinding Funeral Chapel in charge of arrangements. Survivors include a half-sister, Beverly Severson, Thief River Falls; an aunt, Mrs. Lawrence Harter; two uncles, Russell Olson of St. Hilaire and Clarence Olson of Thief River Falls; and a number of cousins. His mother and grandparents preceded him in death.

Post Office To Modernize T.R.F. Federal Building

$200,000 Improvement Planned Under Area Redevelopment Program

Plans for extensive modernization and improvement of the post office in the federal building in Thief River Falls were announced recently by J. Edward Day, U. S. postmaster general. Laura Duerst Becomes Bride of Warren Hanson

An exchange of vows between Miss Laura Duerst of this city and Warren Hanson of Sioux Falls, S. D. took place at an evening ceremony on June 22 at the First Congregational Church of Austin. 9th District Economy Reported Improving

The over-all economic picture appears to be moving forward at a reasonably satisfactory pace in the Ninth district, according to the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis in the current issue of its Monthly Review.

District employment is displaying some growth plus normal seasonal improvement, and recent data also suggest modest improvement in average weekly earnings in manufacturing and in hours worked per week. The number of persons drawing unemployment benefits has declined on a seasonal basis and in relation to a year ago. On a seasonally adjusted basis, the May index of industrial use of electric power showed a small decline from the previous month and a gain from May 1962. Building permits, both in number and valuation, are currently displaying a strong seasonal upward trend. Shipments of iron ore from the region have been on the slow side thus far, owing to the large carryover of ore at the steel plants; however, a growing percentage of ore shipments are in pelletized — hence more concentrated — form.

The district farm picture so far this year looks unusually favorable, the bank said; an early season with adequate moisture has been the case in most areas. Wheat and early planted spring grains have a good start, and apparently this holds true also for corn and soybeans. Range conditions in the Dakotas and Montana are well above average. A recent report on farm land value trends indicates a substantial increase in district states during the year ended last March 1.

Personal income figures for April show the beginning of the normal seasonal pickup. The first four months of 1963 averaged 6.4 per cent above the same period a year ago; for the U. S., a comparable comparison was a plus 4.5 per cent.

The district's banking scene continues to show a favorable outlook. May experienced an above normal rise in total member bank credit, the bulk of which took place in country banks. Seasonally adjusted total deposits at district member banks increased during May by an amount comparable to the record May increases of 1954 and 1961; the deposit increase continues to reflect a strong growth in time deposits. A slight decline in the reserves of district member banks occurred during May; however, member bank daily average borrowing in May was almost $5 million less than the April daily average figure.

In the bank's June 12 opinion survey of current business conditions, a larger percentage of respondents indicated "improvement probable" than at any time during a recent 12-month period. In general, the survey respondents are more optimistic now about business conditions than earlier this spring and substantially more optimistic now than they were during the past winter, the bank concluded.

The Library Corner

by Virginia Gjernes

There have been many subjects written about in this column. . . all of them come under the heading "library". Today's offering to the public falls in the same category! Today. . .books! New books, good books, entertaining books, enlightening books. . .books which YOU should read because they are being talked about and written about. . .So, they must be good! You've no doubt noticed that a poorly written volume is seldom discussed, but well written ones, regardless of the subject matter, do come up in conversations, even though oftentimes for adverse criticism. . .but whether the criticism be good or bad, these books and authors are discussed.

A pamphlet always available at your library is headed "Outstanding Books" and is printed once each month. The offerings for July are these:

"The Lost World of Quintana Roo" by Michel Peissel. A thrilling narrative which chills your skin and makes your heart beat faster as you travel, along with the author, through 250 miles of dense forest and swampland always on the lookout for bandits but not prepared for the most surprising of surprises! A tremendous find, archaeologically speaking. . .the remains of a civilization hidden for centuries by thick vegetation. You will feel as though you, personally, were responsible for bringing the Mayas back to life!

If it is a laugh you need, instead of a thrill and a chill, then by all means reserve "Guess Whose Hair I'm Wearing" written by Hildegarde Dolson and touching upon a variety of things uppermost in the minds of our citizens today. . . earth-shattering subjects, too, such as the renowned Dr. Spock and the unusual aspects of wearing a wig. She also brings up the IBM machine and takes you along on a visit to Twirkhire, over England way.

Speaking of England, those who believe they would like to know more about the lady behind the man known as Sir Winston Churchill (they say behind every great man etc. etc. . .you've heard the saying many times!) should be interested in this offering. The story of Lady Churchill, written by Jack Fishman and entitled "My Darling Clementine", reveals the warmth and attractiveness of one of the world's most fascinating women. You'll venture behind closed doors in the Churchill domicile and see a famous couple as "people" rather than world leaders.

If you care to step back into history, pick up "Francis Bacon" and relive the life of the Lord Chancellors of England as it was during the Elizabethan age. This tale of a man, who possessed one of the strongest personalities. . .akin to Churchill's of this day and age, is brilliantly told by Catherine Drinker Bowen and gives you intimate knowledge of the philosopher, statesman, writer and scientist. History, when told in this manner, becomes as exciting as tomorrow!

Some people like Quentin Reynolds, some do not, but every one will enjoy reading the lively reminiscences and anecdotes he tells about in his book "By Quentin Reynolds". The reader can't help but be fascinated by the wealth of experiences comprising the exciting, meaningful life of one of today's best journalists.

John O'Hara, the favorite of many who read his words so faithfully, has a new effort, "Elizabeth Appleton". A novel about a sophisticated woman, living for all to see, one kind of life as the mother of two children and the wife of a college professor, yet living another kind of life, too, behind closed doors.

Another novel, "The Artist" by Jan de Hartog brings forth something which a lot of people have found to be true!. Your heart's desire doesn't always turn out to be what you thought it would be, should you be lucky, or unlucky, enough to attain it!

There are other new books on your library's shelves which might appeal to you more than any of these, but the best way to find out is to come in and look them over. . .you needn't take the first one your fingers fall upon. . .you may 'shop around' and get the best buy! The librarians on duty will help you in any way they can. . . just step up and ask!

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of

MRS. LLOYD SPRAY

PINEAPPLE DELIGHT

Sprinkle the bottom of a 9 x 13 inch cake pan with a layer of crushed graham crackers. Cream together:

2 eggs

Pour over crushed graham crackers. Whip 1½ cups whipping cream. Fold in: 1 large can crushed pineapple drained, and 1 teaspoon powdered sugar. Pour this over the mixture in pan. Top with more cracker crumbs. Refrigerate for at least several hours. Cut in squares and serve.

As in most of our recipes, the time-and-labor-saving feature seems to be the one most appreciated by our housewives, and this is no exception. Mrs. Spray got the recipe from her daughter in Florida, where desserts that do not require baking are quite understandably at the top of the popularity list.

Our homemaker uses this quite often for church circle and for company dessert. President of the ladies aid at St. John Lutheran church of this city, she would be in a position to know what goes over well with the ladies.

Her family consists of her husband and three daughters, JoAnn, in Florida, the mother of a small girl and boy; Vivian, a nurse at the local hospital, and Judy, a junior this year. Mr. Spray is an insurance salesman, having an office in his home. His wife's hobbies are gardening, house plants, and fishing. The latter is a family affair.

Asked about her mother's success at this hobby, Mrs. Spray's daughter, Judy, merely laughed. We promised not to tell about the big ones that got away. In fact, we know nothing further than that our question drew a laugh from a non-commital daughter.

of Rhyme & Reason

THURSDAY WAS THE FOURTH OF JULY . . . and the Fourth of July was Independence Day . . . and Independence Day commemorates the signing of the Declaration of Independence in 1776. . .and as citizens of the United States of America it should have caused us to give at least a passing reflection to our freedom. Part of the protection for this freedom was to be provided by the U. S. supreme court.

This high body of learned individuals should not be above criticism, however, and their decisions should not be held sacred. Take for instance the case of Evetts Haley, an Oklahoma farmer who raises cattle. A couple of years ago he raised wheat to feed his cattle — in violation of government-imposed restrictions. The U. S. Department of Agriculture assessed a "fine" of $506 against him and he refused to pay it. The case went to court. The decision of a U. S. District Judge was that Haley was not guilty.

The Department of Agriculture then appealed the case to the Supreme Court—which reversed Judge T. Whitfield Davidson and ordered him to assess the fine.

Judge Davidson wrote: "He had sold nothing. He had injected nothing into the channels of commerce. He had produced some wheat which he fed to his cows. We now enter judgment for plaintiff (USDA) not because we feel it to be just but in obedience to the mandate. To refuse would be to invite judicial chaos which every judge and every lawyer must avoid. The court may tell us what to do, but it may not tell us what to think or believe. With all deference to the court, we respectfully dissent."

The fact that Americans are becoming disgusted with government-controlled business was evidenced by the recent wheat vote in which farmers rejected government quotas. This act may mean, as some fright-peddlers claim, a loss of income to the farmer. . .at least for a couple of crop years. For farmers in this area it should mean the return of the right to grow what has been their best crop and to receive a price for northern spring wheat—of which there has never been a surplus.

Big doings in Thief River Falls this week should be of interest to the area's residents. The Pennington county fair is now in session and will continue through Thursday. Be sure to see the livestock, crop and homemaking exhibits and gain a little pride in our area. And treat yourself to an evening of entertainment by watching the home talent production in front of the grandstand on Tuesday night.

From the Minnesota Safety Council bulletin comes this poem with a worth-while message for the hectic summer season:

SHORT CUT

When the job is 'rush and hurry'
And the Boss begins to worry
And your difficulties seem to multiply it;
If a short-cut method tempts you
And you think the need exempts you,
From the rules required for safety — Don't you try it!

When the job is complicated
And the problems under-rated
And you think you'll break a rule and not regret it,
Better stop and think a minute
Of the hazards that are in it;
My advice on breaking rules is: Just forget it!

Men with injuries that linger,
Men who've lost an eye or finger
From a short-cut such as you have contemplated
Learned in one disastrous minute
All the misery that's in it
When a single safety rule is under-rated.

Supervision and direction
Are designed for your protection,
And that safety rule can help you to survive!
So obey it to the letter
And you'll find it so much better
If you cut the short-cuts out and stay alive!

Delegate "Lives" Democracy

Girls State Praised by Lorraine Lietzow

By Flora Allison
Times Society Reporter

"Building for tomorrow a better community, state and nation," is the avowed objective of the American Legion auxiliary's annual get-acquainted-with-your-government project called "Girls' State."

Each year the local auxiliary sends one girl from Lincoln high school to the state capitol to "instill in these potential leaders of tomorrow a love of God and country". This year's selection was 17-year-old Lorraine Lietzow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lietzow of rural Thief River Falls, who attended the 1963 sessions from June 13 to 20. Incidentally, she is the sister of Eddie Lietzow, 1960 choice for Boys' State, a Legion-sponsored counterpart.

The faculty of the school chooses six girls from among the ranks of the junior class members, and the class makes final selection from among these six. (Runner-up in the contest is named as alternate.) The class choice is then approved by the auxiliary, and if the candidate can pass a physical examination, and prove physically able to stand up under the rigorous schedule planned, she is "in".

To qualify, a girl must be in the upper one-third of her class, possess leadership ability in extracurricular activities, be of good moral character, possess courage, honesty and co-operativeness.

Behind the scenes, in preparation for the week-long experience in government, a great deal of advanced planning is in progress. Locally, Mrs. Rudolph Sagmoen is one of the main expediters; she approves the class selection, briefs the candidate extensively, arranges for transportation and personally sees the girl off to St. Paul. Mrs. Harold Johnson had gone down previously to help complete the groundwork and prepare for the task of being one of the 30 official counselors.

Upon arrival at St. Paul, the girls are met by a bus which takes them to the 4-H building at the fairgrounds, which is to be their headquarters throughout their stay, and where they sleep in a huge dormitory--all 480 of them, in bunks "stacked" three-high--and eat at the cafeteria.

Supervising the encampment is the dean, Justine M. Knablauch, who has served in that capacity for many years, with the able assistance of the counselors.

The Democratic Process

"The whole thing is an unforgettable experience," Miss Lietzow declared with enthusiasm, "something I wish every girl could be a part of sometime in her life-- It's one thing to read about our government in textbooks, but to be on the scene, to actually take part, to select city, county and state officials, including a governor and the rest of the state, to hold caucuses, to vote by secret ballot, just as it is done by the actual counterparts whom we represent. . .well, it's actually LIVING democracy," she declared.

Miss Lietzow "threw her hat in the ring", so to speak, just as real candidates for office do; she ran for city treasurer, but was not elected. Climaxing the elections was the choice of a governor of girls' state. The state officers were sworn in at an inauguration paralling the real government ceremony. Others also took the oath of office.

Delegates "enacted" laws and participated in the machinery of actual government, performing the duties of their offices. They learned about conventions, finances and platforms and attended panel discussions and lectures. They also attended a session of the legislature (the group Miss Lietzow was with "sat in on" the house session and heard the governor in an address beamed specifically at them) and heard lectures on Americanism.

They picnicked on the beautiful capitol lawn, met Miss Minnesota, toured the capitol, the historical museum and the science museum, Sibley House and Faribault House, all rich in historical lore, and after a week full of unforgettable experiences, made ready to return home. Armed with first-hand, understandable, workable knowledge of the democratic processes which seek to make this a government truly "of, by, and for the people," in which the voice of every citizen can, and should be heard through the power of the ballot and the right of free speech and press, the girls were taken to their respective terminals and embarked for home.

"I think the American Legion auxiliary is doing a marvelous thing in maintaining 'Girls' State,' Miss Lietzow concluded. "I shall never again take democracy for granted . . .it's a priceless blessing. I want to make it better known and appreciated."

DELEGATE to Girls State from Lincoln high school in 1963 was Lorraine Lietzow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lietzow of rural Thief River Falls and junior at the school. She counted her experiences in "living" democracy as among the most impressive she has had and expresses appreciation to the American Legion auxiliary for sponsoring the state-wide program.

Many Exxhibits

Local exhibits are said to be larger than average, according to items being brought to the fairgrounds this morning. The Pennington county historical society will have a large display of historical items and plans to feature weaving and spinning demonstrations during at least part of each day of the four-day exposition. Persons having historical items they would like to contribute to the historical museum may bring them to the fairgrounds or to the museum located in the basement of the county courthouse. The museum is open each Friday afternoon.

This year the county fair is being operated by a new organization and the success of the venture will have a heavy bearing on the future of the exposition. A large turnout by the public and support of the fair and its programs will be greatly appreciated by the association.

Special Crop Tour Proves Successful

Beans, Sunflowers, Mustard and Other Crops Seen Recently

Specialty crops show promise for Pennington county farms, according to reports given by three county farmers who were visited on a tour held recently. More than 75 farmers toured fields of mustard, Pinto beans, sunflowers, certified seeds, onion, cabbage and rutabagas under the sponsorship of the Pennington county extension service.

Richard Dvorak reported on Pinto beans at the first tour stop a mile west of St. Hilaire. He said that seed sells for $14 per 100 pounds and that one bushel per acre is planted for a cost of $8.40. Fertilizer cost is more than $3 per acre and four cultivations are necessary for weed control. A good crop yields about 1,800 pounds per acre with the contract price being five cents per pound.

Dr. Harley Otto commented on Garland oats and Larker and Trophy barley which have recently been introduced in Pennington county. Both barley varieties have a stiffer straw than other varieties and both are used for malting. The extension agronomist also added that certified timothy and red clover seeds and certified grass and legume seeds have found a ready market.

Edgar Naplin reported good returns of certified timothy on his farm during the past two years which were excessively dry and wet. Harvesting and fertilizer costs are the only costs of production, he said, and 200 pounds of clean seed per acre at 28 cents per pounds was harvested.

Naplin also explained the production of tame mustard on contract. He noted that the biggest hazard in seeding is a crust which may form and kill the seedlings. Weeds create a problem and harvesting could be made difficult by shattering. Anticipated yield is 1,000 pounds per acre with price set a five cents per pound.

At the Mosbeck Brothers farm a field of 100 acres of sunflowers, both Mennonite and Arrowhead varieties, was shown to the tour group. Fertilizer at 80 pounds per acre was applied and weeds presented no production problem. A special combine attachment being built by Melvin Scholin from diagrams furnished by the University of Minnesota extension service will be used in harvest operations. This is the third year the Mosbeck brothers have also produced onions, cabbage and rutabagas.

"The tour was well-attended and all who came saw the actual fields and could talk to the farmers themselves about any problems," stated Paul Stelmaschuk, county agricultural agent. "There are real possibilities for expansion of all these crops in Pennington county. The acreage of specialty crops could well go to 10,000 acres instead of the present 1,000 acres."

Editorials . . .

"There are many things in life that never end. There is dishwashing. There is getting the car fixed. There is cutting the grass. Unless one keeps constantly in mind the values involved — clean dishes, a smoothly running car, a soft and neat lawn, and the like—these "never-ending things" become wearing and wearying.

"It is not alone in utilities that we find this situation. In its deeper aspects, life has never-ending things. There is the effort to be moral. There is sacrifice for others. There is telling the truth. The list is long. Yet life becomes worthwhile in proportion to our day-by-day efforts to keep doing these never-ending things."

—Dr. L. Wendell Fifield

Public Defenders

Our judges are not in agreement on the question of a statewide public defender system. Not knowing what is involved in the problem we will not become involved in the argument except to express opposition to any change in our court system that puts more lawyers on the public payroll.

Wheat to China

A Canadian delegation is negotiating with the Red Chinese for another sale of wheat and barley. The old contract, which netted Canada nearly a half a billion dollars this year and reduced grain surpluses substantially, expires in December.

The Canadians now have had several years of experience in dealing with the Chinese and seem to be well satisfied with the results. Are the Canadians stupid in selling to the Chinese or is it possible that we could be mistaken?

Why Is It?

As the representatives in Congress were about to move into their new 100-million-dollar office building recently, the architect discovered he hadn't provided doors through which a congressman could reach his staff from his private office. Cost of making the necessary alterations, according to William Broom of the St. Paul Pioneer Press Washington Bureau, was estimated at from $150,000 to $200,000.

In a new 53-million-dollar building erected for the state department, inspectors found fire hazards in the ceiling, and, according to Broom, the sprinkler system that was required to wipe out these hazards cost $200,000.

Not many of the men we send to Washington to manage our federal government for us, would spend money so wastefully if they had the feeling that it was their own dollars they were wasting. Why do so many of them lose all sense of balance when they are spending public funds?

Our Chinese Neighbors

The Manchester, England, Guardian, recently ran a series of articles on China by a Swedish writer, Sven Lindqvist. At the conclusion of the series the Guardian commented on some of the difficulties involved in getting reports out of China by non-Communist correspondents. It says:

> "This absence of non-Communist correspondents is not the fault of Western editors: the Chinese Government puts insuperable obstacles in their way. True, one or two news agencies — Reuters and Agence France Presse — provide an admirable service. But this too has to be predominantly . . .factual rather than interpretive.
> "If, then, most British newspapers cover China inadequately, this is through no anti-Communist prejudice. When editors get news they can trust they leap at the opportunity of giving it. So we are glad to have published the remarkable series of articles by the Swedish writer Sven Lindqvist."

Following are several of the interesting observations made by Lindqvist in his conclusions:

> "Only in exceptional cases have Chinese leaders traveled outside their own country. They seem to consider the whole world as a larger, not yet liberated China. . .They portray modern Western capitalism in terms of Chinese capitalism as it appeared to them in their youth. They draw a hateful picture of a part of the world doomed to destruction.
> "We must be careful not to make the same mistake. We must not regard China as a larger, backward Sweden which has not yet enjoyed the blessings of democracy. We must not judge the potential of Chinese communism by the conduct of our own Communists. We must use our freedom to face facts without preconceived ideas about the truth."

Assuming that eventually we must recognize the government of the hundreds of millions of Chinese who now happen to be Communists, and taking for granted that the best solution for the problems of misunderstanding is understanding, it would seem that the sooner we start exchanging goods, and ideas, with the Chinese Communists, the sooner will we be able to start sharing the surface of the earth with them again as neighbors.

We might not look upon them as good neighbors to start with, and they no doubt would have some reservations about our goodness. But we have been friends before and we might become friends again. Let's keep in mind the fact that the Chinese have a great cultural background and individually have high standards of personal integrity. We have much more to gain through friendship based on understanding than through hatred based on misunderstanding.

There Should Be A Limit

It was nice of President Kennedy to visit his relatives in Ireland and we are sure they were glad to see him. We do hope however that he will not feel compelled to be as helpful to his relatives residing in Ireland as he has been to those whose homes are in this country. All of his American relatives, and their relatives in turn by marriage, are now, directly or indirectly, on a federal payroll. There may be some exceptions.

We are not complaining about his being helpful to the needy here at home but when we saw the size of the crowd of relatives who gathered to welcome him back to his ancestral home, it did occur to us that he could carry this help-the-relatives program of his a little too far.

Our War Machine

Khrushchev last week accused our country of making war preparations on a scope "unparalleled in history." He was talking to 2,000 delegates attending a Communist-sponsored World Women's Congress, held in Moscow.

What he stated unfortunately is true. There would be a sharp difference of opinion as to why we are building our huge war machine. Our leaders tell us it is for the defense of the free world. Nikita would say it is for world conquest. Unfortunately many people throughout the world believe that Nikita is speaking the truth.

We are satisfied that we are spending much too much on our war machine from the standpoint of self defense. Too much of that spending is wasteful. Last year's construction is obsolete this year, and what we do this year will have to be done differently next year.

There have been no brakes on spending for anything the military organization assured us was essential for the defense of the free world. All requests have been approved by Congress without a question. Maybe a change is in the making.

It is encouraging to know that strong opposition is developing in Congress to our huge spending for military purposes in other countires. In recent statements Senators Fulbright of Arkansas and Morse of Oregon, both Democrats, were very critical of this part of the defense program. In cross-examining Defense Secretary McNamara in regard to military aid for foreign countries Morse stated:

> "I happen to think that the greatest defense weapon we have is our own economy.
> "Therefore I am not very much impressed with your argument that we ought to be able to pay this bill with a national gross product of 600 billion dollars a year. It doesn't help me very much on my farm to increase my gross product each year if I don't balance my books. And we are not balancing our books, as evidenced by the fact we just got through raising the debt ceiling.
> "That is why I shall do everything I can to substantially reduce this foreign aid program.
> "I think we can have more important needs for our money than so much foreign aid."

As reported by Drew Pearson, when McNamara pointed out that the Germans spent a major part of their increased military budget in the United States, thereby helping the dollar balance, Morse replied:

> "That is one of the agruments that have been used to build up an awful powerful lobby on the part of the defense contractors for maintenance of this huge military aid bill. But it does not help in expanding the civilan economy one whit. In fact it probably explains in no small measure why this economy of ours is dragging behind the European economy.
> "I want to know what effect this program is having on our domestic civilian economy. And when I see the economy that we have built up in Europe advancing far ahead of the United States' economy, it is about time we take a look at what I consider to be our most important defense weapon, the status of our own economy."

Protected Scenery

(Christian Science Monitor)

The major complaint against billboards in America is that they obscure the scenery along many highways. There are, of course, other objections — concerning clutter and highway safety. But primarily reformers are concerned that outdoor advertising is becoming bigger than all outdoors.

The State of Oregon is to be congratulated for having found a peaceable solution to this problem. With the support of the billboard industry, Oregon has fashioned a law which permits a Scenic Area Commission to designate highway sections where signs may be banned altogether.

To minimize hardship, billboard owners with signs already in place on these highways are given seven years before final removal. Thereafter no billboard will ever blemish the view again.

States other than Oregon have been known to boast of their scenery. Perhaps they will now follow Oregon's lead in permitting it to be seen unhindered.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

They'll Get Another Chance

For five innings of Wednesday evening's softball game between the Bridgeman's and the Vets on the East Side diamond, I was making preparations to "eat crow". The Bridgeman's entering the last half of the fith inning, with the Vets at bat, held a 5 to 1 lead, and appeared to have the game "in hand". I had, boldly, picked the Vets to win the game.

In the last half of the fifth, the Vets scored three runs; and in the sixth inning they lit the fuse to a rally that scored seven runs, and went on to win, the game by an 11 to 7 score. The win boosted the Vets into first place in the city softball league standings.

The batting order for the two teams on Wednesday was as follows: Vets—Harlie Drees, 3b; Don Engelstad, 1b; Frank Harger, c; Tony Wald, ss; Joey Poole, cf; Wally Grovum, p; Les Olson, 2 b; Jack Hoppe, lf; and Monro Poole, rf; and for the Bridgeman's — Gary Giungness, cf; Bob Carlson, p; Marvin Lundin, 3b; John Drury, ss; Jerry Erickson, 2b; Dick Williams, 1b; DelRay Offerdahl, lf; Irv Wilson, c; and Dave Clough, rf.

Some Good Plays

There were some good plays made on Wednesday, mostly by the Vets, and some bad plays, mostly by the Bridgeman's, and it was the consensus of the sideline observers that the game's three stars were Harlie Drees and Tony Wald of the Vets and Bobby Carlson of the Bridgeman's.

Harlie snuffed out a pair of Bridgeman's rallies by spearing a couple of line drives. And Bob Carlson turned in his usual all-out game, running the bases and making head-first slides, and generally risking injury in his effort to give the Bridgeman's a win. Bob and the Bridgeman's will get another chance at the Vets as the league begins play on the second half of the schedule this week.

On Monday evening, this evening, the Bridgeman's will meet the Rasmussen Insurance; on Tuesday, July 9, the V.F.W. will play the Hamm's; on Wednesday, July 10, the National Guard will play the Western Oil; and on Thursday, July 11, the Hartz Stores will play the Forsberg Line.

To get back to Wednesday evening's game. There was a minor rhubarb, and tempers began to rise, when Joey Poole, on a throw from catcher Wilson to pitcher Carlson, attempted to steal home. No play was made on Poole, and after a brief but heated discussion, Joey was sent back to third base. There is a league rule, and it is a good one, that forbids a player from scoring a run on a steal of home. This rule was adopted in order to lessen the risk of injury that a close play at home plate entails.

Attention: Golfers

The Thief River golf club announced that, beginning today, Monday, city residents who are not members of the club may play the course by paying greens fees. In previous years it has been the custom to close the course to local residents who are not members by July 1st. This year local residents may play the course on Mondays only, by paying greens fees.

Non-residents, transients, and out-of-town guests may play the course throughout the season by paying greens fees. And the local course has been attracting a number of out-of-town golfers this season, and these golfers have been lavish in their compliments to the club officials on the excellent condition of the course.

And a driving range is in operation from 1:00 p. m. to sunset on Wednesdays, Saturdays, and Sundays, and from 3:00 p. m. to sunset the remainder of the week.

The next tournament date on the local club calendar is Sunday, July 28. And speaking of tournaments, Larry (Shorty) Perkins was runnerup in the annual Fourth of July shortstop tournament played at Crookston last week. Shorty shot a 112 score for 27 holes to trail Grand Forks' John Bennett by one stroke.

Making a Comeback

It is pleasing and encouraging news to read that Drayton's Tom Knoff, a fine southpaw pitcher, has regained his health to the extent that he is hurling for the Drayton club in the Walsh County league.

Drayton, with a lineup made up of former Drayton American Legion junior players, is leading the Walsh County league, and in an exhibition game against the Warroad Muskies last week, Drayton, with Knoff throwing a five-hit game, defeated Warroad, 18 to 5.

Knoff was a member of that 1958 Drayton team that played in the national American Legion tournament. He tangled with the locals' Harlie Drees at the Fair Grounds diamond here one July evening in 1958 in what I consider the finest junior baseball game I have witnessed. Knoff, pitching a not-hit and no-run game and striking out 18 batsmen, scored a 1 to 0 win over Drees. Harlie gave up but four hits, and three of these hits were bunched in the eighth inning when Drayton scored their lone run. And it was Knoff that drove in that winning tally.

Following his Legion baseball career, Knoff signed a contract, for a modest bonus, with the New York Yankees and spent several seasons in the lower minors. He did not have much success, and quit baseball for a couple of years, then his health forced him to I'm glad to note that Tom is again able to play baseball.

Phone Company at Middle River Sold by Emil Peterson

Longtime Owner Sells Business to Lee Traver of Billings, Montana

Emil Peterson, owner of the Middle River Telephone Company, announced this week that he has sold his telephone company to Lee O. Traver, Billings, Montana.

The Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission authorized the sale prior to the final sale agreement between Mr. Peterson and Mr. Traver.

Peterson has owned and operated the telephone company since January 1914, and presently serves some 120 stations. In addition several rural lines receive switching through Petersons' exchange. The installation of an up to date dial system in 1958 has provided residents with modern up-to-date 24 hour telephone service.

Peterson was loath to sell the enterprise he has worked so hard to establish, but felt that his advancing age made it impossible for him to give the best service to his customers.

A resident of Middle River since 1908 when he moved there from Como township, Peterson has been instrumental in helping to provide better living conditions, by providing residents and business places with electricity as well as phone service. He operated the first light plant, which he sold when electricity was brought in from towns to the south.

Mr. Peterson served as mayor of Middle River for a number of years, and has served on the village council. He was also fire chief for many years.

Langen Seeks to Halt Obscene Literature

"There are indications that citizens of the country are being bombarded with a new round of obscene literature, Congressman Odin Langen said Friday. "Congressmen are receiving many complaints from their constitutents and the post office department tells us that it and the department of justice are trying to halt it. However, when the trash is stopped in one place, it pops up again somewhere else, which indicates need to stepping up activities to curb these insidious dealers in human decay."

Langen said he believes the situation is so serious that he's reintroducing his bill to create a commission on noxious and obscene matters and materials. "his Commission would include membersfrom the post office department, the department of justice, health-education-and-welfare, and members on the commission would include clergymen, secondary generals, county or city law enforcement people, and representatives of the comunications medias. The purpose would be to coordinate the piecemeal efforts now going on all over the country."

Congressman Langen points out that his bill is not aimed at legitimate literature. "I'm not trying to ban any books, but I am trying to rid this country of the phamplets, the magazines, the sensational pictures and the like that contain absolutely no message except to spread filthy pornography among our people, especially our children. We have pure food and drug laws to make sure our children have pure food and drug laws to make sure they aren't poisoned mentally by the warped personalities of those who produce and distribute their psychopatic wares."

SLOW DOWN AND LIVE!

SLOW PITCHES

First round action is over in the city softball league and the VFW team is leading the league. That's the big news off the diamond this week.

The Vets earned first place the hard way. They beat the solid Bridgeman's team 11-7; and I must say they did it in very convincing fashion. With Bridgeman's leading 5-1 going into the fifth, the Vets came up with three runs and closed the gap. At this time it seemed as though Bridgeman checker B. C. Carlson had everything under control and the one run lead would hold up. The Vets, however, lined four solid hits and together with four Bridgeman errors scored seven runs in the sixth to salt away the victory. Wally Grovum pitched great ball in yielding only 5 hits and using four bases on balls.

The week also saw the league's new Forsberg team making its debut and although getting beat by Western Oil I'm sure they will be a first division contender before the season is over. With good pitching from Don Peters and solid hitting led by Mike Cummings, they should do alright. They were beaten by the Oilers 6-5 on a last inning single by Jim Ellingson with the bases loaded.

Hartz kept up its winning ways as it toppled National Guard 8-2 behind the seven hit pitches of Dwight Tangquist.

Spectator interest is running high right now and I'm sure that once the new diamond is put to use, it will become even more intense. Crowds have been very large at most of the games and I'm sure that most of the fans have appreciated the action. About the only thing that bothers me is that there are not more people playing softball. With a city the size of ours, we should have at lot of the younger men around town who could well be playing as well as some of the older men. It's a great way to lose a few extra pounds and what's more, it's great fun. Perhaps it's too late to get started this year, but why not try to get organized for next year? The softball association would be glad to help you get started.

Last week's results;

V. F. W. 24, Rasmussen Ins. 6, Western Oil 6, Forsberg 5, Hartz 13, National Guard 5, V. F. W. 11, Bridgeman's 7.

League Standing:

V. F. W.	6	1
Bridgeman's	5	2
Hamm's	4	2

Action on Tax Abatements Is Taken by Board

Job of Regraveling County Roads Let to Bemidji Man Monday

Action on applications for tax abatements, award of contracts for graveling and a call for bids on grading projects were the principal items of business transacted by the Pennington county board at its July session Monday.

Tax abatement applications approved included an adjustment in the personal property assessments for Kelly Hardware and Ole's Northern Supply, and tax adjustments covering the Ada Peterson residence in Thief River Falls and the Knute Evenson farm in Kratka township.

The board rejected applications submitted in behalf of the Meehan block and Lieberman building on the ground that the assessments were in line with the recommendations of the state tax comissioner. Action was deferred on the petition of the Nortern Woodwork company for adjustment of real estate taxes.

Two bids were considered on a two-mile grading project on State Aid Road 9 one-half mile north of Goodridge, and Ervin Prestebak was awarded the contract on his low bid of $9,087.61. Three bids were received on a project calling for regraveling roads in various parts of the county. The contract was given to W. T. Thorson of Bemidji on his low bid of $21,665.

The board voted to call for bids on grading State Aid Road 3 for a distance of six and one-half miles east from the River Valley bridge. August 19 was set as the tentative date for opening bids. Arrangements also are being made to call for bids on grading SAR 3 east from the airport road to Highway 59. Bids on fuel oil for the court house will be opened at the next board meeting August 6.

Figures were submitted to the board indicating an increase in the cost-of-living index during the past year, and a salary increase of $100 a year was voted for the auditor, treasurer, sheriff, assessor, county attorney, clerk of court and commissioners.

County treasurer Ellsworth Jorgenson submitted a list of unpaid personal property taxes, and Sheriff Charles Richards was instructed to make every effort to collect them.

The meeting of the county board of equalization was set back from its scheduled date of July 15 to Friday, August 16.

Douglas Kemmer, Lillian Ose Explain Phases of Northern Association

Insight into the operation and methods of the Northern Blood Bank association was provided to members of the Thief River Falls Rotary club at the noon meeting held Monday in the Elks club rooms. Dr. Earl Dagg, program chairman for July, introduced the speakers.

Douglas Kemmer, chairman of the association, reviewed the history of the organization and its purposes. He noted that nation-wide benefit is received through membership because of affiliation with the Minneapolis War Memorial Blood Bank and a national clearing house.

Because membership is sustaining after donors have reached age 60, a constant recruitment of new members is necessary, he said. The current membership drive, held Tuesday and Wednesday at the Pennington county fair, was under the direction of the Thief River Falls Mrs. Jaycees. Mrs. Keith Spindler was committee chairman.

Mrs. Lillian Ose, medical technologist who is working at the blood bank laboratory at Northwestern hospital, spoke on the methods of blood sampling and the technical aspects of typing, cross-matching and transfusing blood. She noted that Type O is the most common with 43.5 per cent of the people having this type of blood. Other types and percentages include Type A, 39.2 per cent; Type B, 12.7 per cent; and Type AB, 4.5 per cent.

Mrs. Ose noted that the blood bank is inspected annually by a representative of the Minneapolis War Memorial Blood Bank to be sure that it conforms to standards of the U. S. Department of Health and the American Association of Blood Banks. One technician is sent for training in blood bank operation each year.

Much Interest Shown In Pennington Fair

Revitalized interest in the Pennington county fair was evidenced early this week when the 62nd annual exposition opened its gates for a four-day run. Number of exhibits in both 4-H and open class hit new peaks and attendance has been given favorable comment by the Pennington County Fair Association, Inc., sponsor of the fair.

Grandstand performances have been meeting with the favor of fair-goers as the capacity was nearly filled for Crash Dick and his auto daredevils on Monday and a large crowd attended the 4-H and home talent program Tuesday. Wednesday afternoon and evening performances were provided by the Buss Carson western show, while today (Thursday), the Marlo Bros. Circus will provide afternoon and evening shows. Thursday is also Kiddies Day with reduced rates for 18 rides on the William T. Collins Shows midway from 1 to 6 p. m.

A total of 413 exhibits in the 4-H and open livestock classes have absolutely filled the hog and sheep barns and provided the largest exhibit of cattle for many years, according to Paul Stelmaschuk, county agricultural agent. His tabulation of the 4-H and open classes indicated 142 dairy and beef cattle, 148 sheep, 71 hogs, 28 poultry and rabbits exhibits and 21 horses. Total 4-H exhibits number about 1,500.

Judging of all classes was completed on Tuesday and judges have commented on the good quality of exhibits in nearly all divisions. Outside exhibitors in the livestock divisions, plus the entries from county breeders who have not been consistent exhibitors in previous years, have made the livestock display outstanding this year.

Jon Metusalem, secretary of the association, commented on the large display of machinery by area machinery dealers, stating he believed it reflected agricultural optimism in expectation of a good crop this fall. Grain and garden exhibits attest to a fine growing season until this time of the year.

Operation of a free gate with a charge of 25 cents for auto parking has again proved attractive to the public. Exhibits are being viewed daily by large crowds and weather has been warm and dry—a departure from normal for the past several years.

Winners in the various divisions will be published in the Monday edition of the Times, and that edition will also carry a number of local picutres on the event.

Two Men Added To SCS Staff in Thief River Falls

Two new men have been added to the staff of the U. S. Soil Conservation service area office in Thief River Falls, according to H. G. Halverson, area conservationist. Reporting during June were Jerry Neseth, soil scientist, and Lajos Krisztian, civil engineer.

Mr. Neseth, who is married and has one child, graduated from the University of Minnesota with a Bachelor of Science degree in June. He has worked with the service in southern Minnesota for the past two summers and is well qualified to assume soil survey responsibilities with a minimum of training, Halverson said.

Mr. Krisztian received his Bachelor degree in civil engineering at the University of Budapest in Hungary, Halverson continued. He was active in the revolution of 1956 and, when the bid for freedom failed, was able to escape with his wife from Hungary. After eight months in a refugee camp in Austria, he was brought to the United States under sponsorship of the Catholic church.

He attended Wayne University at Detroit, Mich., where he worked toward his Master's degree. Krisztian and his wife recently became naturalized and are justly proud of their status as American citizens. The Krisztian's have two children .. one daughter, age four, and a baby boy, age four months.

Dairy Princess Faces Indecision on Future

by Marvin Lundin
City Editor

Miss June Walter of rural Plummer is a pretty young lady looking forward to fall with mixed emotions. As Northwest Dairy Princess she will represent Region I in the Princess Kay of the Milky Way contest at the Minnesota state fair on August 24. As June Walter she has a contract to teach an elementary grade in the St. Paul public school system this year.

The only real problem is preparation. Should she be successful in her bid to become Princess Kay, the coming year will be planned for her. If another girl is named to the state's high honor, June must be ready to fulfill the role of classroom teacher to a group of eager youngsters.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Walter of Plummer, June will receive a Bachelor of Science degree in elementary education at Bemidji State College on August 20. Officials of the school where she has a teaching contract have wished her success in the contest August 24, stating her job will be open if she loses and that another teacher is available if she is fortunate enough to win.

Symbolic Name

According to June's parents, June was really supposed to be Jean. When she was born on June

COMPANIONS in the dairy industry are Miss June Walter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Walter of Plummer, and the Holstein calf, pictured above. June is the 1963 Northwest Dairy Princess who will represent Region I at the Princess Kay of the Milky Way contest in St. Paul on August 21. The alert calf is the offspring of a cow which June showed as a calf at Dairy Day here in 1955. She also exhibited the animal at county fairs while using the calf as one of her 4-H club projects. A strong wind when this Times photo was taken accounts for June's carefree, windblown appearance.

Baskets of pink and white peonies provided the setting for the candelight ceremony. Blue and white bows with miniature flower trimming marked the pews.

Miss Bonita Hodik of Newfolden played a prelude of organ music and also accompanied the vocal soloist, Miss Emelie Carlson of Holt.

Given in marriage by her brother, Jerome Horien of Holt, the bride wore a floor-length gown of heavy white satin featuring a bell-shaped skirt. She wore a fingertip length veil which fell from a crown of pearls and carried a crescent bouquet of yellow roses and feathered mums.

Mrs. Donald Peterson of Middle River was her sister's matron of honor. Other attendants were Mrs. Gaylord Pederson of Hallock, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Cliff Dahle, the bride's sister. They all wore dresses of blue brocade featuring short sleeves and bell-shaped skirts, and headpieces to match, and carried crescent bouquets of yellow roses with yellow feathered mums trimmed with blue ribbon streamers.

Robert Swan of Newfolden was his brother's bestman. Groomsmen were Wendell Swan of Greenbush, and Leon Horien of St. Paul, brothers of the groom and bride, respectively. Ushers were Robert Horien, Thief River Falls, and Vernon Swan. The male members of the bridal party wore black trousers with white dinner jackets.

The bride's mother wore a beige dress with white accessories, and a corsage of yellow roses and yellow feathered mums.

After the ceremony, punch was served by Diane Hams of International Falls, a niece of the bride, and Susan Knutson of Virginia, the groom's niece. The reception which was given by the parents of the bride, was given in the church parlors, with Circle 3 of the church in charge.

A fourtiered wedding cake, baked and ornamented by Mrs. Lawrence Lubitz, centered the table. It was trimmed with blue bells, white swans, and yellow roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom. It was cut and served by Mrs. Mable Brattell and Mrs. John Reed, aunts of the bride. Mrs. Lawrence Hams, International Falls, a sister of the bride, poured. Guests were registered by Mrs. James Horien, Minneapolis, Mrs. Ronald Moe and Shirley Boe and Mrs. Harold Maki, sister of the groom.

Waitresses were Janice Engen, Karen Mortenson, Judy Hagen, and Doreen Moen. Out-of-towners attending were from Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth, Grygla, Greenbush, Viking, Virginia, Hallock, International Falls, Middle River, Radium, and Warren.

Mrs. Swan is a 1963 graduate of the Newfolden high school and Mr. Swan attended Newfolden high school and at present is employed with the Ness Construction Company. The couple is at home in Holt, following a short wedding trip which took them to the iron mines.

CLEAN-UP for the family's Grade A dairy operation is not foreign to the 1963 Northwest Dairy Princess, June Walter of Plummer. With from 18 to 30 head of cattle milking year-around, the Walter farm has a 300-gallon bulk tank and sells milk to Land O'Lakes Creameries in Thief River Falls. June's father refers to her as the family milkmaid.

ON HAND at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Walter of Plummer are always a number of dairy products. June Walter, 1963 Northwest Dairy Princess, and her mother are shown checking the refrigerator for some of the family's regular staples. The Walter farm is located just south of the Pennington county line in Red Lake county.

NW Dairy Princess Holds High Hopes For This Fall

20, however, her parents decided her name should be June. Now 21 years of age, June finds the name has considerable significance. She was born in June, named June and crowned Northwest Dairy Princess during June Dairy Month at Northwest Dairy Day in Thief River Falls.

June was a member of the Happy-Go-Lucky 4-H club in Red Lake county for nine years and carried projects on dairy, food preparation and home beautification. Her county fair demonstrations included dairy demonstrations and she was twice an attendant in the 4-H style revue. A junior leader for four years she is a Key Award winner. She is also a past Dairy Day showman.

In high school she was a Girls State delegate in 1959, cheer leader for one year, honor student and recipient of the American Legion Auxiliary outstanding senior girl award when she graduated in 1960 from Plummer high school. Now pert and pretty at 21, June is 5 feet, 5 inches tall, weighs 119 pounds and has brown hair and hazel eyes.

While attending Bemidji State college, she has served as dormitory counselor at Pine and Birch halls, publicity governor for the college Social Commission and member of the a cappella choir. She was selected one of eight finalists for homecoming queen honors, selected ideal student teacher for 1963, received the Schroeder academic scholarship, won honors on the extra-curricular honor society and was one of five students from the college listed in the 1963 edition of "Who's Who in American Colleges." In 1961 she was a contestant in the Miss Bemidji land pageant.

With an art minor at the college, June did advertising lay-out for one of the business firms in Bemidji and made convocation posters for the college bulletin board. She has also illustrated a book, "How to Catch Mink in Minnesota", which was written by Eugene Carpenter of Plummer.

Dairy Farmer's Daughter

"June has always been our family milk-maid," stated June's father who farms 320 acres bordering the Pennington county line. About 70 head of Holsteins are kept on the Walter farm with 18 to 30 head milking year-around. Artificial breeding has been used to some extent and the herd average last year was 387 pounds of butterfat. One of the herd's top animals produced 107 pounds of butterfat in January.

Nearly all of the cattle have been raised on the Walter farm since the family returned from Oregon in 1946. The only registered animals in the herd were purchased by 17-year-old Marvin and 15-year-old Raymond as 4-H projects. They were bought from Art Stenberg of Thief River Falls through the Top-of-the-Nation Dairy sale in Thief River Falls.

Herbert's parents came to this area in 1934 and his mother, Mrs. Caroline Walter, lives with a daughter, Mrs. Gresmond Bruggeman, in Thief River Falls. Mrs. Walter is the former Esther Purath, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Purath of Red Lake Falls.

Operations on the dairy farm include machine milking and a 300-gallon bulk tank from which milk is sold to Land O'Lakes creameries in Thief River Falls. A 32x60 barn has stanchions for 31 head of cattle and an addition for young stock. A 48x80 pole shed provides hay storage and shelter for dry cows.

Annual crop rotation includes about 160 acres of grain and corn, 20 acres of flax, 10 to 12 acres of wheat and the remainder oats and pasture. About 3,000 to 4,000 bushels of oats is produced for feed and about 50 acres of land is used for alfalfa and brome pasture.

Farm-Sized Family

With nine youngsters in the family, it takes a good sized dairy herd just to keep them drinking milk. In addition to June the children include Iona, 19; Marvin, 17; Raymond, 15; Duane, 13; Barbara, 11; Marilyn, 9; Roger, 7; and David, 5.

Most of the youngsters are 4-H club members and the others will move into club work as soon as they are old enough to join.

As for June and her mixed emotions, she is becoming more enthusiastic toward the Princess Kay contest each day. To gain further experience in appearing before the public, she will be featured at the Pennington county fair home talent program on Tuesday, July 9, presenting a vocal solo. She will also appear on the program of the Jaycees Aquacade Miss America Preliminary pageant on August 10.

Charles Engle, Former TRF Man, Dies in Texas

Charles Stuart Engle Sr., 71, a former resident of the Thief River Falls community where he was engaged in beekeeping activites, died July 1 in Texas. Funeral services were held July 4 from First Methodist church in Wolfe City, Tex.

Engle was born Aug. 28, 1891, in Montgomery, Ala., and moved to Beeville, Tex., in 1895 where his father was agent for the Wells-Fargo Elpress company. He became interested in beekeeping while attending Texas A & M college.

He had served as president of the beekeepers' associations in Texas, Iowa, Minnesota and North Dakota and was one of the five founders of the Sioux Honey association, a member-owned cooperative. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge for 43 years and an officer of the First Methodist church.

Survivors include his widow, Nancy, two sons, two daughters, three brothers, two sisters, ten grandchildren and one great grandson.

Congratulations go to all the girls and boys who took part in the Dress Revue. They all did an excellent job on construction and modeling. Yes, we did have boys in the dress revue. Alan Swanson and Gene Paulson, Highlanding 4-H club, proudly modeled their creations. Alan made a vest while Gene displayed a short sleeve shirt.

Here's good news for calorie counters: one medium-sized fresh peach has only 35 calories (without sugar). Yellow-fleshed varieties are high in vitamin A. So enjoy fresh, luscious peaches in many ways—with sugar and cream, in shortcake, sliced on ice cream and eaten out of hand.

Having a stain-resistant finish applied to upholstery is worthwhile when it gets a lot of use, but to help make such a finish truly spot-resistant you must know how to treat spills. For example, suppose you spill some catsup on a dining room chair upholstered in such a finished material. Don't take a cloth and smear the stain around in an effort to get it up. Instead, take a piece of cleansing tissue and let it absorb the spill. Whatever the stain, it will not be absorbed into the upholstery material because of the finish—until you smear it around in an effort to remove it. Blotting the stain is always the answer.

Are curling rug corners a problem for you? Try using a steam iron on both side of the problem area, then lay the rug flat. When the corner dries, it will be flat. While your iron is still hot, you can also remove the dents caused by heavy furniture on your carpet. Place the steam iron on the indented portion for a moment and then remove it. A few quick brushes with a cloth and the dent will disappear. To prevent these dents from becoming permanent, place rubber or plastic caps under all your heavy furniture.

The hardest part about parking a Corvair is finding a nickel

That may be a slight overstatement, but such jauntiness comes easily when you're a Corvair owner.

And you can usually back it up—as easily as you can back up a Corvair. You'll find yourself doing that occasionally, if only to adjust the brakes—they're self-adjusting. That's all there is to it, and that's a good example of how delightfully easy Corvair is to own, drive and maintain.

But since we began by talking about driving, let's stick with that awhile. A large factor in the fun of driving a Corvair is the location of its engine in the rear. Why the rear? It gives Corvair extra traction on any road surface. It provides a nearly flat floor for more usable interior space. Best of all, it produces steering so light, so responsive, you wonder why no other American-made car thought of it.

Corvair's engine is also air cooled, we might add, which means there's no anti-freeze or water for you to add. Ever.

All that pleasure from something so practical almost makes you think Corvair is unique among American cars. Which isn't surprising, because it is!

Legion Jrs. Lose to Roseau 3 to 2

Scoring three unearned runs in the sixth inning, coach Ray Kavanagh's Roseau juniors edged the Thief River Falls juniors, 3 to 2, in a Northwest junior baseball league game played at Roseau on Tuesday evening.

The local juniors have but two games remaining on their schedule before they enter sub-district tournament play. On Thursday evening, with game time at 6:30 p. m., the locals will play the Crookston juniors at Crookston; and on Monday evening, July 15, the locals will make the short jaunt to Red Lake Falls for a game against coach Mike Hajostek's junior club.

Sub-district tournament play will be held at East Grand Forks on July 17, 18, and 19. The local juniors, with a mark of five wins and three losses, finished in fifth place in the league standings. According to the tournament pairings announced on Tuesday, coach Ralph Skay's club will meet coach Jerry Snyder's Middle River juniors in a first-round game at 3:00 p. m. on July 17.

In Tuesday evening's game at Roseau, which developed into a duel of righthanders, Jack Leedahl of the locals and Dennis Nelson of Roseau, coach Skay's picked up two runs in the fifth inning to break the scoring drouth and take a 2 to 0 lead. With one out, Tommy Cummings and Pat Fischer drew walks. Don Mathieu beat out a dribbler down the third-base line, loading the bases. Nelson uncorked a wild pitch to score Cummings. Paul Klungness drew a walk to again fill the bases. John Aune lofted a fly ball to center field, and Fischer tallied after the catch. Jack Leedahl bounced out, second to first.

Roseau opened their game-winning rally in the sixth with Gary Johnson beating out a hit to shortstop. Nelson sent a ground ball to second base, and all hands were safe when Cummings dropped Mike Aune's toss to second base on a force play. Drew Peterson, attempting to sacrifice, was called out when he accidentally hit the ball twice, nudging the ball as his fair ball bounced up off the plate. Bob Brandt was out, pitcher to first, with the runners advancing to second and third. Ken Wicklander drew a walk, filling the bases. A wild pitch scored Johnson. Lynn Larson drew a pass, and then Brian Pelowski drove a single to right-center, scoring Nelson and Wicklander.

Nelson limited the locals to but three hits, two of which were of the scratch variety. Roseau tagged Leedahl, and John Aune who pitched to three batsmen in the sixth, for eight hits.

Veterans Told to Check Their Heirs

VA Advises Checking of Insurance Beneficiaries

In the event of the death of an older war veteran, will his GI Insurance funds be distributed in accordance with his current wishes? Not in more than 50 percent of the cases, says John R. Parrish, Center Director of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Fargo, as the result of a recent survey.

The VA had directed a reminder letter to GI policyholders 60 years of age and older to check on the beneficiary choices the veteran had originally made as well as his selection of a lump settlement or payments over a period of time.

In 55 percent of the veterans' replies, changes were requested to bring the insurance settlement in line with the veterans' current. Most common cases were those in which marriage had subsequently taken place but the mother of the veteran was still listed as a chief beneficiary. In numerous other cases, the veteran had re-married but his former wife was still listed as the beneficiary.

Under the law, John R. Parrish emphasized, the VA must make payment to the beneficiary of record, as named in writing by the policyholder.

The VA will continue to send a reminder to all GI policyholders 60 years or older and will notify other policyholders as they reach their 60th birthday.

Younger veterans whose previous beneficiary selection has been outdated by death, marriage, divorce, etc., may write directly to the office maintaining their insurance records should they wish to initiate a change.

Servicemen may see their Personnel Affairs or Finance Officer for the same purpose.

Kruger and Sons Buy a Pedigreed Brown Swiss Bull

New Addition To Herd Has Paternal Dam with Record of 1,152 Lbs. BF.

Orrin C. Kruger and Sons of rural Warren have added a pedigreed Brown Swiss bull to the herd. Welcome Inn Fond Bell Boy was purchased from Welcome Inn Farms at Dublin, Ohio, and his 22,846 pounds of milk and 988 pounds of fat, and are all classified "excellent".

According to the Brown Swiss Cattle Breeders' association at Beloit, Wis., Bell Boy's paternal dam has a record at five years on twice daily milking, 365-day test, of 25,139 pounds of milk testing 4.6 per cent butterfat and 1,152 pounds of fat produced. His grandsire was grand champion at the International Livestock Exposition in 1960.

The Brown Swiss association also announced production records of five Kruger cattle which had recently completed production. All were on twice daily milking.

Topping the list was Carmen's June, a five-year-old cow who produced 17,010 pounds of milk and 699 pounds of butterfat in 305 days with a 4.1 per cent butterfat test. Second was Minebelle's Queen Lulu, a seven-year-old cow who produced 15,220 pounds of milk and 598 pounds of butterfat in 288 days with a 3.9 test. The other three animals produced 526, 567 and 513 pounds of butterfat, the latter figure by a two-year-old.

Readings in 80s Continue in Area; No Rain in 10 Days

With temperatures well up in the 80's and no rainfall during the first ten days of July, area crop prospects have suffered from the heat and dry weather.

On only two days, July 2 and 3, has the mercury failed to reach the 80-degree mark. The high reading for the period was 90, recorded at the airport Friday, July 5, followed by 88 July 6; 83 July 7 and 8; and 87 July 9.

Continued generally fair weather with little temperature change was forecast for Wednesday and Thursday.

Tough Enough

With the possible exception of being paired up against coach Milt Fish's undefeated Warroad club, it's doubtful if coach Ralph Skay's local Legion junior team could have drawn a tougher opponent in sub-district tournament play than Middle River.

At a pre-tournament meeting held here on Monday, at which time tournament pairings were made, the following Northwest junior baseball league standings were certified: (1) Warroad; (2) East Grand Forks; (3) Roseau; (4) Middle River; (5) Thief River Falls; (6) Hallock; (7) Crookston; (8) Stephen; and (9) Warren. Warren and Stephen will engage in playoff game to determine the eighth team to enter the sub-district tournament.

In meeting the Middle River club in a first-round game at 3:00 p. m. on July 17, coach Skay's team will go up against the strong-armed crew that bashed out fifteen hits in scoring an 18 to 10 win over the locals a couple of weeks ago. Those Middle River boys, Rick Anderson and his mates, swing the bat like a blacksmith's sledge. The fact is, Anderson, who will be a senior next year, is a blacksmith's helper during the summer vacation.

Note to the Softballers

The schedule that I typed out for Monday's edition was in error as far as the Wednesday and Thursday evening pairings were concerned. This evening, Wednesday, the Hartz Stores will play the Forsberg Lines; and on Thursday evening, tomorrow, the National Guard will play the Western Oil.

This week's play opens the second half of the schedule, and according to schedule drawn up by Ken Taylor, the season will conclude on August 21. Following the conclusion of the regular season the championship playoffs will be held.

I wonder if there is any truth to the rumor being circulated in Wally Grovum's Club to the effect that the Bridgeman's are going to hold a tryout for the pipeline workers. The Bridgeman's "brass" believes that there must be several top-flight softball players in that group.

No Admission Charge

The Thief River trap shoot league, after being in recess for a week because of the Fourth of July holiday, will return to competition on Thursday evening at the range north of town.

The defending league champion Times squad, who are currently leading the league, will meet the Bjorkman's Clothing squad. And the high-average Wilson Bros., team, in second place in the team standings, will shoot against the Custom Motors.

There is no admission charge to watch these experts powder the clay birds. Mel Zitzow, who was a member of the Times squad some years, has been making snide remarks to the effect that the trapshooters, meeting the league champion Times, should pay the spectators to watch their performance. Mel was quite disappointed last season when the Times won the league title, and he isn't too happy about seeing the boys leading the league again this season. It has been costing him plenty.

The Star of the Game

There was not much doubt about the player who earned the "Most Valuable Player" award in the National League vs. American League All Star game on Tuesday. It was Willie Mays' game all the way. Mays scored two runs, stole two bases, and drove in two runs, and made a sparkling catch in center field. He is the finest player in major league baseball.

The game was won by the National League, 5 to 3, and that was a fair margin, and it gave an indication of the superiority of the Nationals.

Bob Carlson, noting that the New York Yankees didn't have more than one player in the starting lineup, was busy prior to the game in arranging some friendly wagers. Today he has been making the rounds collecting these contributions to the Carlson Health and Welfare Fund.

Trinity Lutheran Boy Scout Troop at Wabaunaquat

Six area Scout Troops involving 118 Scouts and their leaders are camping this week at Camp Wabaunaquat, located on White Earth Lake in Becker county, according to L. R. Martl, Grand Forks, camping and activities chairman of the Lake Agassiz Council.

Participating in the second week of camping are the following Scout Troops:

Troop 2, Grand Forks, 19 Scouts; Troop 40, Crookston, 32 Scouts; Troop 50, Warren, 13 Scouts, Toop 60, Trinity Lutheran Church, Thief River Falls, 2 Scouts, Byron Johnson, scoutmaster; Troop 85, Fertile, 10 Scouts; Troop 123, Leeds, N. D., 2 Scouts.

The program at Camp Wabaunaquat serves as a training experience for troop operation during the coming fall and winter months of troop activity. Program highlights include swimming, boating, canoeing, nature study, mapping and compass, marksmanship, archery, and campcraft skills. Following this period, which ends Saturday there will be three more weeks of camping.

Livestock Market Improves in July

Cattle Bringing Best Prices Since February

The start of the second-half of 1963 brought a note of encouragement in livestock dealings at the South St. Paul stockyards.

Early July featured prices on butcher hogs at the highest levels since September and sow prices at the best levels since October, according to Bob Carlson, director of the Livestock Market Institute at South St. Paul.

Cattle prices moved into the second half of '63 at the best levels since February, showing a marked recovery from the discouraging returns of March and April.

"Although demand for heavyweight steers is not as brisk as on the lightweight kinds, the extreme pressure on bigweight steers has eased considerably in recent weeks", Carlson reports.

Livestock marketings at the South St. Paul mart passed the 2-Million head mark in late June, with trade interests anticipating an increased flow of stock in the late July and early August period.

Despite some optimism engendered by the improved cattle trade cattle feeders are showing some hesitation in purchases of replacement cattle. Reports from western range areas indicate less contracting of cattle this year compared with a year ago.

RRV Picnic Set on West Coast July 21

The annual Red River Valley, Minnesota, picnic for former residents now living in Washington state will be held Sunday, July 21, at Salt Water State Park, located between Seattle and Tacoma, it was announced this week. Coffee, cream and ice cream will be furnished.

It isn't the amount of milk a farm produces, but the amount each cow produces that makes the difference between profit and loss.

Highway Dept. Let $95.8 Million Jobs Past Fiscal Year

Interstate Highways Total $57 Million and Trunk Routes $38 Million

With the arrival of July 1—which starts the fiscal year 1964 in government accounting—the Minnesota highway department compiled its totals of construction contracts let in fiscal 1963.

The dollar value of all state highway construction contracts let from July 1, 1962 through June 30, 1963, totaled $95.8 million. To this should be added about $12.5 million in county federal aid secondary projects which are placed under contract through the commissioner of highways.

Interstate highway contracts accounted for $57.7 million and trunk highway contracts for $38.1 million.

Interstate highways are financed on a 90-10 per cent federal participation, trunk highways with a 50-50 split and county federal aid secondary roads on a 50-50 division.

The total dollar value of state highway work underway on June 26 and including the $11.7 million in apparent low bids at the June 28 state letting, amounted to $133 million. This included projects underway prior to July 1, 1963.

Many Students Get Jobs on Highways

500 to 600 Young Men Get Summer Employment

Every summer the Minnesota Highway Department is inundated with a flood of applications from college students for summer jobs. Happily, the heaviest construction and maintenance season coincides with the summer vacation time of the students. This year has been no exception in hiring, the bulk of which has been done. A typical year finds 500 to 600 students helping to earn their own way through college by this temporary employment.

The highway department personnel section explains that the summer hiring is now decentralized and done mostly through the construction district and maintenance area offices. Returnees—those who have worked for the department previously — receive preference and the department's policy is to emphasize need in considering applicants. Preference, where practicable, is also given to students who plan to make a career of highway engineering.

The jobs these young persons get are usually classified as Laborer I. This part of the summer hiring program is entirely separate from the program of hiring student civil engineer trainees and right of way agent trainees.

Since the short Minnesota summer season requires long hours on the job in construction work, the ordinary eight-hour day is an exception rather than the rule. Hence, with long hours the students earn a substantial sum toward their school-year expenses.

The students are put to work as junior inspectors, laboratory workers, gravel weighers, checkers, assistant surveyors, laborers and a variety of other tasks — but seldom, except in pressing circumstances, as clerical help or equipment operators, since such jobs have special requirements.

Field Day July 16 at N. W. School

Plant Pest Control and Insecticides Are Topics

A plant pest control clinic, a discussion of safe use of pesticides, and a rural civil defense readiness demonstrations will be featured at a series of field days at University of Minnesota experiment stations. The field days include one at Northwest station, Crookston, July 16.

The plant pest control clinic will be handled by a plant pathologist, a weed specialist and an insect control specialist from the University. Visitors may bring specimens of weeds, diseased or insect-injured plants, or insects to the clinic for identification and recommended control measures.

The rural civil defense readiness demonstration will show the value of different kinds of farm buildings for protection from radioactive fallout. The demonstration will also show how rural people can protect themselves and their livestock in case of nuclear attack.

Discussions of safe use of chemical pesticides will be handled by L. K. Cutkomp, University entomologist.

Each of the field days will feature tours of studies and trials and other research at the individual stations. The public is invited to each one.

Crops & Soils Day at N.W. Station July 16

Farmers and other persons interested in farming are invited to visit the University of Minnesota Experiment station at Crookston on Crops and Soils Day Tuesday, July 16.

Wagon tours will begin going out to the experimental field plots at 9:30 a. m. and tours will continue up to the noon hour. Special arrangements have been completed so visitors may have their noon lunch on the campus.

The staff of the Northwest station has made arrangements for an afternoon program which will begin promptly at 1:30 o'clock. The topic for the program will be "Agricultural Chemicals — Their Safe and Continued Use." Speaking on pesticides will be Dr. L. K. Cutkomp; Dr. Richard Behrens will discuss herbicides. Both men are from the Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, St. Paul. There will be an opportunity for questions.

A plant disease, weed, insect, and soils clinic will also be a feature of Crops Day. Visitors are invited to bring plant and insect specimens and soil samples for identification. Specialists from the agricultural extension service will be on hand to assist with the clinic and answer questions.

Clifton F. Halsey, state rural civil defense agent, St. Paul, will have a civil defense display of interest to Crops Day visitors.
